What were you doing last Monday night? Obviously, you weren't at the Honeymoon Suite/Frozen Ghost concert, unless you happen to be one of the few, the proud, the ones who went.

The crowd, although small (less than 1,000 by my reckoning) were treated to two of the best Canadian bands on the charts today.

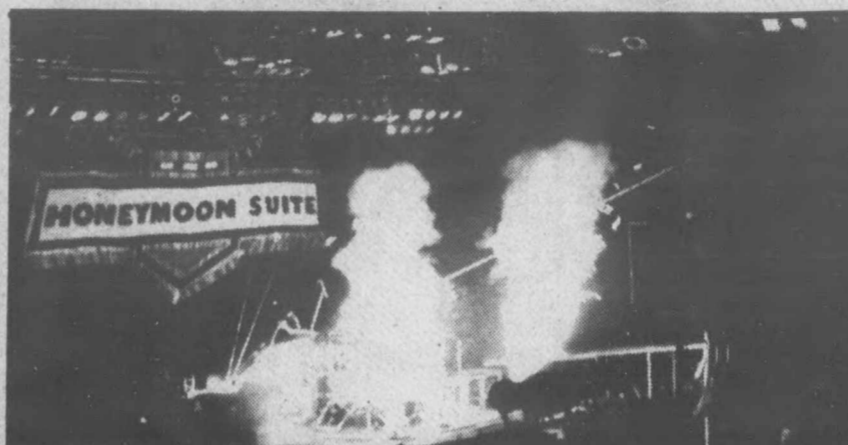

Frozen Ghost presented itself with the same flair and excellence that they demonstrated during their last visit to Fredericton a year ago. Since then, they've won a Juno award and released their second album, entitled "Nice place to visit."

By the time their set was nearing an end, Frozen Ghost had the audience cheering and singing.

After a short intermission, the boys occupying the Honeymoon Suite in the hotel of Canadian rock opened up with a slew (How many is a slew exactly? - Entz.Ed.) of hits from their previous albums. Then, on came the heavier rock tunes from their present release, "Racing after midnight", which this tour is promoting.

I happen to have seen Honeymoon Suite in concert on tour promoting their previous albums, and this years show is slicked up with more pyrotechnic effects as well as a brilliant laser show.

Anyways, as my space is becoming rather limited, I'll wrap it up...Those who went to the concert can feel that their shekels have been well spent. Those who didn't, missed one hell of a good show.

I do have one beef before I go. What the (insert expletive of your choice) does it take to please you? Campus Live went bankrupt because they couldn't supply headliner bands. Now, when a big name group comes to town, almost no one goes.
