

Dr. T. G. Roddick, M.P.

Dr. Roddick, President elect of the British Medical Association, which shortly meets in Montreal, is one of the best known of Canadian surgeons. A graduate of McGill, he has long been one of its most popular professors, and has held almost every position in the gift of his conferees in Civic and Dominion Associations, and in the hospitals. Dr. Roddick's chief honors, however, are buried in the hearts of those to whom he has so long proved a friend as well as a physician. The humblest sufferer may claim his offices, and the most exalted personages are glad to avail themselves of his skill in times of sickness. Dr. Roddick is among the few in public life who have had that greatness thrust upon them. He accepted nomination to heal a difference in the party ranks, and his election, in the face of the general landslide, was a public tribute to his honesty of purpose and the place he holds in the hearts of Montrealers. Dr. Roddick is a graceful, fluent and witty speaker, and under his presidency the meeting of the Medical Association is sure to prove a splendid success.

Erratum.—In the history of Montreal, it is stated, through a slip of the pen, that H. R. H. the Prince of Wales resided in the Hon. John Young's house, when in Montreal. This should be Hon. John Rose, "Rosemount," now occupied by Mr. W. W. Ogilvie, a photograph of which is shown on another page.
