an imported bull out of a South African-bred Shorthorn cow.

The cereal crops on some of the farms on Lord Derby's estate at Burscough, near Ormskirk, were sold on the ground, and high prices were realized. In one case the average for wheat and oats was close to £14 an acre.

Recently a party of English Holstein breeders toured among the Scottish herds of this breed of cattle, taking advantage of the Cradlehall sale at Inverness to see what some of the breeders in the north are doing. The first dispersion in Scotland of pure Holstein-Friesian cattle took place at Cradlehall, Inverness. The herd, founded 30 years ago, belonged to D. McBean. The majority of the cattle were bought by English breeders of this noted milking stock. Sixty-one cows, calves, and heifers averaged £77 15s. 4d., the total amount realized being £4,743 18s. The average realized is £20 above the record. The top price was 180 guineas, given by Messrs. Wallace, for a five-year-old cow, while her six-weeks-old heifer calf made 85 guineas., to Messrs. A. & J. Brown. A five-year-old cow and a two-year-old heifer made 140 guineas each.

There has been the reappearance of Dutch cheese on the counters of most London provision shops, and at a price decidedly lower than when it was last seen there four or five months ago. Germany, meanwhile, had been absorbing for its army the great bulk of this product; but difficulties of various kinds have arisen, and a steady stream of Edam and Gouda cheese, and especially the former, has again set in towards this country. The Germans are so much annoyed that, not content with threatening the Dutch with fearsome penalties if they assist to feed the English, they have prohibited the import of fish from Holland into Belgium, which would create a virtual monopoly of the Dutch fish market by Germany. Rotterdam is protesting vigorously, and meantime the cheese is coming here.

Scirrhus Cords.

We have a pair of four-year-old Clydesdale geldings that were castrated when yearlings. Where the wounds healed up there was an enlargement in the scrotums. Now, on one side of each horse there is an enlargement as large as in an entire.

R. McC.

Ans.—This condition is one of the untoward results of castration that occasionally occurs. It is called "Scirrhus Cord." Treatment consists in a second operation, more difficult than the first. Some horses go through life with a scirrhus cord which does not interfere with their usefulness. In other cases the growth becomes so large it is necessary to get a veterinarian to operate.

Winding Up Estate.

1. A and B are executors to an estate of which A. is an heir. C. offers them $200 for a horse. A says you can have him and B says you can't. Now, can A sell the horse in spite of B, as it is all the horse is worth?

2. When one of the executors proves unreasonably stupid and stubborn, can the estate in any way dispense with him?

3. What percentage can each executor claim?

4. Can a lawyer make any exorbitant charges he wishes, or is he restricted to a percentage? The charges are $450 in this case on about $4,500.
Ontario. READER.

Ans.—1. Yes.
2. Yes, but not without his consent. It is a matter for arrangement between the beneficiaries, and the other executor on the one hand and the executor in question on the other.

3. There is no legally fixed percentage. He is entitled to reasonable remuneration for services rendered and his care, pains and trouble generally in the winding up of the estate.

4. Neither; he should have his proper professional fees for the work he has done.
