

Sharples TUBULAR CREAM SEPARATORS

Demand a Look Inside

DAIRY TUBULAR BOWL—All Apart

"Bucket bowl" separator makers falsely claim to make separators with light, simple, easy-to-wash bowls. We are the only makers who dare show a picture of our bowl—all others refuse. There are secret difficulties about other bowls the makers want to hide. Pictures would betray them. Other makers fear pictures. Our handsome Catalog Z-198 tells these secrets. Write for it today.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

CLOSING A PURCHASE.

1. A buys property from B, and there is nothing stated about paying taxes. Who has to pay taxes, according to law?

2. Who has to pay for writing deed, A or B? Can B's solicitor claim $1.50 from A for writing deed?

3. If B and C say A promised to pay for writing deed, is A then responsible for payment?

Ans.—1. The taxes (including those for the current year) should be apportioned: B paying down to the time of A's getting possession of the property, and A the subsequent taxes.

2. In the absence of agreement on it, B would be the party to pay for the deed. Judging from the amount of the solicitor's charge against A, he has apparently divided the fee between the parties.

3. He would probably be held to be so liable.

A BAD ROAD.

I live on a cross-road. Part of the road is flat and is a mud hole most of the summer. I have lived here two summers now, and tried to have the town fix the road. Can I compel them to fix it or not, and am I entitled to a good road? I pay just the same as any man.

Ans.—You are certainly entitled to a reasonably good road; but the compelling of the municipal corporation to put the road in good condition is another matter, and one that would be exceedingly difficult of management, if not quite impracticable. Better persist in your efforts to get the town council to act in the matter; and if you could get some member of the council to take it up for you, we think it could be arranged satisfactorily.

CLYDESDALE QUERIES.

1. Is there a horse registered by the name of Rockwood Lion in the Clydesdale Studbook, and what is his number?

2. How many crosses does it take to make a Clydesdale eligible for registration?

3. How many crosses does it take for Shorthorn cattle?

Ans.—1. We do not find Rockwood Lion in the volumes of the Canadian Clydesdale Studbook.

2. Stallions having five top crosses with their dams on record, and mares having four top crosses, in each case by sires recorded in the Clydesdale Studbook of Canada.

3. Only such Shorthorns are admitted to the herdbook as trace in all lines to imported and registered ancestry. There is no provision for the admission of short-pedigreed animals, and no number of crosses render them eligible.

PROPAGATING PEARS.

May Keiffer pears be propagated from the slip in the same way that grapes are done? I am told that slips of this year's wood, if cut and placed in sawdust to callous, will grow, if properly planted in the spring. Kindly inform me if this is practicable, and, if so, when to cut the slips, whether to cut into lengths, or use only a few inches at the tips, how it is best to callous them, and how to plant. Would it be of any use to plant the seed? Will the seedlings blight? Do they come true to the parent variety?

J. S.

Ans.—I may say that it is possible to propagate pears, or even apples, from cuttings, the same as is done with grapes, if the most satisfactory conditions for rooting can be given. This is, however, not a profitable way, as only a small proportion of the cuttings would likely take root; whereas by growing seedlings and budding and grafting these, the work can be done much more satisfactorily and cheaply. You can propagate them by sowing seeds and raising your own stocks for budding or grafting; but nurserymen, as a rule, find it cheaper to purchase these stocks either from France or from some of the Western nurseries which make a specialty of growing them, as they can be bought cheaper than they can be raised here. The Keiffer does not come true from seed, and cannot be grown in that way, except by budding or grafting.
