

MAKE ST. JOHN READY FOR GREAT FUTURE AWAITING IT

all the history of Canada, abuse of able men when alive, praise when they are dead. Sir Alexander MacKenzie is now described by them as one of the nation's most honorable men, yet when he was alive was persecuted by the same slander as is now heaped on leaders of our party.

Mr. Copp referred briefly to Foster's manipulation of the Foresters' funds, and then dealt with the Colchester scandal. He noted that John Stanfield, who had preached purity previous to the last election, is again a candidate and is again talking the same old purity. His pledges are probably of as much value now as they were before the last contest.

NEVER HAD THE MANLINESS.
"Mr. Hazen, who has received some little attention this evening, never had the manliness to make his charges against Dr. Pugsley when the latter was near enough to reply. When Dr. Pugsley is in Ottawa, Hazen challenges him in St. John; then when Dr. Pugsley is here, Hazen goes to Toronto or somewhere else and wants him there. (Cheers.)

"Why don't the Conservatives, if they have a policy, appeal to the country and not go about trying to tear down the great work the Liberals have built up? We should get down to practical politics. (Cheers). Do not vote because you happen to be a Liberal or a Conservative by inheritance. Vote for what is best for your country, your province and your city. No man could have done more for St. John than has been done by Dr. Pugsley. (Applause). He has put his hand to the plow and will not turn back. It is a duty you owe yourselves, your family and your city to vote for Dr. Pugsley, the representative of a party with a great policy, more than for a candidate of a party which can produce no policy, but which hopes to win an election on untruthful slander and gross misrepresentation."

A FIGHTING SPEECH.
Mr. Copp had made a fighting speech, the audience was in fighting humor and in full sympathy with the speaker. Every part made was met with loud applause, and as he concluded the building rang with long continued applause.

Mr. Keefe called upon Mr. Pender, and St. John's next representative was accorded a reception which augured well for his success in the coming contest. Cheer upon cheer arose, and it was some little time before he was permitted to speak.

PENDER.
St. John's next representative, as he was introduced by Mr. Keefe, was cheered when he was called upon to speak. "We are here to face the face to face with a campaign of slander and scandal. The opposition to the government is built of wind, and I never heard of such campaign having any real result. Look back to the time when the Premier of Newfoundland came over to Ottawa to discuss terms of federation, and you will find that he was not only overruled but that he was actually overruled by the Liberal party because the wind-bag of the time government insisted on splitting hairs over a dollar or a cent of a cent.

Mr. Pender reviewed briefly the record of the past twelve years. When the Fiddling tariff was introduced Sir Charles Tupper, the greatest of our country's statesmen, was not only overruled but that he was actually overruled by the Conservative party, declared it to be the greatest blow ever struck at Canada, that it would mean the closing of all our factories and the destruction of home industry. Yet under our trade has quadrupled. That is our trade has quadrupled. That is the latest one made by this former leader—now in his dotage—and we may well believe that Canada will experience the opposite of what he says may be expected.

DIDN'T STOP THERE.
"Mr. Pender did not stop with his preferential tariff, which gave to us the cordial esteem of the mother country and by strengthening the chains of commerce brought us nearer together. But to my mind a later change in the tariff was most important of all. This is the anti-dumping clause, which has prevented American and other manufacturers from flooding our country with their surplus products and so devalued our home industries. This anti-dumping clause has directly resulted in the establishment at Sydney of those great mills which are now turning out wire rope, an industry never previously attempted in Canada, and which would not now exist but for the protection afforded by the anti-dumping clause."

LIVELY ROW STARTS IN THIS TORY CAMP
Winnipeg Conservatives at War Over Selection of Candidate

WINNIPEG, Oct. 4.—Two hundred Conservative delegates entrusted with the duty of nominating a candidate for last night and after having one of the most protracted and bitter family rows finally selected A. Haggart, a lawyer, as their standard bearer. The rank and file were in revolt against the machine of Hoggart and Robin, and all attempts to throw oil on the troubled internal fire were in vain. It was certainly a lively row that marked the culmination of a terrible situation, and when R. A. Bonnar, one of the unsuccessful candidates for nomination, was asked to make the naming of Haggart unanimous he indignantly replied, "Haggart is beaten before the ballot is cast."

THE STANDARD'S ATTACKS.
Mr. Pender referred next to the Standard's attacks on the subject of his attitude to the workmen, insinuating that he is the arch enemy of labor but of late has been posing in a different light. "I have not been posing. I never posed and I don't intend to pose in any direction. I am in this in the merits of the issues at stake. I did not go to Fredericton and I did not oppose a certain clause in the compensation act which was in every way objectionable. This clause had been inserted by Mr. Hatheway, Mr. Hazen's political character, that had-monger who created a Fabian League in Berryman's Hall for the purpose of hatching out fads to cure all human ills. Mr. Hatheway also promised the laboring men forty-five cents per hour, and now was he going to get in such times of depression as we have experienced? I think my record of conduct towards my men is just as creditable as that of the political character Hatheway. My own men have spoken on that question and they would do it again."

A RICH POET.
"I can't expect," said Scribblers, "to be as successful a poet as De Ritter, for he has wealth on his side." "Nonsense! He isn't very well off." "He isn't? Why, he has money enough to buy all the postage stamps

STUBBORN INDIGESTION
One Who Had Suffered for Years Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

The symptoms of stomach trouble vary. Some victims have a ravenous appetite, while others loathe the sight of food. Often there is a feeling of weight on the chest, a full feeling in the throat. With others there is intense pain and feeling of nausea on the head. Sometimes gas presses on the heart, and the sufferer thinks he has heart disease. Sick headache is another frequent and distressing symptom.

GRAHAM WILLING TO TAKE RESPONSIBILITY
BROCKVILLE, Oct. 4.—At a largely attended convention of the Liberals of Brockville held this afternoon, Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, was unanimously nominated. Mr. Graham, in accepting the nomination, spoke on the Grand Trunk Pacific. He said every dollar had to pass his department and he challenged either Grit or Tory to stand up and say he was dishonest. He was prepared to take all the responsibility for everything that has been done on the G. T. P. for the past twelve months, and denied that the road could be built for $13,000,000 from Moncton to Winnipeg. The Premier said the interest on the cost of construction would amount to $13,000,000. The original estimate had been raised by the increased cost of labor and change of standard required. Graham said the interest burden on the people of Canada for the whole road will not exceed $38,000,000.

YORK COUNTY MAN LOSES FINE MILL
FREDERICTON, N. B., Oct. 4.—The most destructive fire in York county in many years broke out in Elwood Burtt's steam saw mill at Carleton Place, on the Gibson branch of the C. N. R. at 11:30 last night. It entirely destroyed the mill with all its machinery, which cost six years ago $14,000, and a large quantity of sawed lumber, including 30,000 feet of 2x4s, 75,000 shingles and 60,000 feet of spruce boards. Application was made to the Fredericton fire department for help, but it was impossible to reach the place in time to do much good. The mill is said to have been insured for $7,000. It employed sixty men and would have run all the end of October to finish the season's cut. The origin of the fire is a mystery, as the mill has been shut down for two days and there was no fire left in it then.

KLAPTOMANIA.
Kleptomania, like gout and appendicitis, is a disease that rarely attacks poor people. If you want to see what the doctors would call a "really beautiful case" of appendicitis, select a millionaire who has tarried too long at the wine and has eaten not wisely but too well at the Waldorf or some other famous hotel, and has, in consequence, developed a fine case of acute indigestion that would never develop into appendicitis if it were not for his millions, but would yield to fasting and Epsom salts if he were a poor man.

No, the poor are immune from kleptomania. When they take things not their own it goes by another name. It is just petty larceny and they are just plain thieves without any ornamentation whatever.

I went to sleep over a little sermon the other day on the wickedness of stealing things. The preacher seemed to think that time stealing was the worst kind of stealing.

I have seen the time when I wanted some of my time stolen. When I have been working by the day, picking stones or turning the grindstone, I would have been glad to have had some kleptomaniac take a few hours of my hands. Yes, and when I have been waiting for my dinner or have had the toothache.

But there is another kind of stealing that seems to me to be very much worse, and that is the stealing of one's reputation or good name. He who steals his name must have seen my old to be taken out of his bed and carried around to help a penny-a-liner immortal bard must have seen my purse when he called it trash, for it is not worth ten cents, and it has not a nickle in it. What thief is there so contemptible as the thief who steals a reputation? Sometimes a malignant thief takes away a business man's reputation and he takes away all his capital when he does that. Sometimes their steals away a young girl's reputation, and he or she had better take their life than take that.

There are men, too, who are not guilty of scandal, but who are guilty of envious you pull down men who are trying to climb. They steal away their reputations for any kind of ability.

Musicians, singers, very often keep each other down, by depreciating and underrating each other's ability. And tell it not in Gath, or St. John—there have been clergymen who have kept each other down by saying in a quiet way, "A very good man, but—not much of a preacher." It was very true, perhaps, but let the little public find out their own men.

There have had quite a number of books taken away by kleptomaniac clergymen. They have borrowed them and never brought them back. Frederick Robertson's "Life, Letters and Sermons" have all been kleptomaniacized away from me. George Elliott's "Daniel Deronda" has gone but a minister did not do that.

Worst of all some one (it must have been a maniac who stole that) carried off Campbell's "New Theology." I don't think the thief will bring that back, for as it will tell him that he is not as hot as Texas and Heaven is not much better than Southern California for him to rest.

But the kleptomaniac who took Robertson's Sermons will bring them back in the secretary of state on Monday. Oath of office will be administered by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick.

MUST ENFORCE LAWS IN YUKON LAURIER SAYS

Deputation Waits on Him

HIS ANSWER

Instructs Commissioner to See That Violators are Punished

OTTAWA, Oct. 4.—A deputation consisting of the Bishop of Ottawa, Rev. A. M. O'Meara of Conrad, Yukon; Matthew Wilson, K. C., Chatham, Ont., representing the standing committee on moral and social reform of the Church of England, and Rev. Dr. Armstrong, Rev. J. H. Turnbull and Rev. Dr. Benham of Ottawa, representing the board of moral and social reform of the Presbyterian church, waited upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier Saturday, regarding the enforcement in the Yukon of the criminal law of Canada in relation to prostitution. Col. White, controller of the mounted police, was also present.

Mr. Wilson acted as spokesman and on behalf of the General Synod of Canada laid before the Prime Minister the report of a special committee appointed to investigate the matter, which had been adopted by the synod. This states that though dance halls have been suppressed in the Yukon, there is strong reason for believing that prostitution continues. The deputation requested that immediate instructions be given for a full enforcement of the law. In reply the Minister read to the deputation a letter addressed by him last May to Rev. Dr. Shearer, containing an extract from a letter of the committee of the Yukon that "every Minister standing to the deputation, his understanding that the letter written by himself as instructing the commissioner of the Yukon that every infraction of the law regarding immorality and suppression of vice, including infractions of the liquor ordinance, must be prosecuted with the utmost rigor, and that such instructions were intended to relate not merely to enforcement of local ordinances of the Yukon Council, but to the enforcement of the criminal law of Canada, which would draw the attention of the commissioner to the statements laid before him by the deputation."

Sir Wilfrid left Ottawa today. He goes to Quebec, where he will address a meeting on Monday. He will spend the remainder of the week in Quebec district. The following week he will address meetings and all appointments in Montreal district.

Charles Murphy, K. C., will be sworn in secretary of state on Monday. Oath of office will be administered by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick.

HALIFAX, N. S., The football season was opened in Halifax on Saturday, the Wanderers defeating the Crescents, 3 to 0. The Wanderers' juniors defeated the Crescents, 14 to 0.

PATIENT GOES SUDDENLY MAD.
PARIS, Oct. 5.—There was a wild scene in the Pile Hospital in Paris last night.

One of the patients, a man named Charles Barroy, suddenly went mad, stabbed one of the male nurses, and escaped through a window in his night-shirt.

He climbed a high wall and jumped down into the street, then killed himself with the knife with which he had stabbed the nurse.
