The Crescents and St. Bon's met in last night's hockey match and the former won by the narrow margin of 1 goal, the score being 2 to 1. The winning goal was scored after seven minutes overtime.

Most of the spectators expected an easy win for the champions, but their opponents put up such a determined defence that the Crescents had a narrow escape from defeat. They had the better of the game, but for the last half hour were unable to locate the net.

Started With a Rush

Play started at 7.30, and St. Bon's taking charge of the disc Callahan landed it past Thomas in one minute from the start.

The puck was re-centred and for 25 minutes the puck was all over the ice. The Crescents worked hard to equalize but luck was against them, and not until just before the close of the first half did L. Stick balance the score.

The second half opened briskly, both worked their hardest to score with the result that play was fast and furious, and at times the lads became reckless.

Splendid Defence

Power, the Bon's point, put up a splendid defence and saved many goals.

Both forward lines shot repeatedly but no goals were scored and the final gong sounded with the score one all.

After seven minutes of overtime L. Stick banged in the winning goal. The Crescents and Victorias will now have to play off for the championship.

The match will take place Monday evening.

There was a large attendance at the C.C.C. armory last night to witness the games.

TODAY'S FASHIONS CENTURIES OLD.

All the Modern Creations Were Known to the People of Ancient Greece.

Washington, Feb. 18.—That the women of Crete wore gowns similar to the present up-to-date styles, 4,000 years ago, is a claim made by the Rev. James Baikie in a letter to Gilbert H. Grosvenor, director of the National Geographic Society of Washington. The hats were large, the corsets tight-laced, and the shoes high-heeled.

Mr. Baikie wrote as the result of his study of ancient frescoes: "Here were groups of ladies wonderfully bedizened with costumes resembling more closely the evening dress of our day than the stately robes of classic Greece, with their severe lines. In their very low-necked dresses, with puffed sleeves, excessively slender waists and flounced skirts, and their hair elaborately dressed and curled, they were as far as possible removed from our ideas of Ariadne and her maids of honor, and might have stepped out of a modern fashion-plate.

"An elaborate and tight-fitting bodice, cut excessively low at the neck, covered or affected to cover, the upper part of the body, which is so wasp-waisted as to suggest universal tight-lacing. From the broad belt hung down bell-shaped skirts, sometimes flounced throughout their entire length, sometimes richly embroidered.

"Hairdressing was very elaborate, and above the wonderful erection of curls and ringlets which crowned their heads, the Minoan ladies wore hats of quite modern type.

BELIEVES KARLUK WILL BE RECOVERED.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—A letter from Vilhjalmur Stefansson, received by Mr. R. F. Stupart, director of the Meteorological Observatory, speaks in a confident manner of the probable fate of the explorer's principal ship, the Karluk. Stefansson wrote from Point Barrow in October 14 and confirmed published stories that the Karluk had gone adrift, while the commander was shooting on shore.

His letter to the observatory director, however, had mainly to do with some work he was commissioned to do for the Meteorological Service in sending up balloons and other work. He instructs Mr. Stupart to send on the supplies previously requested and seems confident of carrying out his commission.

TRADE DEPRESSION IN UNITED STATES.

Many Industries Closed Down and Many Thousands of Men Out of Work.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Speaking in the House of Representatives, Mr. Humphrey, of Washington, a Republican, presented a striking statement indicating widespread trade depression in the United States. In the course of a speech he declared that more than one-third of the steel mills of the United States are closed down, and that one million men are idle, where a year ago they were at work.

He went on to read figures showing business depression all over the country. "Business is absolutely paralyzed," he said.

"Because of the depression in the steel mills I find that 558,000 miners are interested in some way or another. Bituminous coal output has been reduced forty or fifty per cent, and 558,000 miners are idle. The sum of $63,000,000 a month in wages is lost to laborers."
