

A Wheat-Malt Cereal giving an Excess of Strength for each Day's Burdens.

Newark, N. J., April 14, 1902.
"FORCE" FOOD CO.
 Buffalo, N. Y.
 I have introduced "FORCE" at my breakfast table, and must say it is the most pleasant breakfast dish I have ever found. I have gotten so now that I look forward with expectancy to my breakfast, which is something I have not done in a long time, and as the "FORCE" Food is at my plate every morning, I eat it with the greatest relish. I don't say this as "tasty" or "flattery," but it is an honest fact that I think "FORCE" Food is the most delectable breakfast dish I have ever tasted for its health-giving qualities. Its crispness and savory flavor is something new and unrivaled.
 Yours very sincerely,

INDIAN AND BUFFALO.

How the Latter Turned Hunter and Chased the Red Man.

A retired officer of the Northwest mounted police who took part in a Missouri buffalo run forty years ago describes the impression at the time as of an earthquake. The galloping fawn, the rumbling and quaking of the ground under the thunderous pounding, were all like a violent earthquake. The same gentleman tells how he once saw a wounded buffalo turn on an Indian hunter. The man's horse took fright. Instead of darting sideways to give him a chance to send a last finishing shot home the horse became wildly unmanageable and fled. The buffalo pursued. Off they rushed, rider and buffalo, the Indian craning over his horse's neck, the horse blown and fagged and unable to gain one pace ahead of the buffalo, the great angry beast covered with foam, with eyes like fire, pounding and pounding, closer and closer to the horse till rider and buffalo disappeared over the horizon. "To this day I have wondered what became of that Indian," said the officer, "for the horse was losing and the buffalo gaining when they went behind the bluff." This incident illustrates a trait seldom found in wild animals, a persistent vindictiveness.—A. C. Laut in Outing.

The Wild Strawberry.
 The wild strawberry is very widely diffused over the surface of the earth, being found in the chill regions of the north as well as in the sunny climes of the south. It is not a tropical plant, however, and except on mountain sides is not found south of latitude 38 degrees north. On the European continent it grows extensively from Lapland and the Shetland Isles to Italy and Greece. It is also found throughout western Asia, but is unknown in China and Japan. It has grown abundantly on the bleak hills of Iceland for centuries. It is found in America from Labrador and British Columbia to the pine woods of the southern states and on the high lands of Mexico and the Andes. The hardy plant, with its tiny scarlet berry, may be said to girdle the earth on the line of the polar circle and several hundred miles southward, except that it is not found in the basin of the river Amur, in Siberia.

Brougham and Milled Port.
 Lord Brougham, who as a member of the house of commons was a most abstemious man, upon his promotion to the peerage acquired less commendable habits. During his long and impassioned appeal to the lords to refrain from rejecting the reform bill of 1832 "five tumblers of milled port, with a dash of brandy, were brought to him at intervals." When he came to his last sentence ("I warn you, I implore you—yes, on my bended knee I supplicate you—reject not this bill") he knelt on the woollack, whence he slipped to the floor. It is recorded in the "Lives of the Lord Chancellors" that "he remained some time as if in prayer, but his friends, alarmed lest he should be suffering from the effects of milled port, picked him up and placed him safely on the woollack."

Attar of Roses.
 In trade the rose is very valuable, as the attars of India and Persia sell at a very high price, and there are large districts of rose gardens in which men and women are employed, the harvest months being March and April. In Turkey also rose farming is largely carried on, and a very fine attar is got from the rose grown in Kashmir. Even rosewater is a luxury which is by no means to be despised as to price, but the attar of roses is immensely costly, and it takes an enormous number of flowers to distill even a few drops.

The attar is said to have been first discovered by the favorite wife of Jehan Jeer, through whose garden ran a canal of rosewater, on the surface of which the begum found a few drops of the precious attar or oil floating.

It Was Up.
 There was a newly wedded pair whose honeymoon trip took them across the Atlantic. The bride had been something of a zychtswoman and was not affected by the swell, but her mate was a bad sailor and took to the rail late on the first day out. She did what she could to comfort him, but he was difficult. She thought a touch of the romantic might get him out of his mood, so she tried this:
 "The moon is up; isn't it, darling?"
 "Yes," he said languidly—"that is, if I swallowed it."

Tutinary Trees.
 Ancient people had their tutinary trees just as they had their tutinary gods—the former being the altars and shrines of the latter. Among the Scandinavians the ash was held to be the most sacred tree. Serpents, according to their belief, dared not approach it. Hence the women left their children with entire confidence under its shade while they went on with their harvesting.

A Gentle Hint.
 Lenders—Do you ever think of that "ten spot" you borrowed of me? Borrowers—Don't worry. I still have it in mind.
 Lenders—Don't you think it about time you relieved your mind?

Valedictory.
 "The paper was here to stay," writes a Georgia editor, "but it accidentally made money enough to leave."

There's no possibility of being witty without a little ill nature. The malice of a good thing is the barb that makes it stick.—Sheridan.

Rats and Mice Easily Destroyed.
 Some years ago my attention was called to a granary in Maryland under which a large number of rats had burrowed into the ground. The building was double, set on posts raised about eighteen inches above the ground, with a driveway between. The earth underneath was completely honeycombed with burrows. Two pounds of carbon bisulphide were secured. Wads of cotton varying in size from a hen's egg to one's fist were saturated and thrust into every burrow that opened on the surface. One hole was securely closed. Only in two instances were the holes opened by their occupants, and these were quickly destroyed by a second dose. Wherever a burrow is found about any building it can be treated in the same way.—American Agriculturist.

OFFENSIVE FEET

May be Made Sweet and Wholesome By The use of "Foot Elm"

Many people of cleanly habits, who bathe their feet regularly are, nevertheless, mortified to find, despite all their care, that their feet emit an unpleasant odor. This is due to germs or bacteria which find the warmth and moisture of the feet a splendid place for their development. There is no treatment so effectual for destroying these germs, without injury to the feet, and removing the unpleasant odor as Foot Elm. It keeps the feet sweet and clean, cool and comfortable.

Besides this, if your feet itch or ache, get tired or sore easily, blister or burn, swell or sweat, "Foot Elm" will readily remedy all these unpleasant conditions.

YOUNG DOCTORS IN DEMAND

Many Vacancies in the Medical Corps of the Army.

Either the examinations for commissions in the medical corps of the army are unusually severe or the young doctors appearing before the boards which have been in session here for several weeks were poorly prepared, for out of a list of 129 candidates but eighteen have been accepted and will be appointed assistant surgeons, with the rank of first lieutenant. The surgeon general of the army is greatly surprised and disappointed at the showing of the doctors and almost despairing of filling the large number of vacancies now existing by the autumn, when the services of a number of young surgeons should be available to relieve those whose terms of duty have expired in the Philippines.

An army examination board has been in session here since last April, passing upon the qualifications of all young doctors who have been authorized to appear, with the result that forty-eight vacancies still remain unfilled, but with few applicants on file to be passed upon. The present situation is most embarrassing to the war department and is unprecedented in the history of the corps. Usually there is not the slightest difficulty in securing excellent material from civil life for the medical corps, and generally there have been at least a dozen candidates for every vacancy existing. The medical corps of the army, in fact, has been considered one of the most desirable branches of the service for men just entering from civil life on account of the rank and pay the new appointees receive.

Next October the army will hold another examination, and meanwhile an effort will be made to secure the attendance of a large number of candidates well qualified for commissions.

Emperor Was "Broke."
 It seems incredible, yet it is a fact that Emperor William of Germany is often short of money, and the reason is because he rarely carries any money in his pockets.

On the day he was at a festival with his brother, Prince Henry, and his attention being drawn to a new automatic machine, he resolved to put a coin in the slot in order to see how the apparatus worked. When he searched for a coin, however, he could not find one, and he was obliged to borrow from his brother.

On various other occasions, and especially while hunting, since it is his custom to give money to the foresters and other attendants, he has found it necessary to borrow from his companions.

The only time when he fills his pockets with money is on Christmas eve, for it has long been his custom to stroll at that time through the streets near his palace and to give money to all deserving persons whom he meets, but especially to children and old soldiers.

Spain Waking Up.

Most of the great fortunes of Spain are in the hands of the nobility, and the industrial backwardness of the nation is attributed to the fact that men of rank have hitherto held aloof from trade. Under the prompting of the king they are now beginning, it is said, to invest in industrial enterprises. One of the finest cement plants in the world has recently been constructed at Barcelona by American engineers and manufacturers, and we are also providing the machinery for a brick-making establishment which will have four times the capacity of the largest American establishment of the kind. These bricks may serve as the foundation for a new era. The natural wealth of Spain is very great, and all that has been lacking to her development is the disposition to "arise and build."

Counterfeiters.

There is nothing which Uncle Sam protects with greater care than his currency. Because Uncle Sam's money is good there are always people ready to counterfeit it, and for these people Uncle Sam has a special body of secret service detectives always on the watch. The most dangerous counterfeiters are those which most closely imitate the original, and to arrest the makers of dangerous counterfeiters the United States spares no efforts and no expense. It seems a pity that the United States government could not extend its surveillance of counterfeiters to those who counterfeit whole some foods, reliable medicines, and other articles necessary to the health of the public.

The Kansas Corn Crop.

If the season holds, Kansas will this year raise its greatest corn crop. By reason of the partial failure of wheat a great deal of wheat land is this year devoted to corn, and it is estimated in some quarters that the state will have 400,000,000 bushels. Its greatest crop heretofore was under 250,000,000 bushels. That Kansas will this year raise the greatest corn crop ever raised in an American state seems assured. Last year Kansas raised more wheat than was ever before raised by an American state. Farmers.

usually a corned will average one ear per stalk, but that this year, owing to unusually favorable conditions, the fields will average two ears per stalk.

Climbing Roses.

Climbing roses are not seen half as often on our porches and trellises as they ought to be. They grow rapidly, reach a good height, their foliage is heavy enough for shade, and in blossom they are exquisite. The Crimson Rambler, which has glossy green foliage and bright crimson red double roses borne in clusters, is one of the loveliest of this class of roses, and no one can help admiring it. Why don't more people plant it?

Is Your Summer Life Made Miserable by Nervous Depression Sleeplessness and a Dread of Coming Disease?

Carry Home A Bottle Of Paine's Celery Compound

Use it and note its Quick and Happy Effects.

If you are one of the summer unfortunates made miserable, unhappy and despondent through nervous depression, sleeplessness and general physical weakness, we sincerely urge you to carry home to-day a bottle of Dr. Phelps' marvellous discovery, Paine's Celery Compound, and test its health and strength-giving powers.

Paine's Celery Compound is a prompt and effective banisher of summer "blues." It rescues shaky, enfeebled nerves from prostration and wreck; it removes those deathly feelings of exhaustion so common in the heat of the weather; it gives energy and a new life to all weakened and nervous men and women. Mrs. J. H. Pierce, King St., St. John, N. B., writes thus:

"I consider it a duty to recommend your Paine's Celery Compound to suffering humanity. I suffered terribly from constipation, weakness, nervousness, kidney and liver troubles; I was also subject to those tired, weary feelings, and had a slight touch of skin disease. The first dose of Paine's Celery Compound relieved me; and now, after having taken three bottles, I feel much better. I am not constipated, have no weak feelings, and I eat and sleep well. It is a grand remedy, and I hope all who read this may benefit by my recommendation."

Sent Both Kinds.

Little Dot—Mamma, Mrs. Schmidt has two little new babies, and one is a boy and one is a girl.
 "They are twins."
 Little Dot (after reflection)—Mrs. Schmidt doesn't talk very good English, and I suppose the angels couldn't understand which kind she wanted.

Millions In It.

"Great invention! Wormer got out, eh?"
 "Haven't heard of it. What is it?"
 "A rough shod cake of soap; warranted not to slide when you step on it."

SAVED HER CHILD

The great majority of mothers are now convinced that Lactated Food is the safest and most nourishing for babies in summer time. Mrs. L. P. Smith, Truro, N. S., says:
 "When my baby was three months old he was seriously ill and weighed only ten pounds. I gave him Lactated Food, and now, at the age of ten months, he is well and hearty and weighs twenty-five pounds." Lactated Food is recommended by over twenty thousand physicians.

Property has its duties as well as its rights.

FIFTY AGAINST TWO.

It is not reasonable to expect two weeks of outing to overcome the effects of fifty weeks of confinement. Take a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla along with you. Three doses, daily, of this great tonic will do more than anything else to refresh your blood, overcome your tired feeling, improve your appetite, and make your sleep easy and restful.

No wrong path can lead to a right end.
