DID YOU NOTICE IT?

"Did you ever notice," remarks the Belleville Intelligencer, "that now-adays you hardly ever see a Grit paper quoting the political utterances per quoting the political utterances of an indepedent paper. Once upon a time they used to do so with great gusto, but now never a word. The reason? Oh! The independent papers, these times, are all against the ty, help but condemn Laurier and Government. They cannot, in honeshis pals for the G. T. P. scheme and the shameful Dundonald business, and the retirement of that watchdog of the treasury, the Auditor-General."

PARLIAMENTARY DENIALS.

The Liberal press has made strenuous and indignant protest from time to time that the opposition exhibited discourtesy in refusing to accept the statements of ministers and government representatives on the floor of the house, especially in the shape of denials of allegations made against them. It was even a sore point that members of the opposition while formally accepting the word of members, as in duty bound by parliamentary etiquet, acted very much as if they did not believe them. After the denial of Hon. Mr. Fisher in the Dundonald case when it first came up there was a good precedent for refusing to accord members of the government and its following that courtesy on questions of veracity which has hitherto prevailed in legislatives bodies throughout the British empire. It was humiliating that the dignity of parliament should fall so low that this should be necessary but the fact remains that in numerous cases the opposition was aware that statements were made which were not true and that in making them the speakers were merely taking advantage of the high honor which has hitherto gov erned parliamentary debates.

As showing the value of denials on the floor of the house the appointment of the commissioners for the eastern section of the Grand Trunk Pacific furnishes an interesting ex-During the last session of parliament it was charged on the floor of the house that Mr. F. D. or two," the barber added.-Exchange Wade, M. P., for Annapolis was to be one of the commissioners. Speaking in his place on the floor of the house Mr. Wade said-

"I say that the statement is absome that I am to be offered any position at all at the close of this parliament or at any other time. On the contrary, it is my full determination to run at the next election in Annapolis county, and I propose coming back here as the representative of

On Saturday .Mr. Wade was gazetted to the position referred to. Of course, theoretically, the opposition was bound to accept his denial at the time it was made on the floor of the house, but the general public untrammelled by the rules of parliamentary count that sweeping denial at its face

"KEEP BOTH HANDS ON THE UNION JACK."

The sneering remarks of the Globe and other Liberal newspapers may be contrasted with the following from the Montreal Witness, a Liberal paper that is not under the control of the party bosses:

"Lord Dundonald told his enthusiastic admirers at Ottawa and Monttreal, and they are legion, to 'keep both hands on the Union Jack.' The cheering assent that was given to that advice must have convinced everybody, if anybody in Canada or abroad ever doubted it, that the great heart of Canada never beat more with loyalty to the old flag than it does to-day. Lord Dundonald was given a great send-off at Ottawa and got a great reception in Montreal, and all parties and creeds were represented. In Montreal, among the first to welcome him was Mr. Peter Lyall, the Liberal candidate for St. Antoine, which is suffi-cient proof that his public reception here was not arranged by the Conservative party. We read that one old soldier at Ottawa called for 'three cheers for the last General Officer Commanding in Canada,' and called for it with 'a touch of feeling' which we can quite believe and sympathize with. It is hard to break old ties and see them broken; but whether we are again to have a G. O. C. from England or not, or whatever other changes chance and time may bring about, most of us are in full touch good points,

DIED IN WINDSOR

The death occurred this morning of John O'Leary, of 5 Aylmer avenue, aged 86 years. The deceased was one of the oldest teachers in Ontario, having taught in the public schools for 46 years. He resided in Chatham for about twenty years, coming ham for about twenty years, coming to this city three years ago. A wife and four children survive him, Thomas, of Chicago ;John, of this city, and Alice Theresa and Sophia at home. The funeral took place on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Alphonsus' Church.—Windsor Record.

Testing a Razor.

The economical young man took his razor to one of the best barbers in town to be honed. Returning to get it, he found it ready for him. "I'll warrant that edge," said the barber. "It does look pretty sharp," said the man, and he began to feel of the edge with his thumb.

"But I won't warrant it if you do that," declared the barber. "It's the worst thing you could possibly do. You might better cut your nails with it than run your finger across the edge once, or shave with it for a month. There's nothing like knowing a thing

His servant, engaged for the occasion, wore a Mameluke dress of crimson and gold, with a white turban thirty yards long and a saber glittering like a rainbow."

> Ancient Preservation of the Dead. Herodotus gives a good description of the manner in which the early Ethiopians preserved their dead. Having thoroughly dried the corpse, they plastered it over with a paste made of gypsum and then painted the face and expos parts so as to make them look as nat ural as possible. Dead bodies served manner remained intact for hundreds of years.

"Well," replied her unsympathetic husband "that's true enough. You weren't a chicken, were you?" "No, I was a goose."
