MATTER OF LENGTH

There is seldom a time when Doctor Thornton has not a good joke. "They tell me that they are charging Grits 50 cents for a shave, now," he commented this morning. "How's that?" he was asked. "Because they have such long faces," he replied as he continued filling the cavity in a patient's tooth.

A LARGE FUNERAL

The funeral of the late Mr. Towl took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence to the Maple Leaf Cemetery. It was very largely attended. His fellow employees in Gray's factory attended in a body as also did the members of Chatham Lodge No. 29, and Western City Lodge No. 93, I. O. O. F. About 12 veteran firemen also marched in the funeral procession. Those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Greene, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. John Mains, London. The pall bearers were Chas. Ayres, Hugh Garrett, Geo. Wanless, S. McCormick, and A. Heath. Rev. G. H. Cobbledick conducted the obsequies.

HOLY TRINITY HARVEST HOME

Memorable and Delightful Services Yesterday—Rev. Mr. Smith's Magnificent Address.

New Lights and Heating System Installed—A Memorial to Mr. VanAllen—Exquisite Musical Service.

The special Harvest Home festival of Holy Trinity church was successfully observed yesterday, the occasion also commemorating the fourth year of the pastorate of the esteemed and valued rector, Rev. I. Beverley Smith. The sacred edifice was beautified with becoming and graceful decorations, significant of Nature's bountiful goodness. There were other features of the services which bespeak the prosperity and zeal of the congregation. Yesterday the two new furnaces installed as a result of the earnest efforts of the Ladies' Aid Society were in operation and in the evening the new electric lighting system, the gift of the Willing Workers, was in operation. A handsome brass tablet has been erected to the memory of Daniel Ross VanAllen by his family.

In the morning Rev. Mr. Smith preached an earnest and eloquent discourse, taking as his text Romans ii, 4: "The goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance." Our subject falls naturally into two divisions, said the speaker. First, the goodness of God. We shall think of God's loving mercies, blessings, gifts, abundance; and secondly let these all direct us to one lesson—repentance. I would have you come with me along a path of blessing and goodness to God Himself. Above all things to-day let us listen for the still small voice that speaks through God's mercies.

The first blessing we thank God for is an abundant harvest. True, in certain kinds, the harvest this district has not been so abundant as usual, but there is no famine. Our church is appropriately decked with the gifts of our farming people in this parish, and we must conclude from observation that they are earnestly thanking God to-day. But not only does the farmer rejoice for an abundant harvest, but the king upon his throne depends upon the fruits of the earth for his daily sustenance. And there are other blessings, the blessing of home and happiness and family love, the associations and endearments that come there. Let each of us ask to-day what we are going to preserve and foster these. And then can we not find some home needs the sunshine you can give; some little children whose lives you can cheer and gladden with your presence. And the blessings of health and strength and vigor and youth and manhood, which we seldom realize until we lose them. I shall be personal to-day and speak of some things which cause me deep gratitude.

Three years ago to-day I spent my first Sunday with you in this parish. At the end of that time it is something for any minister to be thankful for that he is urged by his people, as I have been, to remain with them for Thanksgiving Sunday instead of inviting a stranger, as is the custom. Three years ago we had unpaid accounts amounting to eight or ten hundred dollars. In the face of this the annual endowment was withdrawn. Yet since that time we have improved the church and rectory to the extent of $700, the schoolhouse has been improved to the extent of $250, new furnaces have been installed at a cost of $275, and this evening the new electric lighting will be used for the first time—and to-day the last payment by the Mite Society of the church's debt will be placed upon the plate. The great part of this work has been undertaken and paid for by the self-sacrificing endeavors of the women of the congregation.

gation. No worker in this parish wishes to offer to God what costs nothing but amusement.

Turning to the missionary work of the church, I find the Woman's Auxiliary ten days ago sending away the most valuable bale that has been sent in three years. Instead of sending a comparatively small collection each year for missions we put more than our apportionment last year. Already we have sent nearly a hundred dollars this year. This is what God has done, and enabled us to do. It is but another evidence of God's goodness to us for which we must unite in thanking him to-day. And these blessings are God's calls to repentance. We must ask God to search us and see if there be any way of wickedness in us. Are we living prayerless lives; has some habit of self-indulgence laid its hold upon us; are we pernicious, mean, unsympathetic; amongst the young is there disobedience and defiance of those whose backs are bent and heads are grey for loss of us; are you treating those who love you most as you would not treat any stranger; are you turning your eyes to the Saviour of the world and seeking from Him forgiveness and mercy? There dear people, let us repent and sin no more. So shall our thanksgiving day be a pre-taste of God's great harvest home. The music was of a special thanksgiving order and was highly appreciated by the congregations both morning and evening, and included the anthem, "They Shall Dwell in the Lord," by J. Stainer; solo, Miss McKellar; a duet by Messrs. Rutley and Hallman; a duet, "Consider the Lilies of the Field," by Mrs. R. V. Bray and Miss McKellar. To Mrs. R. V. Bray much credit is due for the excellent music provided on this occasion. Some 25 voices constituted the choir.

BADLY RATTLED

Amusing Predicament in which a Disturbing Young Solicitor Found Himself at Bridge End—Splendid Clements Rally

A splendid meeting in the interests of H. S. Clements was held at Bridge End Saturday night. There was a larger and more enthusiastic crowd present than at the Liberal meeting on Wednesday night. J. B. O'Flynn and Milton Pike were present to assist Mr. Clements, and Mr. N. H. Stevens and J. G. Kerr were present on behalf of the Conservatives. The Conservatives were a little too much for the Liberals and J. G. Kerr enjoyed very much the opportunity afforded of tying J. G. Kerr up to a knot.

J. B. O'Flynn opened the meeting and gave a very masterly address upon the tariff. J. G. Kerr followed, showing that some statements which the Conservatives challenged and Mr. Kerr promptly became both angry and rattled. Although he was allowed twenty-five minutes he couldn't get away from hog cholera and spent part of his time explaining how hard the Government inspectors worked.

Mr. N. H. Stevens always receives a good hearing and he made his usual quiet and moderate address. He travelled over to the old country and back and those in the hall enjoyed the trip. H. S. Clements was exceedingly well received and delivered to the good people of Bridge End a particularly good address, in which he dealt with the many short-comings in the Liberal Government. Mr. Clements certainly had the meeting with him. J. M. Pike followed. He went into the Dover bribery charge very extensively. He pointed out that Mr. Kerr had not mentioned these charges at all, although he had come out with a satchel full of affidavits, he had not dared to exhibit them. Apparently Mr. Kerr had begun to realize that he couldn't hood-wink the electors any longer with these wonderful affidavits. Mr. N. H. Stevens was interested in the road. No doubt, when he was abroad, he was building castles in the air, as to what he would do with the money he would make out of the electric road.

Mr. Stevens interrupted to say that Mr. Pike might be glad to travel on the road. "I wouldn't have a pass in my pocket like George Stephens," was the ready retort of Mr. Pike and it met with the loud approval of the gathering. Mr. Pike pointed out how much it was to the interest of George Stephens to get the road through owing to the bonuses and the binding privileges which was $20,000 a mile. A feature of the evening was the calling of J. G. Kerr's bluff by H. S. Clements. Mr. Kerr stated that there was no cure for hog cholera. Mr. Clements replied that he knew a gentleman in Dover who had a cure. Mr. Kerr tendered a bet of $500 that he was right but when H. S. Clements offered proof, the Chatham lawyer backed down.

W. E. Ripin is now selling tickets to St. Louis Exhibition at a rate of $1.15, good to return for seven days exclusive of day of sale. Tickets good going any day except Fridays and Saturdays.

Local Briefs

R. B. Hunter, of Ridgetown, was in the city on Saturday.

Charles Reg. Atkins, Esq., and bride, Little Current, Ont., are spending a few days in the city.

A large budget of locals were unfortunately crowded out of to-day's paper, but will appear to-morrow.

Robert McGarvin, of Los Angeles, Cal., is visiting his father and other relatives here. It is just 40 years since Mr. McGarvin left Chatham.

Harry Flowers sang King David's Lament at the Victoria Ave. Methodist Church yesterday. The solo was a fitting sequel to the splendid sermon preached by Rev. F. E. Malott, on Absalom.

Scott Bros. & Co. have the contract for the lumber for a new store for James Paul on St. Clair street. They also are building a new residence for Jacob Sparks on Head street, opposite the Wagon Works. When completed it will cost $1,400.

Judge Houston has been asked to preside at the anniversary concert and tea meeting at St. Paul's church. This is the first time since the church was built that they have the same chairman has been asked to officiate twice.

Joseph Bell and daughter, of California, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bell. It is 27 years since Mr. Bell left Chatham and since then he has been ranching near California. Mr. Bell is east on a short visit with his son Edwin Bell, LL. B.

City Engineer Jones wound up the granolithic sidewalk laying for this year on Saturday. A large number of walks have been laid this year and there are some more that should be put down but the season is now too far advanced and the weather is against any further undertakings in this respect.

SERVICE OF SONG

A special service of song was held in the First Presbyterian Church last evening, when an admirable address on the one hundredth psalm, by the pastor, Rev. A. H. MacGillivray, M. A., was enhanced by an exquisite musical service under the direction of E. B. Arthur. The church was thronged.

The large congregation enjoyed a particularly enjoyable and delightful inspiration in the exquisite solo, "Rest in the Lord," sung by Miss Addie Lillywhite, of London, sister of Mrs. John Cooper, and pupil of Cyril Dwight Edwards. Miss Lillywhite has a voice of marvellous range and expression and her magnificent contribution to the service of song was much appreciated.

Other delightful numbers were, in addition to anthems by the choir, duets by Mrs. Cooper and Miss McGarvin, and solos by Mrs. George and Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Bogart and solos by Miss Richards and John R. Smith. The whole service was a very helpful and enjoyable one.

The following gentlemen composed the Grand Jury:

William Battains, Ridgetown.
James Chinnick, Chatham township.
Daniel Cameron, Oxford Township.
Alexander Casade, Tilbury Village.
James Cruikshanks, Zone Township.
James William Moore, city.
J. D. McPherson, Horwich.
John E. McDougall, Wallaceburg.
Samuel Reek, Romney.
William D. Samson, Blenheim.
Ed. D. Smith, Tilbury East.
D. S. Williams, Howard.
Henry Wilson, Tilbury East.
W. D. Samson was elected foreman.

As the Judge was late in arriving Court was immediately gone on with.

Claude Eberts spent Saturday and Sunday in Wallaceburg.
