The Busy Housewives of Chatham and Vicinity.

How to clean jewels.

A sharp-pointed implement should mever be employed to clean rings, as it loosens the stones. Soak them in liquid ammonia and the dirt will be loosened. Afterward they should be polished with a soft cloth. It is a good plan to keep rings in sawdust, as it enables the gems to retain their brilliancy. Warm water and a little prepared chalk are all that are required to clean plain or chased rings.

Toilet articles, vinaigrettes, and other small trinkets may be easily brightened without the use of powder by placing them in an aluminum receptacle and pouring boiling water over them. Polishing should be done by means of a piece of clean chamois leather, but in adopting this treatment it must be remembered that the silver should never be allowed to become tarnished.

TREATMENT OF HICCOUGH.

Diamond topped combs possess a magnetic attraction for fastidous fem. Binity. A set of three combs with a barette to match has a narrow facilined diamond bow inserted in an open cut across the amber top. Severely plain monograms are being used now on women's bags in preference to decorative ones that previously found so much favor. Plain almost to ugliness, if it were not for the symmetry of the letters, these metal ornaments are exceedingly popular.

Camecs are great favorites with fair women. Elderly women choose black and white cameos, and many buy amethysts set in an almost invisible band of gold without any ornamentation or simply surrounded by pearls.

Every woman knows that a gleaming throat is made all the more attractive when its whiteness is thrown into effective relief by black. That is one reason why we see a revival of the old fashioned velvet throat band, this time ornamented with an old fashioned brooch. It must be a genuine antiquity if it is to have the place of honor on its sable velvet.

As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvie region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvie catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are no afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is used. It is the only put-up medicine for women, sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of sicohol, so harmful in the long run, especially to delicate women. It has more gonuine cures to its credit than all other medicines to women and wigorous health and virility, making motherhood possible, where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and vigorous health and virility, making motherhood possible, where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and saking happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sunshine where gloom and despondency had reigned before.

Petitioners Counsel Hold H's Motives Were To Secure Support

CORRUPTION IN

Ottawa, Oct. 6.—In the Suprem Court yesterday argument proceeded in the appeal of Cowie vs. Fielding, the Sheburne-Queens election case. Judg-ment was reserved and court adjourned

ment was reserved and court adjourned till Monday
The appeal is on the refusal of Mr. Flelding to answer questions with resard to the election of 1904. Mr. Flelding admitted paying to Hon. E. M. Farrel. Speaker of the Nova Scotia Legislature, a bill contracted in the 1900 election, but would not say what was the nature of the services rendered. In 1904 he gave $600 to Mr. Farrell, and the judges found that it was corruptly expended. It was argued that if Mr. Farrell spent the 1900 money corruptly Mr. Fleiding's action in entrusting him with $600 in the 1900 election constituted a grave offence.
Mr. Lovitt, for the petitioner, argued that if it could be proved that Mr. Fleiding was guilty of corrupt practices in the 1900 election, he would have been an unfit person to represent the party in 1904.

party in 1904.

Turns on the Statute.

This largely turned on the wording of he statute. Section 126 of the Dominion Election Section 128 of the Dominion Election Act provides that if, in an election trial, corrupt practices are proved to have been committed by a candidate at "an" election. This, the appellants argued, allowed them to range over previous elections. Had the act intended to restrict the enquiry into the one election from which the petition arose, it would have said "such election."

Mr. Lowitt, during the course of he argument, was frequently interrupted by the bench, particularly by Mr. Justice Idington, who at one point remarked that public men must be treated as fairly when accused of crime as other men. Former crimes must not be brought against them unless there is a connecting link between them and new charges.

Mr. Fielding's Motive.

In elaborating his argument counsel

Mr. Fielding's Motive.

In elaborating his argument counsel for the petitioner said that the motive in Mr. Fielding's mind, when he paid Farrell's account, was to secure his support at the 1904 elections.

Mr. Justice Idington remarked that it would have to be shown that Mr. Fielding's act was "a part of the system."

tem."

Mr. Lovitt contended that the "conmeeting link" could not be established in the lower court because the judges refused to allow petitioner to give evidence which would connect. If Mr. Farrell had been available as a witness he would have been asked what sum of money he had received from Mr. Flekting in 1902.
