

WANTED—A few in the body of the ENGLISH-GUANO. Apply to the CURRIER & BUCHANAN.

WANTED—A steady, active, middle aged man, recently from England, a SITUATION in a Store, Warehouse, or Office, in any part of the Country. Satisfactory references and testimonials for integrity and ability will be given. Apply at this office. No. 1.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

PROFESSOR

REVISED PROSPECTUS OF THE CANADIAN RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE. THE utility of Periodical Literature, in the diffusion of useful knowledge, is too obvious to be doubted. While publications of this nature furnish to the man of study an agreeable employment in the moments of leisure, they contribute to the improvement of the classes of society who have not the means of acquiring knowledge in any other way.

THE principal objects in the view of the conductors of this Journal, are to promote the spread of true religion and piety, to instruct the readers in the practical and experimental doctrine of the Bible, to enlarge their views of the duties of humanity, and to give them a more extensive and useful knowledge of the world, and of the progress of human industry, and of the various nations, and of the various parts of the globe.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

PROFESSOR

REVISED PROSPECTUS OF THE CANADIAN RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE. THE utility of Periodical Literature, in the diffusion of useful knowledge, is too obvious to be doubted. While publications of this nature furnish to the man of study an agreeable employment in the moments of leisure, they contribute to the improvement of the classes of society who have not the means of acquiring knowledge in any other way.

THE principal objects in the view of the conductors of this Journal, are to promote the spread of true religion and piety, to instruct the readers in the practical and experimental doctrine of the Bible, to enlarge their views of the duties of humanity, and to give them a more extensive and useful knowledge of the world, and of the progress of human industry, and of the various nations, and of the various parts of the globe.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

PROFESSOR

REVISED PROSPECTUS OF THE CANADIAN RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE. THE utility of Periodical Literature, in the diffusion of useful knowledge, is too obvious to be doubted. While publications of this nature furnish to the man of study an agreeable employment in the moments of leisure, they contribute to the improvement of the classes of society who have not the means of acquiring knowledge in any other way.

THE principal objects in the view of the conductors of this Journal, are to promote the spread of true religion and piety, to instruct the readers in the practical and experimental doctrine of the Bible, to enlarge their views of the duties of humanity, and to give them a more extensive and useful knowledge of the world, and of the progress of human industry, and of the various nations, and of the various parts of the globe.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

PROFESSOR

REVISED PROSPECTUS OF THE CANADIAN RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE. THE utility of Periodical Literature, in the diffusion of useful knowledge, is too obvious to be doubted. While publications of this nature furnish to the man of study an agreeable employment in the moments of leisure, they contribute to the improvement of the classes of society who have not the means of acquiring knowledge in any other way.

THE principal objects in the view of the conductors of this Journal, are to promote the spread of true religion and piety, to instruct the readers in the practical and experimental doctrine of the Bible, to enlarge their views of the duties of humanity, and to give them a more extensive and useful knowledge of the world, and of the progress of human industry, and of the various nations, and of the various parts of the globe.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

PROFESSOR

REVISED PROSPECTUS OF THE CANADIAN RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE. THE utility of Periodical Literature, in the diffusion of useful knowledge, is too obvious to be doubted. While publications of this nature furnish to the man of study an agreeable employment in the moments of leisure, they contribute to the improvement of the classes of society who have not the means of acquiring knowledge in any other way.

THE principal objects in the view of the conductors of this Journal, are to promote the spread of true religion and piety, to instruct the readers in the practical and experimental doctrine of the Bible, to enlarge their views of the duties of humanity, and to give them a more extensive and useful knowledge of the world, and of the progress of human industry, and of the various nations, and of the various parts of the globe.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

PROFESSOR

REVISED PROSPECTUS OF THE CANADIAN RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE. THE utility of Periodical Literature, in the diffusion of useful knowledge, is too obvious to be doubted. While publications of this nature furnish to the man of study an agreeable employment in the moments of leisure, they contribute to the improvement of the classes of society who have not the means of acquiring knowledge in any other way.

THE principal objects in the view of the conductors of this Journal, are to promote the spread of true religion and piety, to instruct the readers in the practical and experimental doctrine of the Bible, to enlarge their views of the duties of humanity, and to give them a more extensive and useful knowledge of the world, and of the progress of human industry, and of the various nations, and of the various parts of the globe.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

PROFESSOR

REVISED PROSPECTUS OF THE CANADIAN RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE. THE utility of Periodical Literature, in the diffusion of useful knowledge, is too obvious to be doubted. While publications of this nature furnish to the man of study an agreeable employment in the moments of leisure, they contribute to the improvement of the classes of society who have not the means of acquiring knowledge in any other way.

THE principal objects in the view of the conductors of this Journal, are to promote the spread of true religion and piety, to instruct the readers in the practical and experimental doctrine of the Bible, to enlarge their views of the duties of humanity, and to give them a more extensive and useful knowledge of the world, and of the progress of human industry, and of the various nations, and of the various parts of the globe.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

PROFESSOR

REVISED PROSPECTUS OF THE CANADIAN RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE. THE utility of Periodical Literature, in the diffusion of useful knowledge, is too obvious to be doubted. While publications of this nature furnish to the man of study an agreeable employment in the moments of leisure, they contribute to the improvement of the classes of society who have not the means of acquiring knowledge in any other way.

THE principal objects in the view of the conductors of this Journal, are to promote the spread of true religion and piety, to instruct the readers in the practical and experimental doctrine of the Bible, to enlarge their views of the duties of humanity, and to give them a more extensive and useful knowledge of the world, and of the progress of human industry, and of the various nations, and of the various parts of the globe.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

WANTED—A copy of the "MORNING COURIER," published by the Currier, at No. 1, St. Paul's Street, Montreal, on Friday, Jan. 27, 1837.

Public Record Office Reference. Copyright of photograph reserved to Public Record Office for permission to reproduce, apply to Public Archives, Ottawa.