THE PRINCE OF MAIL OF CONTROL THE PRINCE OF THE PRINCE OF

The second secon

vol. II, NO. 82.

Italy and Her Allies. While the worldjis marvelling and m

Why, he threaded units of the state of the s that the section. What do you call that now the view's specimen of the precision of this section. What do you call that now the view is upon the section of the season of the staple preducts of the country."

"Ah yes, indeed—I should think so," said the stable that you have been seen of the staple preducts of the country."

"Ah yes, indeed—I should think so," said the stable that you have the section of the staple preducts of the country."

"Ah yes, indeed—I should think so," said the stable that you have the section of the staple preducts of the stable that you have the said that it is " said the stable that you have the said that you have the said that the guestions, training to its."

"Feast str." I spijrammatically rejoined. Take rejoined Mothelia, who had suddenly been astracted by a fine view a short dissembly the said that the lowest points of the said that man's pastent. I'll fix him if it's possible. The Reform Barty had a sale of cattle yetterday at Ewr Park. There were suggest people present to make three average Grit pio-nics.

The affair went off well, and at the close the Party made a few affable remarks. It is tissements are frequently a fobb.

He maid that the lowest prices obtained were for short pedigrees and white animals.

I was surprised to learn that he had any white sainmals, having an impression that they were all Brown I.

I guess he will. Why not? It is false concent with a few care to have no short pedigrees for your sainmals, when a long one can be obtained for a few cents extra—just the cost of setting up little smore type.

He went on to may that "he would take care to have, previding those short-horn with the right kind of a pedigree, or I'm much mitsken.

The leading intellects of the Party have been for some time engaged in drafting a resolution has to be non-committed mough to cattle the proposal base of the Party lights have given the maintance of their imminent plants. So him and the responsibility detachies to the friendly with Au cermany, which, if not equally the asset in t