The Man Outside.

In my dream-picture, I saw a man fire, and the other drop, while his murderer clutched from the table the prize, to gain which he had fired and fled from the room. I saw it all as clearly now in my bedroom as I had really on the fatal night six years before.

I awoke from my reverie with a shiver, the photo had fallen from my hand, and mechanically I raised it from the carpet. As I did so, I saw the ring shine, and glanced curiously at the gold. I knew now why the workmanship appeared rough; it had been fashioned by some little jeweller out there from the first nugget poor Armitage had found, and the diamond had for years before been his mascot.

I replaced the photo in its dirty envelope, and hid both it and the ring next my breast, when I looked at the time; it was 5 a. m., and I switched off the light.

'I'll have an hour's sleep anyway,' I muttered to myself, 'and I don't fancy Lady Norah will have to give her answer to morrow after all.'

In the cold grey dawn, I slipped out of the Guilford Hotel, and a very short time after, Inspector Grayson, of Scotland Yard, sat opposite to me, with the ring and photo in his hand, listening to my story.

'And you are positive it's the same man?' he asked, when I had finished.

'I'd stake my life on it, for I never forget a face,' I answered. 'Here's his photo; perhaps you have one of the men who was wanted six years ago for the murder of Cecil Armitage.'

Grayson rose.

'I believe we have somewhere, but the search has virtually been abandoned after such a long interval,' he said, as he touched a bell and gave some orders to the sergeant who answered it.

The latter returned, having turned up the old photo, and laying the the two upon the table, Grayson looked long and earnestly at them.

'Yes,' he said, decisively, at last. 'You are right, Mr. Calthorpe; Count Zeitlen and Joshua Dixon are one and the same man. I have no doubt that the initials on the back of the view of Melbourne—'J. D.'—are his, and, after cabling the police there, I shall arrest him on suspicion to-day.'

'Grayson,' I said, as I rose to go, 'there are two things I am not clear about. Perhaps you can help me.'

He looked distinctly flatted.

'Anything I can ever do for you, Mr. Calthorpe, will be a pleasure.'

'Can you suggest any reason why Joshua Dixon, alias Comte Zeitlen, should have tried to force Lady Norah Marchbank into marrying him.'

Grayson stroke his chin thoughtfully.

'A murderer's conscience is never really at rest, otherwise we shouldn't catch as many of 'em as we do,' he replied slowly. 'Josh Dixon probably thought, and quite rightly, too, that the last person who would ever be taken for him would be Lady Norah's husband; also he is a gambler, to whom an introduction to her particular set would most likely have meant a rich harvest from his well-tried method of card sharping.'

I smiled as I heard his simple solution; it was the right one, I had no doubt, yet all the while I had been searching for some reason of a much more romantic nature—far too romantic, now I came to think of it, for Joshua Dixon.

'I'll give you one more riddle to solve,' I said, laughingly. 'Who put the ring in the coffee?'

'Ah!' exclaimed Grayson, ruefully, 'there you beat me, though I am inclined to fancy it was an ordinary theft. I wish you had seen the man's face properly from outside the grating. I'm afraid we shall never spot him now.'

And they never did. It remains one of the unsolved problems of Soctland Yard—and of 'yours truly'; but the arrest, subsequent confession, and execution of Joshua Dixon was the sensation of London and Continental society.

SELF CURE NO FICTION! MARVEL UPON MARVEL! NO SUFFERER NEED NOW DESPAIR,

THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY

THERAPION

a complete revolution has been wrought in this department of medical science, whilst thousands have been restored to health and happiness who for years previously had been merely dragging out a miserable existence.

THERAPION No. 1—A Sovereign Remedy for discharges, superseding injections, the use of which does irreparable harm by laying the foundation of stricture and other serious diseases.

THERAPION No. 2—A Sovereign Remedy for primary and secondary skin eruptions, ulcerations, pains and swellings of the joints, and all those complaints which mercury and sarsaparilla are popularly but erroneously supposed to cure. This preparation purifies the whole system through the blood and thoroughly eliminates all poisonous matter from the body.

THERAPION No. 3—A Sovereign Remedy for debility, nervousness, impaired vitality, sleeplessness, distaste and incapacity for business or pleasure, love of solitude, blushing, indigestion, pains in the back and head, and all disorders resulting from dissipation, early excesses, &c., which the faculty so persistently ignore, because so impotent to cure or even relieve.

THERAPION is sold by principal Chemists throughout the world. Price in England 2/9 and 4/6. In ordering, state which of the three numbers required, and observe that the word 'THERAPION' appears on British Government stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners, and without which it is a forgery.

Therapion may now also be obtained in Dragee (Tasteless) form.

SAFE EVEN FOR CHILDREN

There is not a Trace of Opium or Morphine in "Father Morriscy's No. 10" (Lung Tonic.)

A cough is merely a symptom of an irritated, inflamed or diseased condition of the air passages or the lungs themselves.

Many cough mixtures are simply preparations containing enough Opium, Morphine or similar drugs to deaden the irritation. They relieve the cough but they do not remove the unhealthy condition that caused it. Moreover any medicine containing morphine or opium is unsafe unless prescribed by a competent physician.

"Father Morriscy's No. 10", (Lung Tonic) contains absolutely no drugs of this character. It relieves a cough by removing the cause.

Made of Roots, Barks and Balsams, Nature's own remedies, it clears the mucus from the passages, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, and strengthens the lungs and whole system so that they can throw off the disease entirely. Thousands have proved it. Trial bottle 25c. Regular size 50c. At your dealer's, or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B. 15

The Life Policy.

BESIDES being the confidental advisers, attorneys are the "confessors" of modern England; and the revelations—delicate, serious, not unfrequently involving life as well as fortune and character—confided to the purchased fidelity and professional honor of men whom romances of all ages have sterotyped as the ghouls and vampires of civilized society, are, it is impossible to deny, as rarely divulged as those which the penitents of the Greek and Latin churches impart to their spiritual guides and helpers; and this possibly, for the somewhat vulgar, but very sufficient reason, that 'a breach of confidence' would as certainly involve the professional ruin of an attorney as the commission of a felony. An able but eccentric jurisconsul, Mr. Jeremy Bentham, was desirous that attorneys should be compelled to disclose on oath whatever guilty secrets might be confided to them by their clients; the only objection to which ingenious device for the conviction of rogues being, that if such a power existed, there would be no secrets to disclose; and, as a necessary consequenee, that the imperfectly-informed attorney would be unable to render his client the justice to which every personal, however criminal, is clearly entitled—that of having his or her case presented before the court appointed to decide upon it in the best and most advantageous manner possible. Let it not be forgotten either that the attorney is the only real, practical defender of the humble and needy against the illegal oppressions of the rich and powerful—the shrewd, indomitable agent who gives prosaic reality to the figurative eloquence of old Chancellor Fortescue, when he says, "that the lightning may flash through, the thunder shake, the tempest beat, upon the English peasant's hut, but the king of England, with all his army, cannot lift the latch to enter in.' The chancellor of course meant, that in this country overbearing violence cannot defy, or put itself in place of the law. This is quite true; and why? Chiefly because the attorney is ready, in all cases of provable illegality, with his potent strip of parchment summoning the great man before 'her Sovereign Lady the Queen,' there to answer for his acts; and the richer the offender, the more keen and eager Mr. Attorney to prosecute the suit; however needy his own client; for he is then sure of his costs, if he succeed! Again, I cheerfully admit the extreme vulgarity of the motive; but its effect in protecting the legal rights of the humble is not, I contend, lessened because the reward of exertion and success is counted out in good, honest sovereigns, or notes of the Governor and Company of the Bank of England.

Thus much by way of concillatory prologue to the narrative of a few incidents revealed in the attorney's privileged confessional; throughout which I have of course, in order to avoid any possible recognition of those events or incidents, changed the name of every person concerned.

Our old city firm, then, which, I am happy to say, still flourishes under the able direction of our active successors, I will call—adopting the nomenclature appropriated to us by imaginative ladies and gentlemen who favor the world with fancy pen-and ink portraits of the lawyer trible—that of Elint and Sharp; Sharp being myself, and Flint the silver-laired old bachelor we buried a few weeks since in Kensal Green Cemetery.

'Mr. Andrews,' said a clerk as he threw open the door of the inner office one afternoon; 'Mr. Jesse Andrews.'

'Good-day, Mr. Andrews,' was my prompt and civil greeting: 'I have good news for you. Take a chair.'

The good-humored, reather intelligent, and somewhat clouded countenance of the new-comer brightened up at these words. 'News from my Cuusin Archibald?' he asked, as he seated himself.

'Yes: He laments your late failure, and commiserates the changed position and prospects of your wife and boy, little Archibald, his godson. You he has not much compassion for, inasmuch as he attributes your misfortunes entirely to mismanagement, and the want of common prudence.'

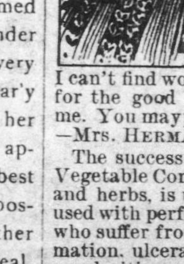
DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HER

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound



Pound, Wis.—"I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by your medicine. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman. I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish."—Mrs. HERMAN SIETH, Pound, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

F. P. U. PARADES.

The three branches of the Fishermen's Union at Badger's Quay, Brookfield and Wesleyville, united in a monster parade on Union Day, Feb. 20. They atended Divine Service in the Methodist Church at Wesleyville, and were there addressed by the Rev. J. R. Saint, S. T. L. A very sad accident occurred while the parade was passing Capt. Edward Bishop's house at Wesleyville. Mr. James Granter dropped dead on the road from heart failure. A dance had been scheduled for the night at Brookfield, but of course it was dropped owing to their brother's death.

The Greenspond Branch, numbering 300 members strong, paraded on the same day. This is one of the strongest branches in the country, and certainly the most well known as a result of their Christian, if rash, attempt to preserve for their town the sanctity of the Lord's Day.

The Pinchard's Island branch did not parade until the 23rd. At 11 o'clock they attended Matins in St. Matthew's Church where Rev. J. T. Hiscock, and Mr. Geo. B. Carter officiated, and the former preached. The text was from the Beatitudes:—"Blessed are the 'Peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." The sermon was a powerful appeal for Peace in the Union's endeavours to secure fair treatment. The Union was a big movement, said the preacher. It would involve much controversy. Let them not violate the first principles of their religion in fighting for their rights. He admitted the object of the Union, but let them do all with caution and on a basis of Christian Peace. Let them respect the rights of others while fighting for their own. The straightforward sermon cannot fail to carry weight, and to do good. After the service the Union paraded around the place, and afterwards repaired to the schoolroom and partook of refreshments. At night there was a largely attended and successful dance.

IN MEMORIAM—JESSE PARSONS.

It is my melancholy duty to chronicle the sad news of the death by drowning of Mr. Jesse Parsons, of Newtown, at the time of his death a student at Durham University. Particulars of the sad occurrence have not yet arrived. The deceased is a son of Mr. James Parsons, of Newtown, being born here about 24 years ago. He was adopted by the Rev. T. W. Upward on his appointment to the Incumbency of this mission eleven years ago. In 1905 and 1906 he was a pupil at Bishop Field College, and secured the A. A. before leaving. He was teacher and lay-reader at Newtown the following two years. In 1906 he left for England and entered St. Chad's College which is in affiliation with Durham University, with the intention of entering Holy Orders. His record since having studied there has been one of unbroken and brilliant success. High hopes had been built on his promising future, and the crushing intelligence of his death — doubly sad owing to the circumstances of it, is indeed a heavy blow to his parents and to Rev. and Mrs. Upward, his sister. May they find in God, in this their hour of sorrow, the solace and comfort that he alone can afford.

GRAND CONCERT AT NEWTOWN

A concert in aid of the new Parish Hall Fund was rendered at Newtown on Feb. 20th, by the "Newtown Minstrel Troupe." Despite counter attractions the spacious hall was nearly filled. At 8 o'clock the curtain was raised. The Rector in a pleasing speech introduced the troupe who delighted the audience with the following programme:—

1. "First Circle"—by the troupe.
2. Song: "Flow gently, Sweet Afton"—by Mr. E. H. Humphries.
3. Recitation: "Uncle Josh and the Labor Unions"—by Mr. Geo. Davis.
4. Dialogue: "How many fins has a cod?"
5. Song: "Too ral I oo, ral I ay"—by Mr. K. Hoddnott.
6. "Second Circle"—by the troupe.
7. Song: "Tom Big Bee River"—by Mr. Geo. Humphries.
8. Farce: "The Quack Doctor"—by Mr. Stanley Gill.
9. Song: "I love a lassie"—by Mr. E. H. Humphries, in Highland attire.
10. Dialogue: "Couldn't read English."
11. Song: "I'm old, but I'm awfully tough"—by Mr. Geo. Davis.
12. Recitation: "The Fire Hero"—by Mr. E. H. Humphries.
13. Dialogue: "Keeping bad company."
14. Song: "Balaclava"—by Mr. C. Hall.
16. Song: "Good night, ladies"—by the troupe.
16. God Save the King."

The proceeds of the concert amounted to $32.75.
