Though but a young man of 31, he has been some years at the head of his profession, and what is more, has obtained his high qualifications by private study.

The mortuary statistics for December, according to an Ottawa correspondent, show an exceedingly low death rate in the principal cities and towns of Canada. London's figures, considering her large population, are very low, being 86 per 1,000. Montreal is lower than usual, being 1.71. Hamilton's proportion is 1.17; Ottawa, 1.49; Halifax, 1.76; Toronto, 86; Winnipeg, 1.60; Kingston; 1.27; Brantford, 1.27; Belleville, 1.09; St. Thomas, 85; Galelph, 85; Peterboro, 1.52; Brockville, 1.35; Woodscock, 1.37; Chatham, 1.41; Windsor, .49, and Galt is lowest of all, 2.7. St. Johns, Que., with 2.80, and Quebec city, with 2.15, are the two highest. London Hunt Ball.

To the Orangemen of Sarnia.

We acknowledge with grateful thanks the sum of §5 per W. W. Fitzgerald in aid of our Protestant Orphans' Home. These donations from brethren and friends are particularly acceptable just now, as we have been obliged to put a large outlay on our home in making sanitary improvements, which, when completed, will be perfect as far as can be in an institution of that kind. Again many thanks to the Orange Lodge of Sarnia, and we hope other sister lodges will follow the above example. R. Morphy, president Protestant Orphans' Home.

Rosina Vokes at the Grand.

Resina Vokes at the Grand.

The charming and vivacious Rosina and excellent London Comedy Company appeared at the Grand last evening before a fashionable audience, and one which fully appreciated and applauded to the echo the witticisms and antics of the bewitching artist who sings and dances with such ability and grace. The company with Miss Vokes this season is as good, if not better, than any which has supported her during her many past seasons, and includes several artists of repute, while it would be difficult to single out a solitary "stick" in the entire organization. The three pieces are admirably staged, the costumes worn by the ladies eliciting many favorable comments from the female members of the audience. The opening piece was a short parlor comedietta in one act, entitled "Crocodile Tears," a new sketch which was presented to a London andience last night for the first time, and in which Mr. Felix Morris, Rosina's leading man, did some very clever work, but which lacked interest because of the non-appearance of the star. The well-known comedy, "My Milliner's Bill," which has ever been a great favorite with theater-goers of this city, followed, with Rosina in the title role and Mr. Courtenay Thorpe in the character of Mr. Merrydow. As presented by these two artists, it is doubtful if it has ever before been so thoroughly enjoyed, Mr. Thorpe proving to be a host in himself and acquitting himself very creditably. Rosina sang her ever-popular song, "His 'Art Was True to Poll," with spirit, and tripped lightly through the difficult steps of the dance as only Rosina can do. "My Lord in Livery," a lively and charming farefal comedy, concluded the programme, giving the several members of the company an opportunity of proving themselves worthy of the class in which they were traveling. The character of Sybil afforded Rosina plenty of scope to display her behaviors and such proving themselves
