CALEDONIA FROM HALIFAX
WITH TROOPS AT PLYMOUTH
Anchor Liner, With 26th Battalion, the Heavy Battery the Cycle Corps, and Reinforcements From the 40th Nova Scotia Regiment, Arrived Safely

Halifax, N. S., June 24.—The Chronicle prints the following account of the departure of the steamer Caledonia, from Halifax:—
The transport Caledonia of the Anchor line, which sailed from Halifax at nine o'clock Tuesday morning June 15th, with the Canadian Heavy Battery, the 26th Battalion of New Brunswick, No. 1 section Divisional Ammunition Column; the Nova Scotia Division of the Cycle Corps; a detachment of reinforcements from the 40th Nova Scotia Regiment and a draft from the Composite Battalion arrived at Plymouth yesterday.

After embarking at St. John, the 26th Battalion, the Caledonia arrived morning, June 14th. At eleven o'clock the same morning the company of the 40th under command of Captain J. P. Dwyer, arrived at the terminals from Aldershot, and immediately went on board ship. At one o'clock the Canadian Heavy Battery, under command of Col. J. W. O'Dell, marched from the South Barracks, on Sackville St. to the terminals and embarked. They were accompanied by the cycle platoon under command of Captain Starratt.

The delay in sailing was caused by the loading of a large quantity of ammunition and also the taking apart of the big guns, made necessary before they could be placed aboard.
The departure of this large body of men representing every one of the old Provinces of Canada was an event of more than ordinary interest even in the military movements in Halifax in this time of war. It was the second time within three weeks that the sons of Canada had passed through the great Atlantic Gateway of the Dominion enroute to the front.

It was an occasion that afforded Nova Scotians an opportunity to do honor to their sister Provinces of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, and the send-off which was accorded the great shipment of drafts men as they passed down the harbor in the bright sunlight of that early June morning was a sincere tribute not only to the men but to the Provinces, which had bred them.

In representation, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island came first with an entire battalion, a representation of which those Provinces might well be proud. Although Halifax had no opportunity to see them except as they were crowded on shipboard, yet the impression given under these unfavorable conditions was such as to convince all who saw them that the men of the 26th Battalion were fit representatives of the Provinces which they had the honor to represent.

Nova Scotia was not only represented by a company of men from the 40th Battalion, a body of picked men from a battalion which in every respect promises to uphold the standard of the Mayflower Province, but also in the Canadian Heavy Battery, the Ammunition Column, the platoon of cyclists and the draft from the Composite Battalion.

Prince Edward Island had the honor of having the largest unit in the Heavy Battery, an aggregation of men which may have equals but no superiors in the Canadian forces. The sixty men from the Garden of the Gulf, the strongest single unit of the battery represented the three Counties of the Island Province for the most part, sons of the farms, but who followed other vocations and a large proportion were members of the Charlottetown Heavy Artillery Battalion of Canadian Militia. Of this contingent no less than three were school teachers, several bank clerks and others who had held good commercial positions, some of these even returning to the Island for the purpose of going with the contingent. Prince Edward Island will have no better representation than was contained in this unit.

The Heavy Battery's strength was made up of units from Coburg, Ontario (with Colonel O'Dell, a Coburg man, in command) Montreal, Lewis, St. John, Charlottetown and Halifax. The departure of the Caledonia from Halifax was attended with the same features as made the sailing of the Saxonia with the 25th Battalion such a memorable event. There

CUTWORMS AND HOW TO FIGHT THEM

Farmers, market gardeners and others who cultivate the soil will be pleased to know that the Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, has issued a 31 paged bulletin (No. 101) on "Cutworms and their Control", prepared by Mr. Arthur Gibson, Chief Assistant Entomologist. In the introduction it is stated that cutworms as a class rank in importance with such well known pests as the San Jose Scale, the Coaling Moth and the Hessian fly, all of which are among our most destructive insect enemies. There are certainly few insects which, year after year, inflict such widespread damage as the various caterpillars known commonly as cutworms. The annual loss occasioned by these insects in Canada amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars. In the bulletin the methods of controlling cutworms are discussed fully. Under "Preventive Measures" the value of clean cultivation is referred to as well as the placing of bands of tin or paper around plants which are set out. "Remedial Measures" include descriptions of various poisoned baits to destroy the cutworms, directions for the making of proper furrows or ditches to prevent the advance of armies of cutworms, etc. Fifteen common kinds of cutworms are described in popular detail and much information given on the habits and life-history of the various species. The bulletin is fully illustrated, the figures being clear and well chosen. Altogether there are 20 illustrations of cutworms, cutworm moths, injury plants, etc. Copies of this new publication may be had free of charge on application to the Chief of the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Enquiries regarding these insects or other kinds which are found to be injuring crops, should be addressed to The Entomologist, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

A Scottish soldier seriously wounded in a hospital ward with only one other slightly wounded man. The chap was not expected to recover. When told there was no hope for him he expressed a desire to hear the bagpipes once more before he died, as the kind house-surgeon sent out to find a piper whom he asked to walk up and down the ward playing Scott airs on his national instrument. The next day the house-surgeon asked him how he felt. The Scotsman was "Oh, he's all right now," she replied "but all the other eleven patients dead!"
