Drop card and agent will call. 246 from his New York agents: New York, May 7.—The feeling last night was hopeful. Sam Fisher said he knew that all the Granner roads had come to an understanding, and that from this out there would not be any further ecuting of rates. He could see no reason why the nearket should not improve. For his own part he was very bullish, and had recently been a large buyer of market. He thought that the Cammack party might try to make capital out of the prespective advance in the Bank of England rate, but what would it matter, he asks, if we shipped abroad ten millions of dollars, with $105,000,000 which are sure to be disbursed from the treasury. I cannot see how we can avoid having a buil speculation. It is said that Gould will take hold of his specialties this week. He was not responsible for the break. F. C. Hollins, who was at the Windsor last night, repeated the general sentiment when he said: "This is the time to get bargains. The market is in as good condition as any one could wish for."
