

The first consignment to reach England of the million bags of flour presented by the Dominion of Canada. The sacks, when empty, are being sold for souvenirs at 5s. each, two-thirds of the proceeds being devoted to the Prince of Wales Relief Fund and the remainder to the Belgian Refugees' Fund.

Loading artillery and supplies at Quebec aboard one of the Canadian transports soon to sail for Europe with the First Canadian Expeditionary Force.