

Who Have I Learned?

1. That we may bring our friends to be healed and saved.
2. That sin is a great deal worse trouble than sickness.
3. That Jesus has power on earth to forgive sins.
4. That he is willing to forgive even the greatest of sinners.
5. That he will honor and reward the faith of those who trust in his mercy and power.

Mar. 30.—Luke 1-5.GOLDEN TEXT.—*Acts 1:12.Review Exercise.

What did an angel promise Zacharias?
How did Zacharias begin his song at the birth of John the Baptist?

What did he predict concerning his infant son?

What good tidings of great joy did an angel bring to the shepherds of Bethlehem?

What was the song of the angels at the birth of the Saviour?

What did Simeon say when he took the child Jesus in his arms?

Where did Jesus live during his childhood?

Where did his parents go every year?

When did they take Jesus with them?

What took place when they returned?

Where did his parents find him?

Where did Jesus then go with his parents?

How did John the Baptist foretell the Messiah?

What took place at the baptism of Jesus?

What was the father's testimony at his baptism?

Where did Jesus go after his baptism?

To what place did Jesus come?

How were the people affected by his preaching?

Where did Jesus go when rejected at Nazareth?

What did Jesus do on the Sabbath-day in Capernaum?

Whom did Jesus find at the Lake of Gennesaret?

What did he say to Simon after the draught of fishes?

What did these disciples then do?

What did Jesus say to one sick of the palsy?

How did he prove his power on earth to forgive sins?

Review-drill on title, Golden Texts, Lesson Plans, and Catechism questions.

HOW TO TREAT STRANGERS.

A Sunday-school missionary in the West, while addressing a Sunday-school noticed a little girl, shabbily dressed and barefooted, shrinking in a corner, her little sun-burned face buried in her hands, and sobbing as if her heart would break. Soon, however, another little girl, about eleven years old, got up and went to her, and, taking her by the hand, led her toward a brook, then seated her on a log, and, kneeling beside her, took off her ragged sun-bonnet: and then dipping her hand in the water, bathed her hot eyes and tear-stained face, and smoothed her tangled hair, talking in a cheery manner all the while.

The little one brightened up, the tears all went, and smiles came creeping around the rosy mouth.

The missionary stepped forward and said: "Is that your sister, my dear?"

"No, sir," answered the noble child, with tender, earnest eyes; "I have no sister, sir."

"Oh! one of the neighbor's children," replied the missionary—"a little school-mate, perhaps?"

"No, sir, she is a stranger. I do not know where she came from. I never saw her before." om.

"Then how came you to take her out and have such a care for her if you do not know her?"

"Because she was a stranger, sir, and seemed all alone, and needed somebody to be kind to her."