

things. I enjoyed looking at the animals in Riverdale Park and going through large stores and the City Hall. I was on the street cars every day. I like it for a visit, but would not like to live there all the time. I have been a year at my place here, and I hope to stay here all the time. Everyone is good to me. I like going to school; it is so near I never miss a day. I shall be glad when winter comes, for I like to wade through the snow and play on the ice. I have two cats and three dolls. I can make their clothes, and am learning different kinds of housework. I wish all the girls would write to UPS AND DOWNS. One of your girls,
MINNIE B. GLASTONBURY.

Minnie B. Glastonbury.

Iris Clyde, of the same party and about the same age, writes from Campbellford:

DEAR MADAM,—I am getting along nicely. I like it here very well. I am in the Junior Third Book. I am well; I have the best of health since I came to my new home. I go to school every day, unless it is so stormy I cannot go out. I have a nice winter coat and warm underclothes and two new dresses. Our Sunday school has stopped. I now study my lesson at home. I go to church when it is fit.

I have been a member of the Church since I was thirteen years of age. I am a member of the Church.

Amelia Pearson (August, 1901) eleven years of age, seems to be making good progress.

DEAR MISS LOVEDAY,—I am writing these few lines to let you know that I am well, and hope you are the same. I was glad to receive your letter. Mrs. D—is very kind to me. I like being here very much. I am in the Third Book, and I am sure I will be in the Fourth Book next summer. I like the teacher we have here very much. I like going to school. Rosie Green is well; she is in the same book as I am. I have read the Testament through, and am at Exodus the tenth chapter. Good-bye. Sincerely yours,
AMELIA REASON.

Emily Dunford (October, 1900) is thirteen, and May Willmott (June, 1901) very nearly that age, but they may still be included amongst the little girls on this occasion, though the latter's accomplishments would be creditable to many an older girl.

DEAR MISS LOVEDAY,—I thought I would write a few lines to let you know how I am getting along. I am going to school every day. I am having a good time, and would not like to leave here. I expect to have a good time on Christmas. I am going away for my Christmas dinner. I was away for a week in the summer holidays. I hear from Lily, and I am going to see her. She was here to see me. I would like to know if Lily has a place yet. I hope she will get a good one like I have. I remain your loving friend,
EMILY DUNFORD.

DEAR MISS LOVEDAY, I was very pleased to get your kind letter. I have had two letters from Rachel Bilbow, who I was pleased to hear from. I am happier now than I was before when I wrote to you. Mrs. S—is teaching me to sew on the sewing machine. I have a new dress for winter, which a dressmaker made, but Mrs. S—bought a beautiful new plaid dress for me, and she said that maybe I would make this one myself. I can cook potatoes and fry eggs, and I can make a custard pudding, and I have learnt a good many little things since I have been here. I am strong and hearty. I have had a little cold, but it is getting better now. I go to Sunday school whenever it is fit weather to go. From your affectionate child,

MAY WILLMOTT.
