

Indigestion

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

Is the most effective and agreeable remedy in existence for preventing indigestion, and relieving those diseases arising from a disordered stomach.

Dr. W. W. Gardner, Springfield, Mass., says: "I value it as an excellent preventative of indigestion, and a pleasant acidulated drink when properly diluted with water, and sweetened."

At the usual monthly meeting of the York Pioneers, held recently in the Canadian Institute, Mr. D. B. Read, Q.C., read a paper by the President, Rev. H. Scadding, D.D., entitled "A Prelude to the Story of Castle Frank, Toronto." Interesting particulars were given of the Simcoe family, especially of young Frank Simcoe, after whom the house was called.

Sir William Van Horne has agreed to the proposition laid before him to carry 100 poor patients per annum free of charge to some point along the line of the C.P.R. where a suitable site may be selected for the building of a Home for Consumptives. It is further proposed to give half rates to all other patients who may be sent out from the local Consumptive Hospital in Toronto to the Western Hospital.

Mr. William Court Gully, who is the Government candidate for the Speakership, is a distinguished member of the English Bar. He is a leading counsel on the Northern Circuit, and for several years he has regularly attended Carlisle Assizes, where he has been engaged in many important cases. He became a student at the Inner Temple at the age of 18, in 1853, was called in 1860, took silk in 1877, and was appointed recorder of Wigan three years ago. He is the second son of the late Dr. J. M. Gully, formerly of Great Malvern, and he was born in London. His grandfather was in his youth a well-known pugilist. Mr. Gully graduated at Trinity College, Cambridge, where he was President of the Union. After twice making a valiant but vain attempt to oust Mr. Cavendish-Bentinck from the representation of the neighbouring borough of Whitehaven, he was, in 1886, returned for Carlisle, and has sat for that constituency ever since.

A Glengarry Miracle.

THE STORY OF A YOUNG GIRL WHO THOUGHT DEATH WAS NEAR.

Her Condition That of Many Other Young Girls — Heart Action Feeble, Cheeks Palid, Easily Tired and Appetite Almost Gone—How Her Life Was Saved.

From the Cornwall Freeholder.

Nothing in this world is more distressing, and unfortunately it is too common in this Canada of ours, with its extremes of climate—its almost arctic winters and summer days of tropic heat—than to see a young life fading away like a blighted vine. Its early days have been full of promise, but just when the young maiden becomes of a loveable age with everything to live for, or the young man evinces signs of business aptitude, they are suddenly stricken down and too often in months, or it may be weeks, there are empty chairs at the fireside and sore hearts left behind. Not always is this the case, however. Fortunately science has discovered remedies to check the ravages of decline, when it has not gone too far. Recently, a case of this kind was brought to our notice, and the circumstances were so notable and attracted so much attention in the neighborhood that we felt impelled to inquire into them more fully and give them the benefit of as wide publicity as possible.

Henry Haines, who has for several years past acted as farm foreman for Mr. Daniel Currie, of Glen Walter, Glengarry County, has quite a large family, among them one daughter Mary, now about 18 years of age. Until her 12th year she was much as other children, fairly rugged and without sickness of any kind. Then of a sudden she became delicate and as the months went on her parents were afraid she was going into a decline. Her heart beat feebly; she was feverish and flushed, slept badly and had but little appetite. Doctors were consulted, who talked about growing too fast, and such common places, and prescribed different medicines, none of which, however, appeared to be of any permanent benefit. A year or so ago the young lady, hoping a change of air might accomplish for her what medicine could not, went to Fort Covington, N. Y., where she had some relatives, and engaged as a nurse. Even this light employment, however, proved too much for her and in the spring she returned to her parents a perfect wreck, with nothing to do but die, as she thought. But when least expected aid was at hand. Mr. Haines had been reading of the marvelous cures made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and reasoned within himself that if they had cured others they might save his daughter's life. On the next visit to Cornwall he bought a half dozen boxes of Pink Pills. It may be easily imagined that Miss Haines required little persuasion to try the much talked of remedy, and well for her it was that she did so. In the course of a week she felt an improvement. By the time she had taken two and a half boxes she realized that she was experiencing such health as she had never known before, and her friends began to remark and congratulate her on the change in her appearance. Still persevering in the use of the pills, she found herself when at the end of the fifth box in perfect health and able to engage in all the work of the household and the amusements from which she had up to that time been debarred. She had an excellent appetite and no one could wish to feel better. Hearing of the marvellous change her sister from Fort Covington came over to satisfy herself, and could hardly be persuaded that the robust, happy looking girl was indeed her sister whom he had never expected to see alive again. Miss Haines says she cannot say enough in favour of Dr. Williams' wonderful Pink Pills, to which she feels assured she owes her life.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an unfailing cure for all troubles resulting from poverty of the blood or shattered nerves and where given a fair trial they never fail in cases like the above related. Sold by all dealers, or sent postpaid, at 50 cents a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.
