William A Reddock was unveiled by Major Arthur Kirkpatrick, who served at the front with the 3rd Battalien and for many months following the battle of Langemarck was a prisoner of war in Germany. The tablet to Lieut. A. R. Y. Swinnerton was unveiled by Major F. C. Connery, 166th Battalion. Empire on Knees. Major Arthur Kirkpatrick said it was an honor to take part in the cere-mony of unveiling tablets to the memory of the three soldier-heroes. "Is our faith so dead that we must speak of them as dead?" he asked. "They the living ones, and we the ones passing thru the vale of tears, on the way of them as dead?" he asked. "They the living ones, and we the ones passing thru the vale of tears, on the way to be with them. The smiles on the faces of the soldiers as they 'go west, is beautiful to see, and it is rarely we hear a word of complaint, even from those who are the most wounded or the greatest sufferers." In answer to the question "Are we as an empire entitled to victory?" he speaker's answer was in the negative, taking the stand that people's lives for the last few decades had been given up in search of pleasure and material comforts, and that they were not living in a way worthy of being the instrument of God in breaking down Huntyranny. He believed with Admiral Beatty that, "Not until the empire is on its knees will we gain victory, and will we have peace."

Lieut. William A. Reddock, the brother, also born in Toronto, and educated at Dufferin street school, was iamous as a lacrosse player. He was in western Canada when the war commenced, but as soon as he could settle his business affairs joined the 166th Q. O. R. Battalion, going overseas as a lieutenant. He was killed in action near Vimy Ridge while participating in a raid on the German trenches on March 1, 1917. He was then a mem. March 1, 1917. He was then a mem-ber of the 54th Kootenay Battalion. The preacher pointed out that Vimy Ridge still stood today as the great bastion against the Hun, and the German command had so far hesitated to attempt to wrest it from the allies, realizing the mettle of the Canadian army, which held it.

Killed By Sniper.

Lieut. A. F. R. W. Swinnerton had been born in India, but like most English children born in India, had been sent to England to receive his education. Later he came to Canada and was in his third year in applied science at the University of Toronto when he enlisted in the 166th Battalion, from which unit he was drafted to the 75th Battalion. was killed March 1, 1917, by a Ger-man sniper, while reconnoitring along

PREPARE FOR WINTER. Earlscourt Citizens to Discuss Coal DOUBLE THE NUMBER

Earlscourt citizens intend to call a public meeting in the near future to enquire into the question of the coal supply for the coming winter. With the recoilection of last year's terrible suffering and hardship it is felt that every effort should be made now before the fall, when conditions will be worse.

J. Murray, from Saskatoon, was in Earlscourt recently, and reported that Earlscourt recently, and reported that plenty of coal was procurable in that part of Canada if transportation facili-ties could be arranged.

Considerably over $2000 was collected as a result of a whirtwind "burn the mortgage" campaign in connection with Danforth Avenue Baptist Church, Danforth avenue, of which Rev. M. A. Mac-Lean is pastor. The campaign was launched by the finance committee of the church and lasted one week. Much satisfaction was expressed by the congregation when the result was announced by the pastor at yesterday morning's service. The church membership is only 400. Dr. John A, Macdonald delivered an address on medical missions in south China at the morning service in St. John's Presbyterian Church, corner of Broadview and Simpson avenues, yestetday. The speaker, who is in charge of the medical work at Kong Moon, spoke of the wonderful work performed by the missions in the southern portions of China. Rev. J. McP. Scott, minister, officiated. There was a large attendance.

WORKERS IMPATIENT

A movement is on foot thruout some parts of York and Peel Counties by which threshers, instead of carrying two assistants, as formerly, will include a gang of half a dozen or eight men. This action is said to be necessary on account of the scarcity of help among the farmers, and it is thought that a regular gang can be secured better than farmers' help in the fall. At a meeting of farmers held in Aurora on Saturday night the idea was strongly endorsed. Club held their fourth annual gathering at the King Edward Hotel on Saturday, when 205 men and women sat down to luncheon. W. H. Alderson, president, occupied the chair, and the bugle band gave selections during the proceedings. Among the guests were the members of the delegation who are shortly leaving for the Rotary Convention at Kansas City. rists, and an important feature of the proceedings was the beans in a bottle guessing contest, which was won by Mrs. Windsor Barker, who was awarded a handsome cut-glass bowl. Mrs. Barker estimated the number of beans as 3578. The actual number was 3542.

W. H. Alderson briefly outlined the work of the organizations, and pointed out that 1700 lots were under cultivation this year in Toronto, being more than double the number of last year, and, although the cutty council grant was only slightly increased, the additional expenses would be met by the members of the associations. A number of soldiers wives were cultivating vacant lots, which have been plowed and harrowed for them.

The Toronto Hydro-Electric System prints herewith the Power Controller's rules with regard to current used for lighting purposes, these rules having been put into effect in order to assist in saving electric current for the production of war

As a means of making the most effective use of the limited amount of current available under these rules we desire to point out to our customers—and particularly to storekeepers, warehousemen, manufacturers, etc.—that there are many instances in which Hydro Shop's "gas-filled" lamps can be used in place of Tungstens to give the same illumination, with a lower current consumption and using fewer lamps.

Hydro Shop's "gas-filled" lamps give a whiter light, the special filament allowing the light to be distributed better by reflectors. They have been shown, under test, to give about 25 per cent. more light than Tungstens with the same current, and with just as long a life.
