The Spark Plugs Tell the Tale of Motor Power

However good your motor, it cannot produce its highest power without efficient spark plugs.

The spark plug, in turn, depends on the insulator which must withstand the same hammering blows of gas explosions and the same rapid expansion as the steel cylinder in which it is placed. That is where 3450 insulators in

Champion Dependable Spark Plugs prove their superiority. 3,450 separate experiments have produced in Champion insulators a material so much like steel in its ability to withstand the hardest punishment that it is practically indestructible.

There's a Champion Spark Plug that will make every engine, no matter what its purpose may be, produce its highest power.

You'll find Champion Spark Plugs in our

TELL STORY OF REVOLVER SHOTS

Firing in Room of Queen Hotel Last Night Caused Bit of Commotion

In the police court this morning one man, charged with drunkenness, was remanded.

Thomas Whittle was charged with being drunk in Princess street, but pleaded not guilty. Harry York was charged with being drunk and also charged with discharging a revolver in a room in the Queen Hotel, Princess street. Policeman Linton, who was doing duty in Charlotte street at the time, gave evidence that, about 11.15 o'clock last night, he heard four or five revolver shots. He found they came from a room in the rear of the Queen Hotel and smoke. He saw three men in the window drinking and found two bottles and a glass broken under the window. The officer said the bottles had contained liquor and were also obtained on prescription, having since been used by a vendor or them.

The policeman said he went into the hotel and telephoned for help. Policemen Leah, Thomas, Spencey and Detective Saunders arrived. The proprietress, Mrs. Frances Holden, asked that the men be ejected from the house. One man, Sergeant Frank O'Leary, escaped. The two dependants were put out in the street and the policeman arrested them. The policeman then went to the room to investigate. They found bureau drawers on the floor, and in a drawer a .38-calibre revolver, said to be owned by York. It had five empty shells in it, and the barrel was hot. The case was a box of cartridges. The window in the room had been broken. The proprietress of the hotel said that her husband told her not to go up to the room alone, as he heard shots fired. When asked if she requested the police to eject the offenders, she said no. She told the court that at first the noise sounded like a fire blow out across the street and no attention was paid to it till she heard the glass fall. The policeman then came in and said he heard a noise in the house, but she said she told him there was none.

Sergeant Frank O'Leary, who was summoned to court gave evidence that he met two men in the street a short time before and they seemed to be under the influence of liquor. They went up to York's room and were having a chat and smoke, when York took a revolver out of the bureau and began to flourish it around. As a matter of precaution, the witness said he took the gun and gave it to Whittle, who fired the shots out of the window into the yard below, after which he put it back into the bureau drawer. He said the glass was broken when York threw something at it and both he and Whittle told him to be careful. After this, he said, he went downstairs as he knew the police would soon be up, but second thought, went back to the room and later went home. The case was postponed until this afternoon at two o'clock.

Roy Whitley was charged with assaulting Clara Smith at the Dufferin Hotel this morning at eight o'clock. Miss Smith gave evidence that she was in the employees dining room serving them at breakfast, and asked the defendant what he would have but he called her abusive names, she called him a coward and says he then grabbed her by the wrists and threw her to the floor. The defendant asked her if she did not throw a cup at him and she said: "Yes, after you let me up off the floor." The defendant said that he was in the dining room waiting for his breakfast and this woman was asking him something, but he did not understand her as she was very disagreeable with him. She told him she would take no fooling from him and called him a coward at the same time saying she would "punch him in the face." He said that in attempting to stop her he grabbed her by the wrist, and releasing her, she picked up a knife and started at him again; this time she slipped and fell on the floor. Three other witnesses corroborated the defendant's statements. A fine of $20 was imposed on the defendant but allowed to stand provided he would pay any necessary doctor's expenses occasioned by the incident.

Some 300 children from different city schools assembled in the High school this morning and continued their practice of patriotic songs for the greeting to be tendered the Prince of Wales upon his arrival. At a conference with Dr. A. F. Emery, chairman of the board of school trustees, with teachers from the various schools, they promised to render all support possible in the project to have as many children as possible attend the rehearsals and take part in the reception. More of the older children were present this morning than at the last practice but those in charge are hoping that still more will be present at the rehearsal on Monday next at 10 a. m.

Teachers to Lend Assistance in Gathering Pupils—Mr. Fox Gives Valuable Aid

The teachers at the meeting today promised to try to get in touch with as many of their pupils as possible and it is hoped that those living out of town will come in to aid also. Another meeting of the teachers will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the High school.
