Fall River Quits League

It is probable that Fall River will not be represented in the New England league next season, the stockholders voting at the annual meeting Tuesday night to call for bids on the franchise. The club will be sold to the highest bidder. The team has been a losing venture for the last four years. At least, one city's desirability of taking over the team, business men of Manchester, N. H., having been in correspondence with the officers for sometime. No definite bid has yet been made by them. It is understood that Tuesday night's vote is believed to pave the way for an early offer.

Diamond Sparkles

Dominion is to manage Philadelphia again next year. The next step for President Fogel to take is to get his star pitcher, Alexander, satisfied.

It took Dominon some little time to get his batting eye back, but it came before the end of the season and he gets into the 300 class by a good margin.

It was a great ending of the season by the Boston Nationals. The new men have certainly been hitting the ball hard and promise some good things when the 1912 season opens.

Football

Meeting Tonight.
All football players who have been practicing for the senior team are requested to meet at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8 o'clock. Members of the Y. M. C. A. Harriers are also requested to be present. Matters in regard to the football season will be decided at once.

Hockey

Changes in Rules.
Montreal, Oct. 11.—Sweeping changes in the regulations under which hockey has been played by the teams in the National Hockey Association were made tonight at a meeting of the magnates of that organization. The number of men constituting a team is to be reduced from seven men to six, the position of rover being abolished. Fresh players will be permitted to be substituted at any period during the game.

Says Svede Will Astonish World.
New York, Oct. 11.—Ernest W. Hjertberg, the trainer, who is in his native country shaping up the Swedish team for the 1912 Olympic, which is to be held in Stockholm from June 29 to July 22, 1912, writes to his friend Eric J. Hillstrom, Brooklyn, that he has strong hopes of his pupils winning the laurels.

the I. A. A. C. the N. Y. A. C. and Columbia University. When he had charge of the college boys they won pretty much everything.

The Svede was selected last summer by the committee formed in Sweden to arrange for the Olympic games of 1912, and it was a proud day for Hjertberg when he went home to undertake his patriotic task.

It was like coming into his own, a summation that he had not foreseen when he came to America because there was here a better field for his athletic instruction than in Scandinavia.

The trainer writes: "I actually think that the Swedes are going to win the majority of the events. I never saw any men come up so fast, and the pride and patriotism they show in their work, the ardor they take of themselves and their obedience show how much in earnest they are."

"The world will be surprised in 1912." The patron of the games is King George V. The whole nation from King to "boots" is interested and very serious.

Aquatic

Dover, Eng., Oct. 11.—Guy Masterman of Dover has just performed the first-ever previously accomplished by one man so far as is known—rowing from Dover to the French coast and back. When, moreover, it is considered that the crossing was made at the top of the spring tides, the performance becomes all the more remarkable.

The craft employed was a light 13-foot boat, and the course was piloted for Mr. Masterman by Thomas Brockman, coxswain of the Dover boat. The journey was completed in a motor launch.

The time occupied by the rower was 12 hours 40 minutes, including about five minutes spent on the French soil at Sangatte, and it is interesting to know that the time taken on the home journey was practically identical with that taken on the outward course.

Wrestling

Montreal, Oct. 11.—The followers of the wrestling game who went to Schuster Park tonight, were disappointed. The bout between Raymond Cazeau and John Perelli, was comparatively tame. Cazeau took two straight falls, both with body holds. The first went nineteen minutes, but on going to the mat the second time, Perelli tired quickly and fell an easy victim.

Some excitement is looked for next Wednesday when John Fohl, Abe and Cazeau who on their last appearance converted a Graco-Roman bout into a free fight will meet again, this time at catch-as-catch-can with every hold, including the strangle hold, allowed. On the 25th Cazeau will meet Peterson, who claims the Graco-Roman championship of the world.

SIR ROBERT PERKS' VIEWS AS TO LABOR

If Men at the Top and Bottom Understood Each Other Trouble Could be Averted

(Toronto World)

England's recent labor troubles were briefly dealt with and a remedy was suggested by Sir Robert Perks, of London, in an address before the British Welcome League last night.

"I believe that if we are going to solve the labor troubles it will be by the men at the top getting into touch with all of the men down to the bottom and by having an intelligent understanding with them," he said.

"There should be an arrangement between employers and employed which would permit of the men going at any moment to the employers and explaining their grievances. The men should be welcomed by the employers, and the employers should be anxious to overcome any causes for complaint."

"Let employers and employed get together. All are members of the same community, all are bound together by the ties of work. Men and masters have to take the same risks, and to share the profits and the losses. If there are disagreements they should get together and reason the matter out. We will not see much of these disputes if that plan is applied. There is often an earnest desire among those who are well off to help those in need."

Sir Robert mentioned that in the 25 years that his firm had been undertaking great public works all over the world there had never been a strike or a lock-out.

CORONATION ROBES OF FIVE SOVEREIGNS

New London Museum Will Have 8,000 Exhibits—Also Will be a Chamber of Horrors

London, Oct. 12.—In the room in Kensington Palace in which Queen Anne died and beneath the windows of which is the tiny playground of Queen Victoria's childhood, Guy Laking, the king's armorer, is busy classifying the exhibits of the new London Museum. Considerable time must elapse before they can be placed on public view, for already they number nearly 8,000, and to catalogue a collection which is drawn from every period of London's history is no light task.

The coronation robes of five sovereigns—Queen Victoria, Queen Alexandra's and Queen Mary's, together with Edward's, and the robes of King George's coronation, at King Edward's coronation, and beneath her robes at her own coronation—will be on exhibition. Another exhibit will be the christening clothes and shoes of King Edward.

All these will form part of the costume history of London, towards which have already been added the magnificent Seymour Lucas collection.

The series comprises three or four hundred costumes, ranging from the fourteenth century to the present day. In the Elizabethan and Jacobean periods it is especially fine, and there are some beautiful silver-embroidered leather coats of the Commonwealth.

There will also be a chamber of horrors, showing the executioners' axe, found in the Thames by the Tower; fetters worn by Tom King, the highwayman; some more fetters (sixteenth century), found up from a well at Newgate; a basin from the condemned cell, as well as some fascinating lumbercreeper and handkerchiefs.

NEW HEAD OF SOUTH AFRICAN RAILWAYS

W. W. Hoy Will Have Control of More Than 8,000 Miles and 43,000 Employees

Cape Town, S. Africa, Oct. 11.—The appointment of W. W. Hoy as general manager of the railways and harbors of the union is greeted. The extent of the responsibilities attaching to such a position may be estimated from the following details.

There are under the charge of the general manager of railways 7,300 miles of open lines, 70 miles are under construction and 500 miles more have been authorized. The European employees on the system exceed 24,000 in number and the colored employees 19,000.

The rolling stock includes some 1400 engines, 2,100 coaches and 23,000 goods trucks, etc.

The traffic receipts for the current year are estimated at £11,334,000, and the expenditure is put at £9,090,932.

Mr. Hoy's railway career commenced as a clerk in the goods manager's office of the North British railway. He subsequently entered the service of the Cape Government Railways and has advanced grade by grade to the premier position in the unified railway system of South Africa.

FOUGHT DUEL WITH SCYTHES

Geneva, Oct. 12.—Two young Swiss, named Desnoez and Quenoz, cousins, and rivals in love, quarrelled while making hay at the village of Conthey, Canton of Valais, and fought a duel with scythes, the other hay-makers being afraid to approach them.

Quenoz received a severe gash in the thigh, but the duel continued until Desnoez, in swinging his scythe, overbalanced and fell upon the sharp blade. He was transfixed and died within a few minutes.

The police are looking for Quenoz, who has disappeared. It is said that he was attacked first by his cousin. Owing to the injury he received, it is unlikely that Quenoz is far from the village.

The world doesn't ask how you got there after you arrive.

MT. ALLISON TEAM WILL BE A LIGHT ONE

Sackville, Oct. 12.—(Special)—The arranging of the schedule for the Intercollegiate Football League games has set all the collegians here speculating more than ever as to the outcome of the trophy series. Nor are the speculations particularly rosy. The outlook at Mt. Allison is not very good, and the boys are wondering if, after all, either Acadia or U. N. B. is not going to pry the King Richardson silverware from its present moorings here.

There are several bad holes in the fifteen. Practically a new forward line has to be made. Fowler and Woodman, the only two of last year's senior men on hand. Both these men will catch the team again. The other forwards will probably be picked from Tompkinson, Titus, McDonald, Ripley, A. Mercer, Peters, Toombs, Graham, and Fraser, though there are one or two others who may develop enough to get in the running.

Captain Buckley will again be one of the quarters. Whether or not the plan will be to play two quarters or three is not yet known, but in any event the choice will be made from Fuller, Lewis, Dickenson, West and Thompson.

The halves and fullbacks will be picked from Hutchinson, Barter, Godfrey, Pickard, Smith, Milford and Grant.

Talking to your correspondent yesterday Capt. Buckley said:—"Our team will be light and so far the prospects are that it will not be especially fast. However, with a light team nothing but speed can save us."

Certainly the outlook is not so promising as it was at this time last season, but we hope to keep the other teams busy even if they do beat us. U. N. B. apparently is going to be much stronger than last year, and Acadia, too, is understood to be getting a mighty good team. Some newspaper reports would seem to indicate that Acadia will be weak, but we are not banking anything on stories of that kind just now. U. N. B. with a coach and a number of new men who are experienced football players, should be a mighty dangerous proposition this year, particularly in Fredericton, where we have to meet them. We would like mighty well to win both teams, but I am not making any predictions, and do not intend to make any."

TRAGEDY OF POVERTY

Artist Unable to Support Family, Kills Wife, Babe and Himself

Berlin, Oct. 12.—Schless Richlengen, Hanover, once the residence of a Prince of Waldeck is the scene of a tragedy of poverty. The artist, who was a member of the appointed artistic boards and an unsuccessful struggle with poverty. Four years ago it occurred by a young artist named Haver and his wife, to whom it belonged, and twelve months later a boy was born to them. But the struggle was too much for them, and they had to live in a tenement, and as they had no other means of subsistence, they were obliged to sell the Schloss, in which, however, they remained as tenants.

The purchase money did not last long, and latterly their furniture had been sold off piece by piece by the bailiffs to satisfy the demands of their creditors. On Sunday morning a girl from the neighboring village who helped in the household found the artist lying dead on the floor. He had evidently shot his wife through the head as she was standing before the mirror taking down her hair in preparation to retiring for rest. It had turned the weapon on the little boy, who was asleep in bed, and finally fired and killed his own temple. Haver's father is a professor in Posen.

AMUSEMENTS IN ST. JOHN; WHAT THE PLAYHOUSES OFFER

OPERA HOUSE

The Rosary, written by the well known author Edward E. Rose will be presented at the Opera House for three nights on Oct. 16, 17 and 18, with John Meehan in the leading role, that of Father Brinkley. The book and the song of the same name have long been popular, and the play has been a dramatic sensation since its first production.

The Rosary is described as a sermon, as good as has ever been presented on the stage. The story of ruin with which the play deals is brought about wholly by implication. It shows the working of the human mind when doubt infests it; it shows strongly the effect, once the seed of suspicion has been sown, and all by itself, not by word of mouth. While the story is dramatic throughout, there is sufficient comedy interwoven to ease the tension. The Rosary should be witnessed by all, regardless of religious belief. It is a power for good. The performance will be found thoroughly enjoyable.

Seats on sale at the Opera House.

NICKEL

Albert Chevalier's song, My Old Dutch, is worked into a lovely film-story by the Vitaphone Company and is being shown at the Nickel today for the last time. It is the incident of a good-hearted old pair of costermongers in London, whose bread cast upon the waters when they sheltered and cared for a sick and starving artist, returns to them in time of need most unexpectedly. The characterizations by Maurice Costello, VanDyke Brooke and Mrs. Maurice (an aged lady), are excellent. The Vitaphone story, The Old Confectioner's Mistake, proved pleasing and exciting. The comedies, Her Cigarettes, and The Fountain of Youth, by the Lubin Co., were also good. Today Miss Breck sings Stradella's Happy Days and Mr. Stedman has a new number. New picture Friday.

LYRIC

The programme arranged for the balance of the week at the Lyric is said by the management to be one of the best offered in some time. Sharp and Baker, singers and dancers, will be the featured attraction and for those who like lots of dancing this act will fill the bill to perfection. The picture program is said to be of exceptional worth, the leading subject, The Younger Brother, is a story of great, but not dramatic interest. The Prince and the Pumps, by the Vitaphone Co., is said by critics to be a fine picture. There will be two other pictures.
