Hoetry. THE WHOLE STORY.

Ohswes- I'll tell you the story. The very words that were said. You see the supper was cooking, And I was slicing some bread. And Richard came into the Pantry. His face was exceeding red.

And he opened his half shut fingers, And gave me a glimpse of a ring ; And then-oh, yes, I remember, The kettle began to sing, And Fanny came in with her baby, The cunningest bunch of a thing.

And the biscuits were out in a minute, Well, what came next? Let me set-Oh, Fanny wis there with her baby, And we all sat down to tea; . And Grandma looked over her glasses So queer at Richard and me

But it wasn't till after milking That he said what he had to say, liew was it ? Oh ! Fanny had taken The baby and gone away-The funniest rogue of a fellow He had a new tooth that day.

We were standing under the plum tree And Richard said something low, But I was tired and flustered, > And trembled, I almost know ; For old Red is the hardest of milkers And Brindle so horribly slow.

And then-let me see-where was I? Oh, the stars grew thick overhead, And we stood under the plum tree Till the chickens flew up to bed, Well, he loves me, and we're to be married. And that's-about what he said. From Hearth and Home.

THE LAST FAREWELL.

Come near to me true wife,-Come near to me ! Though nearly done with life, Thou'rt dear to me. So dear, I may not tell The pangs my heart can swell In bidding thee farewell,

My wife ! Come near to me, true w fe ; Though soon to part, Still canst thou soothe the strife, That tears my heart ; 'I hy gentle hands' caress, Thy voice of tenderness Still, still hath power to bless, Sweet wife !

Come lay thy cheek to mine ! Come close to me ! I feel those arms of thine, But cannot see ! Yet. O within my brain, 's hrough all this night of pain, Thy spirit form hath lain, Dear wife!

Come near -come closer yet! To thee I've clung Through life since first we met, When we were young ; And we shall meet ouce more, When all these pangs are o'er, As young -ay, younger than before, H.J.B. True wife !
