

General Business.

To Let. The New House just completed on Saint John Street...

CARBOLINE, ETC. TOILET ARTICLES. BRUSHES.

SOAPS. PATENT MEDICINES.

Teacher Wanted. A Native Bred, and a Good Old man...

Teacher Wanted. To teach in the School at Black Brook...

Saint John Business College. REDUCTION OF FEES.

Administrator's Notice. All persons having any claims or demands...

IMPORTANT SALE OF Real Estate.

350 Acres. Part of the land of the late John...

200 Acres. Part of the land of the late John...

Old Mines Sydney Coal.

200 Tons Old Mines SYDNEY COAL.

Stoves! STOVES!

Stoves of all kinds for sale, Cheap for Cash.

W. C. McDONALD'S TOBACCO.

ISAAC HARRIS, Water St., Chatham.

Miramichi Advance

A Lesson to be Remembered. The fatal accident, which happened last Thursday evening...

Magistrate's Appointments. It is not often that we are asked to publish a more sensible and effective letter than that of Mr. Thomas Holmes...

Northumberland and Kent Magistrate's Appointments. From time to time the leading papers of the Province have contained reports of lectures delivered by Edward Jack...

A Tallentian's Speech. The Quebec Chronicle referring to Sir John's late speech in this city...

The Rising Sun. It is quite well understood that Mr. Donville, M. P., and his friends...

Number. Messrs. Fenwick & Jardine's Liverpool Chamber of 2nd Inst. says the import of spruce deals...

The Price of Flour. When we referred, recently, to the increased cost of flour, over the prices ruling a year ago...

Mr. Donville's Speech. It is not often that we are asked to publish a more sensible and effective letter than that of Mr. Thomas Holmes...

The Rising Sun. It is quite well understood that Mr. Donville, M. P., and his friends...

Number. Messrs. Fenwick & Jardine's Liverpool Chamber of 2nd Inst. says the import of spruce deals...

The Price of Flour. When we referred, recently, to the increased cost of flour, over the prices ruling a year ago...

Mr. Donville's Speech. It is not often that we are asked to publish a more sensible and effective letter than that of Mr. Thomas Holmes...

The Rising Sun. It is quite well understood that Mr. Donville, M. P., and his friends...

Number. Messrs. Fenwick & Jardine's Liverpool Chamber of 2nd Inst. says the import of spruce deals...

The Price of Flour. When we referred, recently, to the increased cost of flour, over the prices ruling a year ago...

Mr. Donville's Speech. It is not often that we are asked to publish a more sensible and effective letter than that of Mr. Thomas Holmes...

The Rising Sun. It is quite well understood that Mr. Donville, M. P., and his friends...

Number. Messrs. Fenwick & Jardine's Liverpool Chamber of 2nd Inst. says the import of spruce deals...

The Price of Flour. When we referred, recently, to the increased cost of flour, over the prices ruling a year ago...

Mr. Donville's Speech. It is not often that we are asked to publish a more sensible and effective letter than that of Mr. Thomas Holmes...

The Rising Sun. It is quite well understood that Mr. Donville, M. P., and his friends...

Number. Messrs. Fenwick & Jardine's Liverpool Chamber of 2nd Inst. says the import of spruce deals...

The Price of Flour. When we referred, recently, to the increased cost of flour, over the prices ruling a year ago...

Mr. Donville's Speech. It is not often that we are asked to publish a more sensible and effective letter than that of Mr. Thomas Holmes...

The Rising Sun. It is quite well understood that Mr. Donville, M. P., and his friends...

Number. Messrs. Fenwick & Jardine's Liverpool Chamber of 2nd Inst. says the import of spruce deals...

The Price of Flour. When we referred, recently, to the increased cost of flour, over the prices ruling a year ago...

Mr. Donville's Speech. It is not often that we are asked to publish a more sensible and effective letter than that of Mr. Thomas Holmes...

election, his opponent being Lt. Col. T. O'Connell of Bowmanville. If the N. P. is such a success in Ontario as his friends pretend it is, the opening of such a constituency would seem a bold stroke on the part of the Liberals.

EARLY EXPLAINED. An Upper Province paper, speaking of Moncton, says it down as follows: "The Moncton, Nova Scotia. While we are all proud of the prominence this town has attained throughout Canada, we must not forget that it was the result of a policy of the Government of the day."

How dull the Times is, to be sure. You see, Sir Charles told the Halifax people that there was too much public work being done at Moncton—that Moncton (Railway Workshops) must be handed over to Halifax and as that has been done to a great extent, Moncton may, in a certain sense, be said to have gone to Nova Scotia. It is a part of the N. P. programme.

THE "MONTEUX ACADEMY" which was burned out by the Shedd fire was the only French paper in the Maritime Provinces. The people whose nationality it especially represents and who are neither few nor without means, should now give substantial proof of the importance they attach to the maintenance of a French paper. The editor's address is E. Robitaille, Shedd.

NOMINATIONS IN CAPS BRETON.—Murray Dodd, and N. L. McKay, (Liberal) were nominated for the vacant seat in the Commons on 18th inst. The Ministerial majority in Cape Breton at the election on 17th Sept., last, was over 900, so the vote which is to be taken to-day, will indicate how popular the N. P. is in that part of Nova Scotia.

A SCHOOL HOUSE should be something different from the shanty described by a correspondent as being located on the Chapin Island Road. He shows that the Trustees interested have very high qualifications for the duties of their position.

OUR LAST. Mrs. Saunders, widow of the late Hon. John S. Saunders, President of the Legislative Council, died at her residence on Tuesday of last week, at an advanced age.

Is the British Nation "The Israel of God?" In our last article on this subject we touched the scriptural account, historical and prophetic, of the royal line of David, for the purpose of determining the amount of probability that there is in the theory of the Davidic lineage of the present British monarch. We now propose to direct our readers' attention to the scriptural, historical, and prophetic, and to the historical, historical and prophetic, between the houses of Judah and Israel.

The distinction between Judah and Israel first appears at the accession of King David. Belonging, as he did, to the tribe of Judah, it was natural that his fellow-tribesmen should support him in his long contest with the house of Saul. When Saul and his son were slain, David was anointed king over the house of Judah in Hebron, where he exercised his royal functions for seven years and a half. At the end of that time the elders of Israel came and anointed him King over Israel and then he went to dwell at Jerusalem.

This distinction between Judah and Israel appears to have been confirmed by the prophet Isaiah, who in Kings 19, 24, 25, said: "Judah and Israel were many," and again, v. 25, "And Judah and Israel dwelt safely, every man under his vine and under his fig-tree." But it was in the days of Solomon that the distinction became most marked. In Solomon's old age he turned after other gods, and Jehovah sent him the following message: (1 Kings 11, 11-13) "As thou hast not been true to me, and thou hast not kept my commandments—I will surely rend the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant—Hobab; he will not rend away all the kingdom; but will give one tribe to thy son for David, my servant, and for Jerusalem's sake which I have chosen." We might suppose that the school for the Hebrews which followed show that this is not so. The majority of the tribes rebelled against Rehoboam, and "there was none that followed the house of David but the tribe of Judah only." (1 Kings, 12, 20); but we read immediately after (v. 23) that a prophet was sent to speak unto Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, king of Judah and unto all the Jews of Judah and Benjamin. From this we learn that the tribe of Judah was restored to the house of David was the tribe of Benjamin which was proper to David in addition to his own proper tribe, Judah. Still further, the king of the house of Israel appointed "the lowest of the land" to be priests, instead of men of the tribe of Levi. The consequence of this would naturally be that the majority of the people would be themselves with Jerusalem and the house of Judah; so that we find the house of Judah over afterwards consisting of the tribes of Judah, Benjamin and Levi. (See 2 Chron. 11, 1, 3.) Then after the captivity of Judah, when that house was restored to Jerusalem, we find that there "rose up the chief of the fathers of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and the Levites—to build the house of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem (Ezra 1, 5.) And nowhere do we read of any returning to Jerusalem from Babylon, who were not of the tribe of Judah, Benjamin, or Levi; while the house of Israel, which was carried captive to Assyria many years previously, did not return to Palestine at all. So much for history.

There is a similar marked distinction in prophecy between the house of Judah and Israel. The prophet Joel says his visions perhaps about 800 B. C. and he foretold the coming tribulation in store for his country. But he also looked to the future when there should be a grand restoration. "For, behold in those days and in that time, when I shall bring again the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem, I will also gather all nations, and will bring them down into the valley of Jehoshaphat, and will plead with them there for my people and my heritage, Israel." (Joel 2, 1, 2.) How prophetic throughout the distinction between the two houses. In the first chapter of his prophecy he makes known, in strange fashion, the future of Israel and Judah. The house of Israel is to meet with no mercy, but to be utterly laid away; whereas God will have mercy upon the house of Judah. "Ye that are the children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea which shall not be measured nor numbered; and it shall come to pass that in the place where it was said unto them, Ye are not my people, there shall be said unto them ye are the sons of the living God." (v. 10.) Thus to Judah many nations were to be shown, which was actually done when that house was restored to Jerusalem. Israel was to receive no mercy but to be taken away and cease to be known as the people of God; while, at the same time, Israel was to increase exceedingly and afterwards become the "sons of the living God."

Still later on "the children of Judah and the children of Israel were to be gathered together" (v. 11). Let us now study Isaiah, who began to prophesy about B. C. 760 and continued to do so perhaps for forty years, or to about the time when the house of Israel was carried away captive to Assyria. The chapters of his prophecy from the forty first to the end are very remarkable and very obscure. Let the reader examine the first nine verses of the forty first chapter; he will see there dimly described the progress of some people described as "the righteous from the east" as they advance westward and take possession of some islands. And in the eighth verse we learn that these prosperous and successful people are "Israel my servant, Jacob whom I have chosen the seed of Abraham my friend."

Let the reader now follow the prophetic account of Israel, the servant of Jehovah, throughout the remaining chapters of Isaiah. Israel was to be made "a new sharp threshing instrument having teeth" (41, 15); to be blind and deaf again in his old age, in a way that they know not" (42, 16); to receive many privileges and blessings, which our space does not permit us to describe. In chap. 49, 19, 20 we read "I will waste and I will desolate places and the land of thy destruction shall even be too narrow for reason of the inhabitants. The children which thou shalt have after thou shalt have lost the others, shall be again in thine ears, the place is to dwell for me: give place to me that I may dwell." Israel was to grow so rapidly in the country of her exile that it would not contain her, and her children were to go abroad to colonize other lands. But it would be impossible to go into all the details of the future of Israel in a short article, and we must request our readers to study Isaiah for themselves. Jeremiah lived in the reign of King Josiah, and he said to me, I have this day set thee over the nations, and over the kingdoms, to root out and to pull down, and to destroy and to throw down, to build and to plant" (Jer. 1, 10). He tells us (3, 18) "In those days the house of Judah shall walk with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the north to the land that I have given them for an inheritance into your fathers." See also chap. 16, 14, 15, and chap. 23, 2, 3. And again in the thirtieth and thirty first chapters there are many prophecies in which he refers to the house of Israel, and he says, "I will bring again the captivity of my people Israel and Judah, saith the Lord; and I will cause them to return to the land that I gave to their fathers, and they shall possess it." (Jer. 30, 3.) And throughout Jeremiah there are many prophecies regarding both Judah and Israel, the two houses being always kept distinct, which we must leave the reader to study for himself. Ezekiel lived in captivity times and prophesied chiefly concerning the house of Israel, but also concerning Judah and Jerusalem. His thirty sixth and thirty seventh chapters contain a magnificent prediction of the restoration of both Israel and Judah. The vision of the valley of dry bones had reference to the house of Israel which is finally to be brought back to the land promised to their forefathers. This promise is made still more definite in the latter part of the thirty seventh chapter. The tribes of the house of Judah and of the house of Israel are united together and become one, and then it is said: "I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and will gather them on every side and bring them into their own land; and I will make them one nation in the land upon the mountains of Israel; and one king shall be king to them all; and they shall be no more two nations, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms any more at all." Thus the house of Israel was to be driven away amongst the heathen, to inhabit islands in the west and become a great colonizing empire, and to be restored to the land of promise along with Judah, and there again to become with Judah one nation ruled over by a king of the house of David. In this it is implied that the two houses should be equally restored, illustrated with beautiful engravings of pictures by John Symber, Benjamin West, John Singleton Copley, C. W. Peale, John Trumbull, Gilbert Stuart, G. Stuart Newton, Thos. Sully, R. G. Malbone, Washington Allston, and S. F. Morse.

The leading paper, by W. H. Ridding, is devoted to a subject of curious interest—the old National Pike between the East and West across the Alleghenian. The author, by his eloquent description, ascribes to Pyle's excellent illustrations, reproduced in vivid colors, the lively pageantry of this great highway, which little more than a generation ago was the scene of a traffic that "seems like a frieze with an endless procession of figures." "There were sometimes," says the writer, "sixteen gaily-painted coaches each way a day; the cattle and sheep were never less than eight; the canvas-covered wagons were drawn by six or twelve horses with bows of bells over their collars; the families of statesmen and merchants went by in private vehicles; and while most of the travellers were non-spectacular, in a few splendid equipages and employed outriders."

An equally novel subject, and of greater present interest, is Mr. A. Hayes, Jr.'s article on the "Cattle Ranches of Colorado," which is very entertaining reading, while it contains full information as to the methods and risks of cattle-raising. The illustrations by Mr. Rogers are capital. The articles and the pictures recall those old numbers of Harper, which contained accounts of J. Ross Brown's famous adventures in the West.

The engravings which illustrate Mr. J. C. Beard's paper, "The Ministry of can wonder that the cry of distress is heard on all sides; that so many states are unoccupied; that in so many other little business is done; that merchants are in such difficulties; that of those who live by manual labor so many are unemployed, and that so many families are in want of bread." But Sir L. Tilley, we are told, stated in New York that the National Policy is producing the most gratifying results, and that the Maritime Provinces will all be delighted—very soon!!!—Freeman.

Mr. Holmes Declines to be a J. P. BLENFIELD, Oct. 16th, 1879. TO HON. M. ADAMS, SYDNEY-GENERAL.

Dear Sir—I observe that my name appears, together with that of many other of my friends in different parts of the County, in a list of newly-appointed Magistrates for Northumberland. I have no doubt that in recommending me for the position of J. P., you intended to do me honor, and I therefore, thank you for your good intentions. At the same time I must respectfully decline the appointment. You may remember that when you offered it to me I did not care for the honor, and such being the case it would be inconsistent for me to accept it.

Last spring I requested of Mr. Gillespie, M. P., that a magistrate be appointed in the lower part of the parish in which I live and the gentleman I then named was gazetted. He informs me that he intended to qualify and I believe he is quite satisfied to do all the work required of a Justice of the Peace in the district. At the time I brought the matter to Mr. Gillespie's notice, I said it seemed singular that eight magistrates had been appointed in the upper half of Blaisfield and not one in the lower half, (a district 8 miles long), but I have no desire now, to see J. P.'s, become so plentiful as they are in upper Blaisfield, where you have, in some cases, been so kind as to appoint two in the same house.

I may remark that I think we have too many magistrates, all over the County, if not in the Province, generally. Not more than ten out of every fifty of all who are in occupation in the County at the present time, appear to do more than receive the Royal Gaol and copies of the Statutes, and when I consider that every such appointment may make involve an expense for those luxuries of about $5 per year, which must be paid out of the public money, I think it would be much better to make only such magisterial appointments as are absolutely necessary and devote the money saved to improving our public roads which are in very bad condition.

I have the honor to be Your obt. Servant, THOMAS HOLMES.

Chapin Island School. One of our Newcastle correspondents writes—Some time in last May the attention of the public was called by the ADVANCE to the fact that "the people living on Chapin Island Road, between Newcastle and the Mill, were agitating for school accommodation. Since nothing has been done by the trustees to allay the dissatisfaction which at that time was only in its incipency. At the request of those interested, your correspondent visited the school house on Monday last in company with one of the trustees.

The school house is situated 3 miles from town and is built of refuse deals with rough battens on the seams. The door was wide open and in the centre of the room there is a large box above resting on stones. The front end of the stove was in the drawer of a broken desk, with a number of stones. The building and all its belongings were in the most dilapidated state. There are no out-buildings for the accommodation of the children, and, for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also that in cold weather it was and is impossible for children to sit in the room. The gentleman who is in charge of the school, and for a school house, there is nothing to convey the impression that the building ever was intended or used for that purpose, except the remains of cheap mats which hang haphazard on the broken walls. Your correspondent conversed with a number of the trustees who seemed to be unanimous in declaring that the building was wrongly situated, being at the extreme end of the district and also