WORLD'S SERIES GOSSIP

New York, Oct. 3.—The Philadelphia Nationals and the Boston Americans respective pennant winners in their leagues, are about to reap the financial rewards of their season-long efforts in the coming world's series. Owners and players are expected to divide more than $300,000 paid in at the gates by the baseball fans of the two cities most interested in the series. With the immense seating capacity of the Boston Nationals' new stadium, which will be used for the games in that city, the receipts should be larger than in any previous contests in one park.
 The Braves stadium will seat more than 50,000 and the receipts should exceed $80,000 per game. In Philadelphia the Phillies Park will not hold more than 20,000 and the gate is not likely to be more than $40,000. Even under these conditions the players and managers will split the major portion of $240,000, in case the series title is won in four games straight and more than double that sum should the series go six or seven games. In any event it appears probable that new gate receipts records will be established, since the present high figures are $490,449 collected in the eight game series between the New York Giants and Boston Red Sox in 1912, while the individual game record is held by the opening contest of the Athletic-Giants series of 1911 played at New York when 38,281 spectators paid $77,338.90 to witness the contest.
 It is certain the players and stockholders of the two contending clubs in the coming series will not have cause for complaining regarding the financial returns and division of the same. The division of the players and the interest of the fans assures big gate receipts and the National Agreement and National Commission rulings provide for the distribution of the same along the following lines: The National Commission receives ten per cent of the receipts of each and every game; of the remaining ninety per cent the players take sixty per cent and the club owners forty per cent of the first four games. After four games have been played the players cease to share in the receipts and the club owners take the full ninety per cent remaining after the National Commission has levied its assessment.
 Since the World's Series came under the official control of organized baseball the total receipts have amounted to $2,168,273. Of this huge sum the twenty clubs participating in the games between 1903 and 1914 have divided $1,093,517, while the players who won and lost the championships in these years split $733,098 on a basis of sixty per cent to the winning team and forty per cent to the losing combination. The National Commission has received $213,546 and the coming share of the Red Sox-Philadelphia series will be welcome for the large service of the commission has rendered away in the past two years owing to heavy expenses incurred in the struggle between Organized and Independent baseball interests.
 The details of the receipts and the division of the same as well as the attendance figures since 1903 are shown in the following tabulation:

Year	Attendance	Receipts
1903	190,429	$ 50,900
1904	91,723	68,405
1905	99,845	106,555
1906	78,068	101,728
1908	62,232	84,976
1909	145,295	188,304
1910	124,222	172,880
1911	179,851	342,164
1912	251,901	490,449
1913	150,992	325,980
1914	111,909	225,739

You can help me by spreading my Gossip

This is the power of good. Celestia, visiting a crowded factory, where ill-kempt, ill-paid girls work their life away, is startled by the cry of "Fire"—and finds herself in the midst of a shivering frightened herd of suffocating maniacs. The lights go out and amid the smoke and flames, and the clangor and clamor, Celestia, calms the girls and saves their lives. And then in response to their thankful offers to help her, Celestia tells them to spread her gospel. Beautiful, inspiring scene! Minister, priest and rabbi, you will agree that here is a sermon despite all its thrills, loveliness and exquisite art.

THE VICTORIA ALLEYS
 Many high scores have been made lately on the Victoria alleys. The management say that no season has started off so brilliant and a fine showing by local bowlers is looked for this winter. Among those bowlers making high scores are: A. Howard, P. Howard, Wigmore, Taylor, Gambin, Logan, Williams and Sullivan who have made between 120 and 130. Jas. Steen holds the alley record for this year with the score of 138.
 It is expected the Five-Man League will open on Monday, Oct. 18th, and ten or twelve teams will probably enter. This year the league will be open to local firms, so that it will be partly commercial. Last year captains were chosen and they picked their teams, but this year it is thought many local firms will enter teams. In this league each team is composed of five regular men and a substitute.
