Around the City

Charged With Stealing. Charles Williams, a colored man, was arrested on Saturday on suspicion of stealing five dollars from another colored man named Frank Paris.

Assaulted a Constable. James McMahon was arrested on a warrant Saturday by Detectives Barrett and Briggs, having been charged with assaulting George A. Shaw, a city constable.

A Prisoner of War. Mrs. W. H. N. Clements, of Claremont, York County, has received word that her son, Corporal Alayne Y. Clements, who was reported missing after the big fight of June 2, is a prisoner of war in Germany.

Sealed Letters Found. A police constable found on Clarence street yesterday three letters sealed, and two post cards addressed to Miss May Powers, 37 Broadview, St. John. Miss Powers can obtain her mail on application at police headquarters.

Escaped Prisoners Captured. The boys who escaped from the Industrial Home on Saturday, and brought to the city that night, are being detained at police headquarters and will probably be disposed of today.

Death of Child. The many friends of Dr. L. M. and Mrs. Curran will sympathize with them in the loss of their infant daughter, Alma Margaret, who died yesterday morning. The funeral will be held this afternoon at three o'clock from her parents' home, 177 Princess street.

Soldier Will Wed Today. The wedding of Sergt. James J. Jones, who was at the front with the 70th Battalion, and Miss Jane Challenger, of Fredericton, will take place this afternoon at St. Dusan's church. Rev. F. L. Carney will perform the ceremony. The groom has lately been appointed deputy recruiting officer for Queens County.

Sea Dog with Salmon. Passengers on the ferry steamer were treated to an unusual sight just before the steamer left the east side dock on the 8.30 trip last night. A sea dog appeared on the surface of the harbor about thirty yards from the steamer and had a large salmon in its mouth. Its head was above water a few seconds, but in that time it took a bite from the centre of the fish when both dog and fish disappeared under water.

Mrs. Culley Injured. Mrs. Robert Culley, 13 Richey street, met with an accident yesterday which will lay her by for some time. She was on a step-ladder in her home yesterday afternoon and in some manner she slipped and fell to the floor. She was taken to Dr. Roberts' office where first aid was administered. Removal to the hospital was ordered. On examination there was found that the left shoulder had been dislocated. Mrs. Culley was resting fairly comfortably last night.

SCHOONER NOTES. The tern schooner H. F. Lanfair, Captain J. J. Donovan, which sailed from St. John on May 27, for Limerick, Ire, arrived on July 2. The tern schooner Isiah K. Stetson was towed above the falls Saturday to load lumber at Stetson & Cutler's. The tern schooner Sarah & Lucy, which was built in Virginia 44 years ago, and which traded to this port, has been sold by the Gilberts of Boston to Mobile parties on private terms. She will go on the southern route.

FUNERALS. The body of George William Fowler, infant son of Lieut. and Mrs. Willard G. McGinley, was buried yesterday afternoon in Fernhill cemetery. Rev. Hamilton Browne conducted the services at house and grave. The funeral of Mrs. Jane M. Hatfield, wife of Samuel E. Hatfield, was held yesterday afternoon from 252 Princess street. Services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Manning of Wolfville. Interment was made in Fernhill. The funeral of Patrick Cummins was held yesterday afternoon at 2.30 from 171 Rockland Road to Holy Trinity church. Service was conducted by Rev. J. J. Walsh, V. G. Interment was in the new Catholic cemetery.

"ST. JOHN TIGERS" MAKING A FINE SHOWING AT VALCARTIER

Major General Sir Sam Hughes Particularly Pleased with 140th. — Notes of Interest Regarding Colonel Bier's Splendid Battalion — 20,000 Men in Thursday's Review.

The following interesting news letter has been received from one of the St. John boys at Valcartier with the 140th Battalion: Valcartier Camp, Friday. New Brunswick troops at Valcartier Camp made a fine showing at the review before Major General Sir Sam Hughes Thursday morning. The Maritime Province battalions were particularly in the limelight and their general appearance and steadiness were commented on most favorably by the Minister of Militia and members of his staff.

After the general salute by the 20,000 men on parade the General passed along in front of each unit and he complimented the St. John soldiers. As he went along the lines of the 140th, St. John Tigers, he stopped and said: "Colonel Bier, your boys are looking well today." Later on he spoke of the fine work of this battalion in the march past. As the head of the 140th swung before the review, the Minister of Militia remarked on the alignment and steadiness of the men.

In addressing the officers, Sir Sam said there had been a great improvement since he saw the St. John battalion some days ago, and he thought it would not be long before the unit was ready for overseas.

Biggest Review of Season. The review Thursday morning was the largest so far held in camp this season. Twenty-six units were represented, with a total of about 30,000 men. They were first formed in line and gave the general salute. Afterward they were marched past in column of companies.

The 140th Battalion, which was raised chiefly in St. John, has been particularly fortunate since going into camp. During the first week they were selected to supply guards for camp headquarters and did their work well. In fact they have made a most favorable impression at Valcartier, and there are indications of an early move to England. The boys of the 140th have their lines in the extreme limits of the camp, close to the woods, and their situation is one of the best in camp. They are close to the headquarters and the other battalions to the plateau where the reviews take place, and have advantages of location which other units do not have.

An Ideal Camp. When the word first came that Valcartier was to be the training grounds of the Maritime Province battalions it was generally believed that it would be advantageous to keep them nearer home, but two weeks in the big camp have proved most successful and the men have enjoyed every minute of the stay so far. The situation of the camp is ideal; the River Nelson flows in front of the camp, and in the rear the mountains lend to the beauty of the scene. Everybody was agreeably surprised with the arrangements of the camp and the general situation.

The first few days in camp the 140th was put at squad drill, but after the first inspection the syllabus was changed and now battalion drill and more advanced work is carried on. Much attention is being given to musketry and bayonet fighting. It is expected that the first practice on the range will take place early next week. The 140th band has made rapid advances and is now considered one of the best in the big camp. Their playing has received much praise. The new instruments, which were secured through the generosity of the Brunswick Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, have helped wonderfully, and now that the bandmen have found themselves they are rapidly going ahead.

Fine Weather. The weather conditions have been fairly good although several days of rain have hindered the work to a certain extent. Many of the days have been hot, but the nights are always cool and the men have no difficulty in getting their proper sleep. The Y. M. C. A. at camp is doing a great work in the way of providing for the amusement of the men in off hours. They have several large tents in which they sell refreshments and other comforts. They also run a free moving picture show every night.

Last Sunday the first camp service in which the 140th participated, was held in the parade ground in front of their lines. Four battalions took part in the service and Captain Conron preached a sermon which was greatly appreciated by the men. The boys in camp have a great chance for baseball and games between the different units are in order every evening. Each battalion has a parade ground of its own, plenty large enough for baseball, and as soon as football can be secured Rugby will be given a place in the amusement department.

The battalion has been particularly free from sickness. Several cases of measles of a light type have developed, but the total number of sick in camp only totals about a half dozen. Colonel Powell has reported here for duty and his brigade headquarters are directly across the road from the 140th. Captain C. J. Morgan, of the North End, is on Colonel Powell's staff, and has done some good work since his arrival in camp. His experience at the front has made him especially valuable in a brigade staff. Captain D. C. Malcolm has been busy since his arrival in camp. He has been on several boards and has been medical inspecting officer of the whole camp on several occasions.

Notes From "The Casino." Lieut. G. D. Osgood and E. J. Crockett, of the 140th have gone to Rockcliffe, where they will take a course in musketry training. Lieut. J. H. Manning is taking a course in trench warfare at the school at Valcartier. A party of thirty men arrived on Friday from St. John, they having formed part of the rearguard at West Side. There are still in the vicinity of 100 men in that city. Lieut. W. G. McInlay left today for St. John, having been called home by the death of his young son. Lieut. G. Q. Dowling has been attached to the Machine Gun Section, where he will assist Lieut. Grimmer. Sergt. Bradbury, Sergt. Collette and others of the Non-Coms. are taking special courses in infantry training in the school here. Friday was pay day and as usual the "joy parade" was attended by the full strength of the battalion. In addition to the inspection by Major General Sir Sam Hughes, the battalion has been inspected by Col. Rogers, chief of staff, responsible for the training of eastern units, and he expressed himself as well satisfied with the progress made. Captain Percy Knobbs, bayonet expert of the camp, also examined the battalion in his branch of the work and was greatly pleased with the strength and skill displayed by the men.

ORANGE ORDER MAKES STRONG DISCOURSE

Members of Willis L.O.L. No. 70 Held Annual Church Parade in Fairville Yesterday Afternoon.

Willis Lodge No. 70, L. O. A., held their annual church parade yesterday afternoon. They met at their hall, Fairville, at two o'clock, and accompanied by a number of brothers from other lodges, marched through the streets of Fairville, headed by their own file and drum band, to the Fairville Methodist church. At the church they were joined by a number of the ladies of the order who attended service with them. The church was filled to the doors with the members of the order and their friends. The preacher was the pastor, Rev. Gilbert Barrie, and the choir of the church led the musical part of the service. Before beginning his discourse the pastor welcomed the order to the church. He said he had been looking over the constitution of the order to try and arrive at a conclusion as to what the order stood for, and in his opinion the three outstanding principles were—religion, benevolence, and patriotism, and he would base his remarks on John 4:24: "God is a spirit, and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and truth." People used to say it was foolish to fight about religion, but true religion is worth fighting for. This was in which we were engaged while it was a war for a place in the sun and trade dominance would really settle our ideals of God. Whether God should be regarded as on the side of right or might, man's ideal of God was the basic fact of his life. God is a spirit. This was not always understood by man, the Hebrews did not have that conception of Him, therefore they had to have a visible manifestation of His presence. He urged upon his hearers that they be as sincere in their worship as those who worshipped the visible representations of God and pointed out that it was as easy to worship in a formal manner today as it was for the Jew of old in his more ornate service.

Benevolence was a part of religion in the worship. He congratulated the order that their practice in this regard matched well the precept and referred to the orphan's homes they maintain. Their action in maintaining these homes was not merely cold charity, but sprang from true brotherly feeling. In lands where the Gospel was not known these institutions were unknown. It was impossible to separate duty to God and to country. He was a poor Christian in whom the love of country was not a passion. The Orange order stood for true patriotism and the maintenance of the British connection. We were Canadians by birth or adoption, and proud of it, but we had received our ideals from England, the mother country, and we would always rejoice in and maintain our British connection. We had a wonderful country, but we had also a problem. Before the war immigrants were coming at the rate of over 1,000 a day and it was our duty to see that they received our ideas or we would sink to their level. In conclusion he urged his hearers to seek from the Word the highest conception of God in order that they might be ready to meet the demands of the hour and be worthy of the traditions behind them. If they did this they would be prepared to do their share toward the building up of a greater Canada and in maintaining the high ideals of the past.

PRESENTATION. A delegation representing the employees of the Norion Griffiths Company awaited on William Sebery at the latter's home, 53 Broadview, when Fred Quinn, on behalf of the others, presented their fellow employee with a wrist watch and a lengthy address, previous to Mr. Sebery leaving the city with the Canadian Army Construction Corps. The address referred to the fact that the recipient had done his duty under all circumstances while in the company's employ, and that he was ready and willing to do anything to help the work along. His fellow employees deeply regretted his departure, but looked with pride on the spirit he displayed in giving his services to the king and country. They had no doubt he would acquit himself with honor and distinction. Mr. Sebery received the address and watch with a brief word of thanks.
