Tea and Garden Party.

The patriotic tea and garden party held yesterday afternoon at the residence of the Misses Reed, Mount Pleasant avenue, was largely attended. A home cooking booth, a candy table, fish pond and flower table were arranged on the spacious lawn facing the residence and draped with patriotic colors. A number of trees were festooned with artificial oranges. The home cooking table was presided over by Mrs. H. A. McKeown and Mrs. Henderson, the fish pond by Miss Graham and the flower table by Miss Estabrook.

The proceeds are for patriotic purposes.

COMFORT BAGS ARE MUCH APPRECIATED

Mrs. Margaret Mills, chairman of the Red Cross Property Committee, sends the following particulars to an Upper Canadian Paper, for the making and filling of Christmas Comfort Bags for the men in hospital:

Comfort bags are needed in very large numbers as they are sent as gifts to wounded Canadian soldiers in hospital. The materials used should be: Khaki, grey or brown, cotton, crash or drill (not too heavy), red ribbon for Red Cross (one-half yard).

Directions for making: Make a bag about 18 inches square, when complete, with a hem at the top about four inches deep. Leave the hem open each end and insert a double draw string, stitching the hem about one inch from bottom to keep the draw-string in place.

On front of bag, in centre, stitch a red cross about 5 inches square.

On back of bag, at bottom, stitch on a pocket about 6 or seven inches deep; stitch up in centre to divide pocket in two divisions. (It is best to stitch on the cross and pocket before making up the bag.)

Contents.

Any or all of the following: Small hand towel, washcloth, toilet soap, toothbrush, small brush and comb, razor, handkerchiefs, bootlaces, writing pad, pencil, tobacco, pipes, cigarettes, chocolate, spearmint, playing cards, puzzles.

When packing and sending in these bags state on outside of parcel and on accompanying list the value of the dutiable articles, such as soap, candy, gum and tobacco contained in it.

Emergency Remedies

Bathing behind the ears with right hot water often relieves a headache.

A good long stretch immediately upon waking in the morning is excellent exercise with which to begin the day.

At the first intimation of a sore throat try a gargle of one teaspoonful of salt and one of carbonate of soda to half a glass of water.

Hold the hammered finger in water as hot as can be borne for a few minutes. This treatment will draw out the inflammation almost at once.

A small onion eaten before retiring will often induce sleep. The taste may be removed after eating by chewing a bit of parsley in a lump of sugar.

Here are some very important do's for parents. Don't forget that children like plants suffer seriously from want of sunlight. Don't forget that children are more seriously affected by impure air than grown people. Don't forget that little children are easily depressed by gloomy surroundings, and this lowers their vitality. Don't forget that lowered vitality makes children more liable to catch any infectious disease.

Don't think that any room in the house will do for the nursery. The sunniest, most airy and most cheerful room should be given to the children if you want them to be healthy. Don't shake or scold a child who wakes up and cries out in the night. Often night terrors are a purely nervous affair, and any harshness only makes matters worse. Don't say "don't" to your little ones. Remember to tell the child what he is to do, not what he is not to do. It often happens that little children, especially those nervous or highly strung, are disposed to keep on crying when they get started. When stimulated by the feminine impulse to direct, oversee and interfere, Uncle Dick might be quite as bad as the mother.

It is not for their general habits of reticence, and the fact that they seldom establish themselves as units in the home life. On the other side of the question, we have to remember that the thousands of loving and lovable aunts who have been important factors in improving the home life.

Relations are not the whole cause of the decay of home life, although they are probably responsible for a good part of it. A considerable amount of domestic contentment goes to smash when there is not an outside relative on the premises. Occasionally an instance of this sort becomes historic and the world profits much by the unhappiness of the home. A prominent college professor in New York recently offered this suggestion:

"Some people express pity for Socrates because he was a philosopher, but he was a real philosopher, did not pity himself. It is quite possible that the nagging by Xantippe kept his brain everlastingly wide awake."

Now this throws a new light on the potential value of nagging. If we are to accept the theory that every detail in the environment of a man has its due effect upon his character and his conduct, it cannot be doubted that Xantippe was a tremendous influence in shaping the career of Socrates. Her pungent personality must have had much to do with "bringing him out."

The reverse side of the argument is quite as susceptible of application. If Socrates became a great philosopher through constant nagging by Xantippe it is quite as plausible that she was made a chronic nagger and an immortal scold by the daily irritation of an immortal philosopher. Having a genuine philosopher in the home must be about the most exasperating trial a woman can be forced to endure, for domestic life is a domestic life, and the philosopher is a philosopher. Xantippe, like thousands of later wives, has undoubtedly been the object of much unjust censure.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Novel candle holders are made of round red apples, cut out to hold the candles.

To vary a dish of scrambled eggs add a few slices of sweet green pepper, chopped fine.

Pine shavings make very good bedding for hen's nests, and they avoid the breeding of vermin.

Remember that a box of elastic bands of assorted sizes is a great convenience in the kitchen.

To make a good meringue, allow two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar to the white of one egg.

Any food cooked in a fireless cooker should boil for five minutes before being put into the cooker.

Old golds, browns, and deep dull reds, known as rosewood, will comprise the most wanted colors for fall. These in pale fabrics or soft knits, ear, like woollen, will be materials and colors par excellence.

Prize Winner's Letter.
Hampton, N. B.

I received the lovely camera today and was glad to get it. It came while I was at school and I thank you very much for it. My father has enlisted and is a soldier on Partridge Island but he is home now for a while.

My sister Gladys is home and she is fifteen. She wishes she was younger so she could join and do the contest.

I hope I will soon go to St. John with my sister and we will go to see you. But I thank you very much again for the camera.

I will close for now, with best wishes for you and the contest.
From your loving niece,

Finds Letters Interesting.
Milltown, Me.

Dear Uncle Dick,
I would like to join the children's corner. I have been reading the letters lately. They are very interesting. We do not take the paper but our next door neighbor takes it. His name is Rev. Mr. Sterling. I am twelve years old and have one brother and sister. Their names are Charles and Evelyn; they are older than me. I am sending you the words I got out of the word standard.

From your niece,
BEULAH BLAKE.

Got Many Birthday Presents.
Long Reach.

Dear Uncle Dick,
I am writing again but I am awful sorry that I did send it in but I only could get thirteen words as it is hard but the next contest I am trying.

Sunday was my birthday, the 10th. I got quite a lot of presents. I got a pair of crushed flower beads, box of chocolates, 25 cent script, handkerchief case and handkerchief, pair of sneakers, hair clasp and a pair of stockings.

Last Saturday's corner I enjoyed very much. I expect to go to school in a few days.

Does Bessie Sterrett still write and send in the contest? I never see where you answer her letters but perhaps you answer her letters by mail. I would like to send a card or a letter to her very much so when you say some more about that little girl who cannot run about I will do all I can. I enjoyed your chat very much; it was a long chat. I was awfully disappointed because I did not get a prize, but very much pleased to see you answer my letter so nice.

Well, I guess it is pretty near time to stop this awful writing as you get tired of reading it. My picture has not been in the corner yet. Well, I must say good-by. With heaps of love to you and each member of the corner. From

JESSIE L. MCKIEL,

First Letter to Corner.
45 Marsh street.

Dear Uncle Dick,
I am sending a letter for the first time for I have just lately heard of you. I would like to join the corner as my older sister did. I am only in grade III. I am 9 years old and my birthday is the 26th of December. I am going to tell you a little story about a little pig. Once a pig felt a little sleepy and laid down in the grass and went to sleep. A little pussy cat came along and wondered what this curious bundle was and thought it was very ugly and all so very big. What can it be? She cried, looking very shy. Then, she approached very softly, she tapped him on the eye. To want piggy's head, tossing pussy over, I am a pig he said, covered up in clover. Cats that must meddle should never be let out, and next time you're curious don't come so near my snout.

I will close now as it is getting late. Good-by, from your niece,
ANNIE POSHAY.

LYRIC.

"That Gal of Burke's."
Yesterday was so unusually warm that pictures of Alaska and Siberia would have been welcome, but lacking those chilly climates it was good to see the open spaces of the west in this picture. It features that boyish looking chap, Frank Barzage, and ends with an exhibition of his skill in riding a fiery steed (no I don't mean steel, Mr. Printer Man).

There is a nice little love affair and a good scene of the city man's appearance at the western dance where his "hesitations" and dips and glides caused quite a sensation. His good night salutation was realistic all right. Anna Little takes the girl's part.

Vaudeville.

If you go to the Lyric today and tomorrow you will see a very bright little act. Glad to show the attractive costumes (six of them) Miss Ripel and Miss Fairfax sing and dance in a very graceful way. The opening duet is "Welcome Honey to Your Old Plantation Home." Miss Ripel sings "The Long, Long Trail," and Miss Fairfax, with a dance medley, sings "Geraldine" and "Oh Kiss Me." From "Jedediah" the act closes with the American Jubilee Dance, something very new, and a catchy duet, "Come on to Nashville, Tennessee."

Also at the Lyric was another Geo. Ovey comedy, "When Jerry Comes to Town," with every man's hand against him when he gets there. It is very funny where he gets the better of his persecutors—by hot and cold methods. Exit Jerry back to the country for a finale.

UNIQUE.

"The Clown."
I liked this picture very much. Stories of the circus always have an appeal somehow and the one produced by the Lasky Paramount, featuring Victor Moore, is no exception to that rule. There is plenty of appeal and it is all to the best in humanity.

Victor Moore is "Piffles," a clown, who sees his calling in the light of real amusement. He is capable of the highest self-sacrifice and doesn't make a long face over a bad turn of the grin when things turn out wrong. The circus pictures are excellent and "Piffles" and his goose must have been very popular. Piffles' handling of the baby is very funny. He never overdoes his part all through.

Thomas Meighan plays Richard, and Florence Dagmar plays Millicent. Ernest Joy, Tom Forman, Horace B. Carpenter, Wallace Pike and Master Jerold Ward handle the other roles capably.

There is also a comedy at the Unique called "Dare-Devs and Danger," a motor excitement and mix-up.

OPERA HOUSE.

In Walked Jimmy.
And it was into people's hearts that Jimmy walked with buoyancy, vivacity and a ready smile.

This is the play given by the Klark-Urban Company for Thursday and Friday nights and it is a comedy with a cheerful optimism named Jimmy who helps people out of trouble, teaches sad folk to smile, solves mysteries, and entertains the audience generally. The laughter of the audience last night showed the evidence of their appreciation.

Mr. Harden Klark took the part of Jimmy and it seemed to come to him naturally to "come up smiling."

The other parts were well taken. A musical treat between the acts was the playing and singing of Misses Belle and Isabelle. The songs are bright and catchy and the violin playing enjoyable.

DRAMATIC RECITAL AT CENTENARY CHURCH HALL.

To play at least seven parts and make each character stand out clearly before the audience is quite a feat but this is what Mrs. David Spaulding accomplished at the dramatic recital held under the auspices of the Soldiers' Comfort Association at Centenary church hall last evening. She portrayed the principal characters in the stage success, "Peg o' my Heart."

There was a good attendance and Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding were given a hearty reception on their appearance.

Wearing a handsome chiffon velvet gown of rose color with lace and gold embroidery, Mrs. Spaulding has a very attractive stage presence. She portrayed the stately English mother, the "haw-haw" type of the son, outwardly the dignified but inwardly passionate daughter and the warm-hearted, impulsive "Peg." The lines of the play are witty and bright.

Mr. Spaulding has a pleasing baritone voice and was heard to good advantage in "Peg o' my Heart" and the plaintive "Just a Wearyin' for You." Miss Mary Gilchrist acted as accompanist.

His Worship Mayor Hayes made a short address in the name of the Soldiers' Comfort Association, thanking Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding for the gift of their talents for this good cause. The idea of the recital was their own and the association deeply appreciated their coming to St. John. Mrs.

George McAvity also thanked the talented pair.

The programme was as follows:
Opening song—O Canada.
"Peg o' my Heart," Mr. Spaulding.
Act I.—The drawing-room of the Chichester home in England.

Songs by Mr. Spaulding—
Your Heart Will Call Me Home.
Wearyin' for You.
Come Back to Erin.

Sunshine of Your Smile.
Act II.—Library, one month later.
"The Lighthouse Tower," Mr. Spaulding.

Act III.—The next morning.
Closing—God Save the King.

"Philo in Philms"
William Steiner, general manager of the Serial Film Company, which produced "The Yellow Menace," has secured through Mrs. C. C. Wilkenning all photoplay rights to Ellis Barker Butler's "Philo Gubb, the Rising Sun Correspondence School Detective" in twelve lessons, and will release it through a well-known distributing company, Mr. Edwin Stevens will appear as "Philo," the Riverbank paper hanger and decorator who combines "detecting," as he terms it, with his other trades. Pierce Kingsley will picture and direct the series, three of which are now ready for the screen.

New Blood For Universal
There have been several new players added to the list at Universal City. They include Ruth Clifford, charming ingenue who has been added to general stock; Walter Clinton, a juvenile,

Hal Cooley, who has worked for the Universal before on several occasions, has gone into general stock; Irene Aldwyn, William E. Parsons, who has been engaged for character roles; Yvette Mitchell, who will be remembered for her characterization of Chinese girls, and Lillian Copcord, formerly star of "The Red Widow," and "The Midnight Girl" on Broadway.

In "The Heart of Maryland," David Belasco's great stage thriller, Mrs. Leslie Carter will be seen in the role of Maryland Calvert, which she created on the stage.

ALICE FAIRWEATHER.
There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.
