The Fashionable Wedding the talk of Montreal.—Matters at McGill College.—The Examinations for Medical Diplomas.—The Lower Provinces well represented. [FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT.]

MONTREAL, April 3

DEAR TRIBUNE :- Since March appeared that much abused subject the weather has taken a much more prominent part in small talk than usually falls to its share, and anyone who had no experience of a "snow olockade" to relate was regarded as decidedly slow. As a natural consequence, the irregular communication with the out side world has made all news at a premium, and the ripple from your mighty wave, the "Fashinable Wedding," was a perfect treasure to the ben ton here, all of whom are anxious to see the beauty that captivated Sir Harry, and no doubt St. Lawrence Hall will be the place for some weeks after the happy couple arrive.

But this much having been said, there is very little else, local or political, with which to interest you, unless I give you
