RHEUMATISM FOR

OVER 16 YEARS

No Return Of The Trouble
Since Taking "Fruit-a-lives"

133 CHURCH ST., MONTREAL.

"I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism for over 16 years. I consulted specialists; took medicine; used lotions; but nothing gave me good results."

Then I began to use "Fruit-a-lives", and in 15 days the pain was easier, and the Rheumatism much better.

Gradually, "Fruit-a-lives" overcame my Rheumatism; and now, for five years, I have had no return of the trouble. I cordially recommend this fruit medicine to all sufferers."

WHERE HEROES SLEEP

ALL CANADIAN GRAVES ARE BEING MARKED.

A List of the Cemeteries in France Where the Men Who Died for Freedom Lie Buried Indicates the Size of the Task and the Splendid Work That is Being Done.

OVER in France and Belgium they are balancing the Canadian human ledger of the great war, says Roland Hill.
Working in conjunction with the Imperial Graves Section, whose headquarters are at Hesdin, Pas de Calais, a Canadian section is working to correct mistakes that are inevitable, collect new data and keep up a card system which ultimately will register every fallen Canadian, his battalion, whether killed in action or died of wounds. They give the location of the soldiers' graves and over twelve thousand of these cards are on record. There are forty thousand to be completed and the all-too-small section, each of which is an officer or sergeant who has seen active service, work hard to win the game.

It is planned to complete as many Canadian graves as possible. Already the work is well advanced in many cases, especially on the later fields of battle. These are wonderfully kept by the Amiens section of the Canadian War Graves detachment. This section tramp the old fighting grounds, searching for isolated graves of Canada's fallen, ex-hum the lonely body and it is reburied in a cemetery.

In the larger battlefields such as Ypres or Passchendaele, memorials, some to battalions, others to brigades and divisions, have been erected in solid stone. Their sides bear the names of the fallen written in granite, permanent even against the weather, which only those who have fought in France and Flanders know.

They are well liked, these men from far-off Canada, who go out on the humane search for those men until they are found. They generally trace 75 per cent. of the two or three thousand requests which come over from Canada every month.

On a recent visit to France I met two well-known Toronto men who had been out with an office to find the last resting place of their boys, both pilots in the R. N. A. S. They were successful. Gradually filtering through from there come grave locations and entries of the Canadian airmen and observers who have been taken prisoners in death. Nearly two hundred bodies of men of the First and Second Battalions who fell at Ypres and St. Julien in April, 1915, were discovered recently. They represent Ottawa, Montreal and the Far West of the Dominion, and through this human ledger of war, which is being kept so efficiently, their names and records will pass in due time back to their homeland and many loved ones will find their heroes have not been lost, but at last are resting peacefully alongside their Canadian comrades.

Some idea of the immensity of the work of these loyal Canadian sections can be gathered from the following list of cemeteries, mostly all Canadian, which have been checked and registered to date. The map location, the row in the cemetery and the number of any particular grave are all tabulated on individual cards.

The cemeteries with Canadian burials in France and Flanders are as follows:
