DUBLIN.

Mr. Essex Digby Starkey, clerk in the Chancery Office, Dublin, shot himself at the Railway Hotel, Bangor, on Nov. 9th. He arrived by the early mail and requested to remain undisturbed in his bedroom, being greatly fatigued. At seven o'clock he was discovered lying dead on the floor, having shot himself through the head with a pistol. He was fully dressed and had washed and shaved himself. On the mantelpiece was a paper bearing the name and address of his cousin, and a German poem on "The Grave." His brother stated that he suffered greatly force. Grave." A special meeting of the Irish National

A special meeting of the Irish National Convention Committee was held in Dublin on Nov. 14th, for the purpose of considering the plan of organization. Messrs. Parnell, O'Gormon and Smyth, M. P.'s, were present. After a long discussion Mr. Parnell's plan was abandoned, and it was resolved to establish the Convention on O'Connell's plan for the reconstruction of the Irish House of Commons—namely, 300 members, giving as nearly as possible 17 to the counties and 125 to the cities and boroughs, two for Trinity College, and two for the Catholic University. The franchise will be manhood suffrage, and the place of meeting Dublin. The date is to be fixed not later than 1882.

KILDARE.

On Monday, Nov. 10th, the dead body of a shoemaker named John Kinsella, re of a shoemaker named John Kinsella, residing at Ballybrittas, was found floating in the Athy branch of the Grand Canal, a in the Athy branch of the Grand Canal, a little to the south of Manasterevan. He had been missing from home since the 22nd of Oct., and his family, with whom it appears he did not live on the most affectionate terms, thought he was at work in Newbridge. From the partially decomposed state of the body, the man must have been in the water. For several days have been in the water for several days, but no clue has yet been obtained as to how he got drowned, except that, as is alleged, he was heard to say, when leaving in a fit of bad humor, he would drown himself. The county coroner, Dr. Carter, held an inquest, when the jury returned a verdict of "accidental drowning."

QUEEN'S COUNTY.

Mr. Kenelm Digby, father of the member for the Queen's County, has remitted to all his tenants, without exception, convenient to Blessington, 30 per cent. on the last half year's rent.
Mrs. Joshua Pim, of 17 Crosthwait Park,

"I have learned, with regret, from a well-informed source, that owing to the almost inaccessible state of the passages, the recent fine weather has availed very little to the people of the peat districts adjoining the Galtees' range. The prospect of saving the winter's fuel is deemed hopeless at so advanced a period. Autumn brings drenching showers in the above districts, even in the most favorable districts, even in the most favorable sunshine."

TIPPERARY.

On November 8th several stacks of corn and hay and the out-offices of the Widow Slattery, of Killerk, near Fethard, were burned. The flames illuminated the skies for miles about. The military and con-stabulary from Fethard turned out and rendered valuable assistance in saving the dwelling-house, but all the rest were consumed. It is not known how the fire originated, whether it was malicious or

The shopkeepers of Nenagh intend to abandon the old custom of giving Christmas boxes, and instead to inaugurate Christmas fuel fund for the poor. WATERFORD.

Mr. E. N. Power, Coroner, held an inquest on November 11th on the body of a woman name Bridget Walsh, who died under the following circumstances in the Waterford workhouse:—It appears that deceased and other inmates were locked up in a ward which had communication with any part of the house. All were in bed at eight o'clock, and about nine a cry was raised in the ward that the woman was raised in the ward that the woman Walsh was dead there. The inmates were locked up with the dead body, the only way of communicating the affair available being by leaping from a window, and that none of the women felt inclined to do. none of the women felt inclined to do.
About 12 o'clock the night nurse came on the scene, and reported the death. The coroner held that such an arrangement was scandalous, and pointed out that if it was necessary to lock the door of the ward, a bell and wire communication should connect the ward with the hospital. The jury found a verdict of "Death from natural causes," recommending the neces-sity of a resident medical officer for the workhouse being appointed.

has been at it again. At the opening of an Orange Lodge at Kilwarlin, recently, he indulged in a most inflammatory harangue. Mr. Parnell, the Pope, and harangue. Mr. Parnell, the Petthe Irish peasants all came in for from the tongue of the Ballykilbeg apostle. This gentleman is a paid official of the Crown—one of the Fishery Commissioners. Since his appointment his language has more than once been the promptly telegraphed a complaint to the Home Secretary, and the poor hero of the Boyne was ignominiously muzzled. It is thought that if he offends again wing to the Government will have to get rid of him.

ARMAGH.

On Nov. 10th Mr. Charles S. Parnell, M. P., brother of the owner, Mr. J. H. Parnell, who resides in America, arranged that the tenants on the College Estates, Armagh, should get the 15 per cent. allowance; and accordingly the tenants are remitting to the agent in Dublin the 17s in the pound that they had brought to him on the 4th November, to pay the rent due on the 22nd September last.

On November 14th a man named by several of the landlords in the Union, | factory at Portadown, fell head foremost | into a large pot of boiling water. He was quickly extricated, but was burned in such a frightful manner that but little hopes are entertained of his recovery. The skin all peeled off his hands, face, and shoulders.

DOWN.

The flax mill of Mr. D. Woods, in the townland of Meenan, has been destroyed by fire. Only a portion of the flax in the concern was saved in damaged condition. The mill was burned once before, about ten years ago.

FERMANAGH.

Speaking at a missionary meeting at Maguire's Bridge recently, the Rev. John Ker, Wesleyan Minister, said, in the course of asking for a collection, "I admit that times are bad—no price for butter and no price for calves. If the landlords are reducing their rents and the farmer losing and if you think the deem haven. and if you think the clergy have too much, I don't see any reason that they should not share in the general depression. But, standing as I do at this missionary meeting, I give it as my deliberate opinion that, until what is called the Land Ques-tion is somehow satisfatorily settled, we cannot have contentment and a condition of prosperity in Ireland. I put it to the landlords themselves, in their own interest, to give this matter their serious consideration, so as to lead the legislation on the subject before it is too late; for, if the Protestant farmers of the province of Ulster would combine in agitation—call it revolutionary if you like—as the farmers are doing in the other provinces, and with then, they, independent of their Protestantism, would be likely to make a clean sweep of the opposing obstacles. Therefore, I deliberately ask the landlords to promote such a bill in Parliament as will forever settle this vexed question. They will better seeure their own rents and rights by giving security and encouragement to the tenants."

DONEGAL.

It is stated that in the county Donegal the present season is the most trying since '47, and is worse than that, insomuch as the farmers are in debt, and that from eighty to ninety per cent. of the potato crop has failed in the district.

and Consumption. The reputation it has attained, in consequence of the marvellous cures it has produced during the last half century, is a sufficient assurance to the public that it will continue to realize the happiest results that can be desired. In almost every section of country there are persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. All who have tried it, acknowledge its superiority; and where its virtues are known, no one hesitates as to what medicine to employ to relieve the distress and suffering peculiar to pulmonary affections. CHERRY PECTORAL always affords instant relief, and performs rapid cures of the milder varieties of bronchial disorder, as well as the more formidable diseases of the lungs.

As a safeguard to children, amid the distres ing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of Childhood, it is invaluable; for, by its timely use, This medicine gains friends at every trial, as the cures it is constantly producing are too re-
