

THE CATHOLIC HOME ANNUAL FOR 1898

Benziger Bros' Popular Annual Now Ready.

We have now on hand a stock of Benziger Bros' ever popular Catholic Home Annual, and can confidently assure our readers that this year's production surpasses that of previous years. It contains really excellent original contributions from the very best Catholic writers, as well as several insert pictures and sixty-nine illustrations in the text.

MARGARET M. TRAINER writes the prize story, "A Nod and West Came of It" (All about a curious mistake).

ROSA MULHOLLAND-GILBERT contributes a touching story of Irish life, "Granny's Story."

KATHARINE TYNAN-HINKSON weaves a real Irish story out of "The Wardrobe."

MAURICE FRANCIS EGAN, "An Unreasonable Man."

WALTER LECKY, "Jenny," A Canadian story.

MARION ALMES TAGGART, "The Madonna of the Falling Leaf."

RIGHT REV. MGR. THOS. J. CONATY, "The Study of the New Testament."

VERY REV. F. GIRARDEAU, "Thoughts on the First and Second Commandments."

VERY REV. DEAN A. A. LINGS, "The Good St. Anne."

REV. F. J. MCGOWAN, His Excellency, Most Rev. Sebastian Martinelli, D.D.

REV. C. SCHREINER, O. S. B., "At the Threshold of America."

ELL A. McMAHON, "He is Truly Great that is Great in Charity."

"The Ermine Cloak."

"The Abyss."

We will have much pleasure in mailing a copy of the Annual to any of our readers, on receipt of two cents in postage.

NOTES.

The weekly meeting of the Catholic Young Ladies' Literary Association, held on Tuesday evening at the home of the Recording Secretary, Miss O'Rourke.

In connection with the study of Dante's "Inferno," Mrs. Kavanagh read a short sketch of the life of the author and of the principal characters alluded to in the first canto. Miss M. Soucie followed with a synopsis of the first canto. The study of the second canto was then begun, under the leadership of Miss O'Rourke.

Mrs. Kavanagh resumed her readings from Irish authors, with particular reference to the life and works of Geoffrey Keating.

Interest in the poetry of the Klondike was shown by a reading on the "Rules and Regulations of Klondike Gold Country."

The programme was agreeably interspersed with music.

The next meeting of the Association will take place on Tuesday evening, November 9, at the home of Mrs. A. J. McDonagh, 274 Spadina Avenue.

ARCHDIOCESE OF TORONTO.

Rev. Father Lynett Honored.

On Monday eve, Oct. 25, Rev. Father Lynett had reason to feel a proud man, when a large and enthusiastic gathering of the oldest and most respected of the ladies and gentlemen representing the parish of St. Joseph's church assembled at St. Michael's palace, Church street, to witness the presentation of two addresses, voiced by the congregation, the same being accompanied by the well-filled purses. Mr. J. J. Cannon read the address in behalf of the gentlemen—the same being elaborately embodied.

Miss Prout read the address in behalf of the ladies.

The school children also made handsome presents and a very feeling address on a previous occasion which affected him deeply, but he felt satisfied if he were only cherished in their memories and remembered in their prayers; he was repaid; but their emotion went further.

GENTLEMEN'S ADDRESS.

To the Rev. J. F. Lynett:

Rev. and Dear Sir—It is with feelings of sincere regret that we, the parishioners of St. Joseph's church, learn of your approaching departure from our midst.

While you have been stationed amongst us you have labored diligently for the welfare of the congregation. This fact was made plainly visible by your endeavoring yourself to be in so far as possible a father and will contribute in a great measure towards their future welfare.

We assure you, dear Father, that your absence will be keenly felt, not alone by the older members of the congregation, but by the school children who have derived great benefit from your instructions both in the day and Sunday classes; your kind manner and painstaking efforts have caused them to love you as a spiritual father and will contribute in a great measure towards their future welfare.

Your instructions and sermons have been of great benefit to us and always listened to with deep attention and pleasure.

We beg you, dear Father, to remember us in your pious prayers and in offering of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, and ask you to accept the accompanying purse of gold as a token of the high esteem in which you are held by the parishioners of St. Joseph's.

With best wishes for a happy future in your sacred calling.

Yours faithfully, the committee, on behalf of the congregation.

Thos. Finucan, John Pape, Patrick Fogarty, Louis Fitzgerald, Jas. Murphy, and Jas. Kirby.

Toronto, Oct. 25, 1897.

LADIES' ADDRESS.

To the Rev. J. F. Lynett:

Rev. and dear Father—We, the ladies of St. Joseph's parish, having learned with profound grief and regret that you are about to leave us, we have gathered here to give expression to our deep sentiments of regret.

During your stay amongst us we have had many opportunities of learning your real worth as a fervent teacher and true friend.

Your spiritual welfare you have ever evinced the most laudable zeal, and the harmony and good will that has existed amongst us is due to your kind and affable disposition, and we shall cherish in loving remembrance the pleasant and happy days you have spent in our midst.

Before parting, dear Father, kindly accept this purse as a slight token of our affection, love and respect, which you are held by the ladies of this parish.

Hoping to be remembered in your prayers and good works, we pray that the future labors of your sacred ministry may be crowned with the richest blessing.

G. Signed on behalf of the ladies of St. Joseph's church.

Toronto, Oct. 25, 1897.

FATHER LYNETT'S REPLY.

Gentlemen—You may well believe that I am a happy man this evening, to esteem it such a privilege to be made the recipient of such a magnificent purse, and I would be more than human if I could listen without feelings of pride and deepest emotion to the words of the many kind and good men in such a felicitous manner in the well-worded address just read. Ordinarily I experience but little trouble in finding suitable words to fitly express my thoughts.

I, however, as I have said, find it difficult to utter the feelings of a heart stirred to its very depth of sensibility, the task is a difficult one. I scarcely know what to say first; so many thoughts and so many ideas are clamoring for expression in undisturbed order.

In the first place, however, I will thank you, gentlemen, and through you, I wish to thank the people whom you represent, for this magnificent present you have given me this evening. Though I value indeed, this well-filled purse for its intrinsic worth, yet I value and appreciate more highly still the good will and great esteem of the people which it so happily gives expression to; and, more, the address, to my mind, has a greater value and a higher excellence, since, as I said, by the nice and judicious list of names, it conveys with the greatest delicacy the heartfelt sentiments, not of a faction, not of a large majority even, but it gives the sincere expression of the good will of all.

But, before I thank you more than I can, I feel that I must refer to the tablets of memory the brightest among them all will be the one bearing the impressions of this evening with you, gentlemen, around me, and I feel that I will be cherished in their memory and remembered in their prayers.

When I entered upon my duties among you I had on my mind and desire to do my plain and simple duty. Your presence here this evening, this well-filled purse, and this laudatory address convince me that I have not fallen far short of the attainment of my purpose.

My work among you, I feel, has been, because from the very beginning, my efforts, feeble though they may have been, were fully appreciated by the people, among whom I always felt I was a welcome visitor.

The glad hand of friendship and the true kind words of esteem and regard for the priest were mine in whatever house I entered. This was my work, made light, and my task made easy, and I feel that I have brought another brought me joy and brought it was that I felt I had a place in the hearts of the children, and you will understand me when I say I can have no greater pleasure than to know that I feel that I will be cherished in their memory and remembered in their prayers.

You have referred in kind words to my work among you, and that you, for it, I would have been faithful in the discharge of my duties if I had been mindful only of the well-to do and of those who found themselves at Mass every Sunday. In my heart I felt for the careless and indifferent, and my sympathies were always enlisted in the cause of the poor and unfortunate. I feel glad if any words of mine, or any kind attentions bestowed, ever brought sunshine to homes darkened by the shadows of trouble and sickness. If I never tired of going out in the search of the unbaptized and of the weak and erring ones, I can only thank the good and merciful God, whose unworthy servant I am.

Now that it has seemed good to our venerable and beloved Archbishop to sever the ties that existed between us for so short a time I sincerely express the wish that wise counsels may prevail so that peace may dwell among a people so generous and so religious; who are so truly devoted to the Church and who have such a high regard for His Grace and the dignity of his office. That your parish may never forget that you may continue always to give, as in the past, an evidence of strong and practical faith, is the prayer I shall feel bound to offer when I celebrate at the altar.

Thinking you again I beg to be remembered in your prayers.

ST. JOSEPH'S ACADEMY.

The Annual Commencement Exercises at the Convent Yesterday Afternoon Prove an Enjoyable Function.

St. Catharines News, Oct. 30.

The annual commencement exercises of St. Joseph's Convent took place at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the convent hall. A large number of ladies were present, together with Dean Harris, Rev. Father Allan, Rev. Father Sullivan, Rev. Father Quinn and Ald. McCarroll. The hall was illuminated by acetylene gas, the generator being manipulated by the Rev. Father Sullivan.

The programme opened with an instrumental duo by the Misses Benyon, Coyne, Murphy and O'Brien, who were exceedingly well executed. Then followed a chorus by the convent girls. Miss M. Coyne gave a splendid mandolin solo, and was very much applauded by the entire assembly. The young lady plays beautifully and gives much promise about musical lines.

Miss M. McCarthy showed herself to be clever in her elocutionary effort. Her recitations were perfect and her diction splendid. The young lady received merited applause for her effort. An opera entitled "The Fairies' Reward" was given by a number of girls and boys. The programme was very well executed.

A WIDOW'S STRUGGLE.

Hard Work Brought on a Severe Illness.—Nervous Prostration, Dizziness, and Extreme Weakness.—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Came to her Rescue After Hospital Treatment Failed.

From the Fort William Journal.

In the town of Fort William lives a brave widow, who for years has by dint of constant labor kept the wolf from the door and her little family together.

From morning till night she toiled to provide comforts for her loved ones until nature at last protested against such a constant drain on her strength, and so she began to lose health.

Soon the slender frame became unable to bear its daily load of toil, and the poor mother was at last forced to give up the unequal contest, and become a burden where she had once been the chief support.

Nervous prostration, heart disease, consumption, and other names were given to her malady by local physicians, but months passed, during which she suffered untold agony, without finding any relief from her sufferings.

Palpitation of the heart, dizziness, extreme pain in the chest, loss of appetite and nervousness were some of the symptoms of the disease, gatherings that caused excruciating pain formed at the knee joints and other parts of the body, and at last she became perfectly helpless and unable to walk or even sit up.

At this stage she was advised to enter the hospital, that she might have the benefit of skilled nurses as well as best medical treatment; but after spending some time there without obtaining any relief the poor woman gave up all hope of recovery and asked to be taken home.

So emaciated and weak had she become that her friends were shocked at her appearance, and so utterly hopeless was her condition that it was like mockery to speak hopefully of her ultimate recovery.

What, then, was the astonishment of all who had known her dreadful condition to hear that she had at last found a remedy whose magical power at once demonstrated the fact that where there is life there is hope.

The name of this remedy that worked such a wonderful change in such a short time was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking five boxes she was able to walk about and visit her friends.

Her strength gradually but surely returned and in a few months from the time she began using the medicine she was able to resume her work.

The subject of this article, Mrs. Jane Macreille, is well known, and her youthful and healthy appearance to-day, causes people to exclaim: wonders will never cease!

She attributes her restoration to her family, solely to the virtues to be found in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and her experience, she hopes, may put some other sufferer on the right road to health.

This great remedy enriches and purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, and in this way goes to the root of disease, driving it from the system, and curing when other remedies fail.

Every box of the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has the trade mark on the wrapper around the box, and the purchaser can protect himself from imposition by refusing all others. Sold by all dealers at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.
