ORGANIZED FOR TAG DAY

Another Simcoe Man Gives His Life for the Great Cause

Simcoe, Sept. 24.—There was a good response of the Kith and Kin and G. W. V.'s last night at a special meeting held to arrange for tag day, on the last day of the county fair. The organization of the work to insure a thorough tag was placed in the hands of the following committee:

Mrs. A. N. West (convenor), Messrs. Broadfield, Buckle, Hoisington, Liewellyn, Hammond, Johnson, James, Bentley, Messner and Misses Alice Holden, Amy Pratt, Nellie McCarthy, C. Richardson, and Winnie Richardson. It is quite probable that a kith and kin organization will be effected after tag day is over.

We see a little difficulty ahead, however, should matters take their turn, for if all of the kith and kin in Simcoe come into such an organization, the park itself will hardly accommodate the membership. But to go to it even if we have to have seven groups, one for each subdivision. We are right into the heart of the season, as regards sports, the season of debating clubs, literary and dramatic societies and choral organizations, and the time is opportune.

Getting a Grasp on Simcoe.

Miss Louise Vaughan, of China, at the request of her travelling companion Miss Ferguson, of St. Louis, told the members of a local young women's missionary organization, which met at the residence of Mrs. A. B. Jackson, last evening, that she is praying for one million converts in China, and is getting them. Local church workers who have come in touch with Miss Vaughan, consider her a prodigy among the missionaries and though owing to her attachment to a United States organization, in her work in the Orient, Miss Vaughan is not widely known in Canada, it is quite probable that this remarkable lady of unlimited faith would not have been allowed a fortnight's comparative seclusion in Simcoe wore her experience and work known in some of our larger Ontario centres. The day may be called when some shall ask "How did Simcoe have Miss Vaughan for such a length of time." Well it has just happened, as everything in this missionary's remarkable career has happened. The world gets the biography after the work is done.

Miss Vaughan is remaining another week in town.

Still Another Called.

Pte. Jack Mantel Goulet was yesterday reported died of wounds. He was a sergeant in the 133rd and before enlistment was employed at the H. S. Falls store here. He was a young man of excellent parts.

Odd Ends of News.

Cabbage has headed up earlier than usual and delivery to the factory goes on at the same time that the corn with faller weather is coming in in capacity quantities.

Not only has Sunday motoring almost disappeared, but week day driving about town for pleasure has been reduced to a minimum. Autos in evidence now are almost without exception, delivery and transfer or business cars.

Warden Buck, Chairman Criddle of the County Roads System, Reeve Carter of Simcoe, Guy R. Marston, C. E. James, Reeve Walker of Dufferin and John Martin, are slated for an interview before the department of highways, Toronto.

The county tractor is at present working up Vanessa way. Deputy-Crowe was impaled to his right past his door one of these days. It will later pass over towards Boston.

Another knight of the grip is looking for a home in Simcoe. Excellent railway connection proves an attraction to these gentlemen.

MERCHANTS WANT INFORMATION

Met This Morning to Discuss Hydro Commission Proposed Changes

A meeting of the members of the Merchants Club was held at 10 o'clock this morning at which the majority of merchants of the main section of the city were present. The meeting was held in the rooms of the Board of Trade, and was called for the purpose of discussing the changes proposed by the local hydro commissioners in the lighting of Colborne, Market and Laidlaw. Many of the merchants expressed the fear that the change meant a retrogression in our lighting system, and after some discussion a telephone call was made upon Chairman McFarland of the commission, asking him to attend and give some information. Mr. McFarland declined to attend, and on motion of Mr. M. McPherson, seconded by Mr. Herb. Conway, it was decided to ask the co-operation of the Board of Trade with the Merchants club, and to invite the Hydro commissioners and the Fire and Light committee of the council to a special meeting to discuss the change.

CONSUL HAS ARRIVED

Washington, Sept. 24.—United States Consul-General Poole has arrived at Helsingfors from Moscow, and is due in Stockholm tomorrow. News that the consul-general had reached the Finnish border in safety reached the state department today. Upon its receipt, Secretary Lansing disclosed that a week ago he ordered Mr. Poole, the last American official remaining at the Bolshevik capital to leave Russia. The dispatch brought no information concerning the British and French consular officers, who are detained by the Bolsheviks, and to whom Poole insisted upon remaining at his post until ordered away.

NEWLY DISCOVERED USES FOR GLUE

Household Economies Made Possible by Several New Uses

New York, Sept. 22.—With out government mandating all possible conservation in American households several newly discovered uses for glue present to the thoughtful woman opportunities to prolong the life of household articles.

As every family has or should have, on hand a bottle or tube of good glue, the following practical suggestions can be acted upon without delay or expense.

To Put New Life in an Old Broom

A teaspoonful of glue mixed in a basin of hot water is poured over a broom and then allowed to thoroughly dry will greatly stiffen it, and prolong its usefulness and life.

When Shoes Become Barked or Scuffed

Very often a small piece of the leather is lifted or loosened. Don't cut it off and try to cover the place with blacking. Flatten the piece, in place with a little glue and allow to dry. Then apply blacking and the surface will be as good as new.

For Tears or Bents in Silk

Another piece of silk of the same color placed under the tear with a thin coating of glue will bring the edges more firmly together than can be done with a needle. Allow to dry thoroughly and the rent will be almost invisible.

A Splendid Way to Keep Rubbers from Slipping

Rubber overshoes often become so loose that they slip off at the heels, especially in the winter and spring when the ground is muddy or slushy. This annoying trouble can be entirely eliminated by gluing a felt band around the inside top of the rubber. To protect furs and woollens from moths

It is commonly known that moths very much dislike the odor of ink in old newspapers. Several thick-sheets of old newspapers firmly glued together may be made into the form of a box and the garment placed inside. After the ends and all joints are firmly sealed with glue, the bag is absolutely moth and dust proof, and your protection from moths has cost practically nothing.

ON STRIKE

Calgary, Sept. 23.—The freight-handlers and clerks of the C.P.R., whose union is part of the International Body of Railroad Clerks, are on strike. The immediate cause of the strike was the discharge of D. C. Evans, assistant foreman in the outbound freight shed, and the promotion to his place of a man over the heads of six men who were in line for promotion.

TEN DEATHS

Quebec, Sept. 24.—The epidemic of Spanish influenza in Quebec was the cause of ten more deaths today.

Six in Victoriaville, one in Arthabaska and three in Trois Pivots. In Arthabaska the Catholic College has been closed. There are forty cases in Trois Pivots.

UNCHANGED

By Courier Leased Wire
St. Paul, Sept. 24.—The condition of Archbishop John Treadwell was unchanged this morning, his secretary announced. He is still unconscious.

The shaded area on the accompanying map, represents the British gains in Palestine. It represents the ground actually held by the infantry. The heavy ticked lines represent the movements of the cavalry, some moving northward towards Haifa and beyond Nazareth, and others moving southward from Beisan and Hanin to force the surrender of tens of thousands of additional prisoners.

GETTING SHELLS UP TO THE GUNS

Ammunition Waggon Must Keep Going if Reaches its Destination

You can never picture the ammunition wagon's frantic contortions during an action unless you have seen them.

And then, in spite of your own bristled and aching body, you feel a thrill at the sight. Few correspondents have mentioned the ammunition wagons because few correspondents have seen the ammunition wagon in action with half a dozen drivers standing up in their boxes together at the reins of their frightened maddened horses, with the crashing of the shells around making the most terrible din imaginable.

No picture by Caton Woodville or anybody else exaggerates the original one bit. The job of the driver is to get the loads of shells up to the guns. It does not matter whether the enemy is sweeping the rear roads with shrapnel or heavy explosive or gas shells. The ammunition wagon has just got to keep going right on till it reaches its destination.

Ask any of the boys who were through the last big fight "over there" when the German shells were plunging the roads for miles behind and the airplanes were hovering above the wagons trying to drop bombs on them. Ask any of the officers who were needing more ammunition for their batteries. They'll tell you about the ammunition wagons.

The horses became terrified and began to plunge—they all did, they can't help it—and the pair of shells became heavier every hundred yards. Not a few limbers were bit. "Napoo" for the driver and his mates and the team.

Sometimes the horses scream—yes, they scream. But the lumbars coming up behind have to get to their own destination as quickly as possible and there is little time to think of anything but one's own job and little enough time for that.

There was once an ammunition wagon which went up the track to the gunpits at a great rate past every kind of obstacle, down into and up out, in shell-holes, the horses stretching to the pace like a race, and the driver standing like a man thing on the traces roaring and tugging like a man possessed. He landed in great time and came to a halt in a bogged hole up over the axes in mud. A captain came along and congratulated the driver on his pluck and daring.

"Don't praise me," said the driver. "It's these ponies you've gotta hold them. And I was so scared at their being scared that I couldn't hold myself. If it hadn't been for that mud hole I guess we would have been away beyond the front line by this time. We were going some."

ALFORD PARK AND GOVERNOR'S ROAD WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

A most interesting meeting of the Alford Park and Governor's Road Women's Institute was held on Sept. 19th at the home of Mrs. H. Storey, 19th at the home of Mrs. H. Storey, call and minutes. The yarn convention reported seventy pairs of socks on hand. It was decided at the October meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. E. Williams, to pack boxes, also to serve coffee at the coming school fair.

Two communications were read from soldiers acknowledging parcels which had been addressed to France and Gibraltar and safely followed them to England, praising the efficiency of the Army Mail Service.

Medical school inspection was under discussion and this is to be introduced in two of the schools of this district.

After the business part of the meeting had been disposed of an excellent programme arranged by Mrs. Geo. Simpson, was enjoyed. A solo by Mrs. Maud Taylor, "My Laddie." Also one entitled "In the Garden of My Heart," by Miss Elsie Sonn were much appreciated.

Miss Matthews gave a paper full of thought on "Our Canadian Women," contrasting the lives of eastern women with those of this country, setting forth the advantages and privileges we enjoy and taking as her main points the Christian mother and her never-ceasing influence. Home, where our women have undivided rights with the husbands of their own choice. Jesus, our knowledge of Him and our uplifted condition therefrom, bringing, with these increased privileges, increased responsibility. Do we appreciate these and do our best.

A violin solo given by request by Mrs. Simpson, who is always listened to with great pleasure, brought the meeting to a close.

Brian Spends $7 for Ruth is Distressed

Seven dollars for two shows! It seemed dreadfully small to Brian. He had so little to spend on Ruth and clothes. That was the ones which, he never had been restricted to. Amusements were few and far between. An occasional playhouse and later a movie. Twenty cents, were about the limit of amusement possibilities. The young people danced other instruments, save for the boys playing the piano. The young people danced other instruments, save for the boys playing the piano. So it was with a bright smile she asked: "Are they good seats?" "They ought to be, enough," Brian growled, smiling triumphantly at them. They were ushered to the choicest seats in the house. "You can get anything if you pay for it," he thought to himself.

"Yes, it is nice to have money," Ruth replied, smiling. "We shall be able to play often this winter, occasionally to the opera. The raising of the curtain the remark Brian started but did not prevent the appearing on his face at the plication.
