

PA'S A SMART MAN.
ALL RIGHT! OH, YES!

Lowest Bidder.
"I have come to ask for the hand of your daughter," announced the young man.
"Have a chair," said her father kindly. "I presume you have made an estimate of what it will cost to keep your daughter in the style to which she has been accustomed?"
"I have, sir."
"Add your figures?"
"Ten thousand dollars a year."
"I'm sorry, my boy," said the older man, "but I cannot afford to throw away $2,000 a year. Another offer has figured he can do it for $5,000."—New York Times.

Non-Resistant.
A man purchased some red canned shirts guaranteed not to shrink. He reminded the salesman forcibly of the guarantee some weeks later.
"Have you had any difficulty with them?" the latter asked.
"No," replied the customer, "only the other morning my wife said to me, 'John, where did you get that pink coral necklace?'—London Tit-Bits.

His Knowledge Was Limited.
"I saw young Suburbo running a new machine this morning."
"Was it one of the latest models?"
"I really couldn't say."
"I thought you knew all about automobiles."
"So I do, but I don't know anything about lawn mowers."—Judge.

Helpful Influence.
"Do you favor your wife's membership in political societies?"
"Yes, sir," replied Mr. Meekton. "I'm hoping that sooner or later Henrietta and I will be able to reduce our little domestic controversies to a basis of parliamentary procedure."—Washington Star.

A Careful Neighbor.
"The man next door to me won't wake me up at 4 o'clock in the morning moving his lawn any more. I've hit on a way to root him."
"How's that?"
"I borrow his lawn mower the night before."—Detroit Free Press.

Exchanging a Compliment.
College Widow—You displayed some marvelous curves this afternoon, Mr. Teardrop.
Pitcher Teardrop (who had observed her standing between the diamond and the sun)—And so did you.—Judge.

Remembering It In.
"What did your wife say when you came in at 11 the other morning?"
"Nothing. Just sat down at the piano and played 'Tell Me the Old, Old Story.'"
"Philadelphia Ledger."

An Idle Boast.
"I can read your thoughts," he said with a smile.
"And yet you don't say good night and go," the reputed—Togher's Statesman.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the whole system, and snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.
To correct catarrh you should enrich your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion. This is a medicinal-food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. Try it—YOU!

This Language of Ours.
Tommy Figgiam—Paw, doesn't "reverse" mean to back?
Paw Figgiam—Surely.

Tommy Figgiam—Then what did Uncle Bill mean when he said that he had been up in business because he had too many reverses and not enough backings?—Chicago Post.

Proof.
Daughter—Then you really think George has financial ability and can support me?
Father—You bet. I've talked with him and he has got people on his notes that I've been trying for years to hook on mine.—Puck.

To Be Avoided.
Mother—Johnny, stop using such awful language!
Johnny—Well, mother, Shakespeare uses it.

Mother—Then don't play with him. He's no fit companion for you.—London Tit-Bits.

Rare Courage.
Hokus—Fiddub seems to have a wonderful opinion of his knowledge.
Fokus—I should say he has! Why, I have actually heard him attempt to argue with his son, who is in his freshman year at college.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Very Busy.
"Line's busy."
"It has been busy for some time. Why can't I get my number?"
"Oh," said the telephone girl somewhat entry, "one lady is paying another lady a telephone visit."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mutually Satisfactory.
Mrs. Crawford—So you find that the best way to manage your husband is to always ask his advice?
Mrs. Crabshaw—Yes, dear. He's pleased to have me ask him, and I'm pleased because I never follow it.—Judge.

Not Worth While.
"Shall I summon your husband's spirit from the nether world?"
"Wouldn't be no use to try," declared the lady with the nervous chin. "My husband never had no spirit."—Kansas City Journal.

Diet Demons.
Beware of the fierce Welsh rabbit, meat. Avoid him with a crown.
For he does all his fighting when you think you have him down.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Grumpy Apple, too, I guess.
Is just as cursed man.
Richmond in his and wickedness.
Although he seems so cruel.—Boston Advertiser.

The Flying Cup is treacherous.
It makes you whoop and shout.
It makes you feel you were all in.
Then quickly knocks you out.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

My Limbs Would Twitch

And Waken Me—Unable to Rest or Sleep, I Walked the Floor in Nervous State—When Specialists Failed I Found a Cure.

This is the kind of cure that has set hundreds of people thinking and talking about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The action of this food cure is so radically different to the usual treatment for the nerves that everybody wants to try it. Gradually and certainly it nourishes the starved nerves back to health and vigor and the best results obtained are both thorough and lasting.

Mrs. M. Smithson, 27 Arthur Street, Windsor, Ont., writes: "I was suffering from nervous breakdowns, which was caused by a shock when fire broke out in the adjoining house. My nerves were in such a state that after going to bed I could not get my nerves quieted down sufficiently to go to sleep. I used to get up and walk around the room, or go downstairs, even when I would be dropping off to sleep my limbs would twitch and I would have to have cold, nervous night sweats, sometimes would become unconscious and lie that way for quite a little while. I was always cold and it seemed impossible for me to get warm or keep warm. When on the street I would see two or three children at once, and did not want any person to speak to me or bother me. Any little noise irritated and annoyed me very much. I had consulted several doctors and tried many remedies during this time, but could not gain relief. At last I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and before long could see that this treatment was proving of benefit. I am now feeling so much better that I can go out on the street without any difficulty, can go across the river and go about the same as usual. I sleep well at night, and am feeling more like myself every day. I am pleased to be able to write you to tell you how much good the Nerve Food has done me. It has strength and built up my whole system. I can recommend it to everybody I find suffering from nervousness of any kind."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanston, Limited, Toronto. Dr. Chase & Co. have accepted a subscription.
