a good officer, who I may say gave the only real protection we ever had on the river during his term of office, except ing this summer, and no blame to Hogan for that because he had no help and it is impossible for one man to protect the fish on this river. He was the right man in the right place. I mean if you want 07 the fish protected you want the overseer at or about Redbank, so he can have his guardians under his eyes. About every second day Pat would make his rounds Given and see his guardians were doing their duty, in fact he was seen too often by away some parties to suit them.

I have been living on this river fifty years and have fished less or more 35 year and caught salmon when ever I could, bot fall and spring, and I must say all the pro tection that ever we had on this river was the last seven years. Although the salmo were scarce this summer it was not the fault of protection, as I have known sal mon to be as scarce twelve years ago.
