The woman who buys

Dress Goods now-a-days, has yet to buy right; but buying right does not mean a matter of "How Cheap." A-how cheap dress that is old fashioned and that will not stand the wear and tear is not the one wide awake people buy. They want a dress right up-to-date in every particular. Quality, style, we have, and good wear resisting qualities. This is the kind we sell. Send for sample.—Stanley Bros.

Sheriff's Sale.

The universal Postal Union, which settles all matters of postal interest, such as transit rates, changes in postage rates, authorizing the formation of new conventions as regards parcels post, money orders and postal work generally, meets in Rome on April 7. The last convention was held in 1897, and delegates from all over the world attended it. Dr. Coulter, deputy postmaster general, has been appointed to represent Canada at this convention.

The handsome monument erected to the memory of the New Hampshire troops who fought and fell in the siege of Vicksburg, Miss., was dedicated on the 8th with impressive ceremonies in the presence of Governor McLean and a large party of prominent citizens of New Hampshire. The monument is an imposing and beautiful shaft of granite and occupies a conspicuous location in Grant's headquarters in the Vicksburg national park.

Negotiations are now in progress with a number of Canadian capitalists for the Nova Scotia eastern railway. The contract has not yet been completed; but negotiations have been so far advanced that it can be stated that all has been settled but the minor details of the scheme. This new company will build the road from Dartmouth to Guysboro with a branch from a point at or near New Glasgow to Country Harbor.

By far the largest influx of immigrants to reach Canadian shores this season arrived in Montreal on Monday, when over 4,000 men, women and children passed through the city en route to the Canadian Northwest, where they will take up their residence. Such was the number of the arrivals that the C. P. R. General Offices from the immigration officials of the different transatlantic lines possessing Canadian terminals at Halifax and St. John Special trains conveyed these large contingents of settlers to the West.

In accordance with official proclamation the 10th day celebrated throughout the Japanese Empire as the anniversary of the late war. Business was universally suspended and the people everywhere gave themselves up to the celebration of the day. In Tokio the celebration was on a particularly elaborate scale and included among its prominent features a mammoth review of troops assembled by Emperor Meiji. The review of the Japanese army, which included many of the military and naval commanders who had a prominent part in the recent conflict.

The ravages of the dogfish and shark among the fisheries of Massachusetts was discussed by the President at Washington on the 8th, with the committee appointed by the Governor of Massachusetts to inquire into the cause of the depredations. The dogfish and shark are destroying great numbers of fish and ravages being so extensive as to effect the fishing industry, especially mackerel and cod. There is a bill before Congress which has for its object the promotion of certain industries that make use of the shark and dogfish.

The Cassidy-Lansing bill to prohibit gambling on race tracks was given its first hearing at Albany on the 7th inst, before the joint codes committee of the general assembly. The measure is being pushed by the International Reform Bureau, which has its headquarters at Washington and which has been successful in securing the enactment of anti-gambling legislation in several States. The Cassidy-Lansing bill is the measure generally predicted in view of the strong opposition with which it will meet from August Belmont and his associates of the state racing commission.

A collision between a street car and a hearse at the corner of Beverly and Queen streets, Toronto, occurred Friday afternoon during the funeral of Marcella Stewart. The hearse was crossing the Queen street car tracks when a west bound Dundas car struck it. The motorman apparently tried to stop the car, but the rails were slippery. Two men on the hearse were thrown off, one being injured on the shoulder, the other on the knee, but not seriously. The hearse was not upset nor was the glass broken. But other damages made it necessary to get another hearse before the funeral could proceed. The car was also somewhat damaged.

A remarkable accident is reported from the little garrison town of Orleansburg, Germany. A private soldier was walking in broad daylight on the outskirts of the town when he suddenly fell to the ground. Persons who came to his assistance found that he had been struck by a rifle bullet, though no one, including the wounded man himself, had heard or seen a shot fired. Investigation resulted in the discovery that long range firing exercises had been going on at the time at the garrison range three miles away, and that a gun had accidentally gone off. The bullet from this rifle had passed over a wood, and in dropping down on the other side from a considerable height had retained sufficient velocity to inflict a critical wound.

The suit of the Dominion Government against the Ontario Government for a claim for $1,863,035.30 came up for hearing on the 8th in the Exchequer Court of Canada. The claim is made against the Ontario Government for the repayment of certain annuities and other sums paid by the Dominion to the Saulteaux Indians under the terms of a treaty concluded in 1877. In that year the Crown purchased 47,000 square miles of land from the Saulteaux tribes of the Ojibway. The Indians and settled annuities upon the abjects. In 1878 the land was made over to the Province of Ontario. New the Dominion asks that Ontario repay the amount it spent on the Indians and improving the land. The Province in reply says that the Dominion Government made the treaty and therefore should carry out the conditions.

Owing to the absence of King Edward in the South there was no celebration on the 10th, of their Majesty's forty-third wedding anniversary. Numerous messages of congratulation, however, were received at Marlborough House during the day. Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, (Now King Edward VII.) married Alexandra, the eldest daughter of King Christian IX., of Denmark, in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, March 10, 1863. He was then 22 years old and she was 19. Now he is 64 and she is 61.

Army officers of the United States are displaying much interest in the endurance march through the heart of the Rocky mountains about to be undertaken by the batteries of the United States army, with cannon and equipment. The 14th and 19th Batteries have been selected to make the test, starting within a week or so from Salt Lake City and marching to the front at Cheyenne, Wyo., a distance of about 500 miles. The trip will be notable as the first long-distance mountain trip for a battery. All the heavy cannon and other accoutrements will be taken through. The trip will be made by forced marches. The batteries being expected to make at least twenty-five miles a day. The old Mormon trail across the Utah and Wyoming will be used.

Princess Ena bride-elect of King Alfonso, joined the Catholic Church on the 7th. The ceremony took place at the church of St. Antonio, which is close to Miramar Palace in San Sebastian, Spain. There is great satisfaction that the ceremony was held on Spanish soil and that it was public. It is considered that Princess Ena has thus given the strongest denial the statement that her conversion is only half hearted and formal. The Bishop of San Sebastian, who presided, neither King Edward nor Princess Henty, mother of Princess Ena attended the ceremony. Princess Ena chose San Sebastian for entering the Church because it is the first Spanish town she visited.

A Chicago despatch says: Vegetarians are largely responsible for the increasing price of shoe leather, is the belief of August H. Vogel of Milwaukee, Wis. Mr. Vogel was the principal speaker last night at the semi-annual dinner of the Shoe and Leather Association of Chicago. He and other speakers complained that shoes in Chicago were sold too cheaply. "The world's visible supply of hides," said Mr. Vogel, "is every year becoming less in proportion to the increase in population. The hide industry is dependent on the consumption of meat. It is a by-product of the packing industry. People are eating less meat than formerly. The consumption of cereal and vegetable goods is increasing every year, and the price of leather is increasing proportionately."

The funeral of Archbishop O'Brien takes place at St. Mary's Cathedral, Halifax this forenoon. Thousands of persons, Sunday and to-day, viewed the body of the late Archbishop, which lay in state at the Archbishop's residence. The body rested upon a catafalque of purple, the casket being covered with purple velvet. The plate upon the casket bore an inscription in consonance with the well-beloved Archbishop's simple taste. It says merely "Cornelius O'Brien, D. D., died March 9, 1906." At the foot of the casket, upon the table on which was a purple cover, stood lighted candles. The Archbishop wore his Pontifical vestments, his Mitre on his head, his Episcopal ring and Pectoral cross, looks as if he were in an ideally tranquil sleep. The interior of the Cathedral is draped in purple and black. Monday the body was removed to the Cathedral where it lay in state until the funeral.

Thousands of persons, Sunday and to-day, viewed the body of the late Archbishop, which lay in state at the Archbishop's residence. The body rested upon a catafalque of purple, the casket being covered with purple velvet. The plate upon the casket bore an inscription in consonance with the well-beloved Archbishop's simple taste. It says merely "Cornelius O'Brien, D. D., died March 9, 1906." At the foot of the casket, upon the table on which was a purple cover, stood lighted candles. The Archbishop wore his Pontifical vestments, his Mitre on his head, his Episcopal ring and Pectoral cross, looks as if he were in an ideally tranquil sleep. The interior of the Cathedral is draped in purple and black. Monday the body was removed to the Cathedral where it lay in state until the funeral.
