Last Night's Hockey.

Wanderers Win Final Match.

FAIRLY FAST GAME.

The final of the series of matches between the representatives of Halifax and the City teams, was pulled off at the Prince's Rink last night in the presence of 2,300 spectators, and resulted in the visitors coming off victorious by a score of three goals to one. The game on the whole was fast and exciting, but we have often witnessed better hockey, as last night's exhibition lacked combination, and if some of our local players were no so greedy with the puck, the result might have been different. The conditions for the game were all that could be desired, the ice being as smooth as glass. At 8.30 the teams entered the arena and were cheered by the spectators. The line up was:

Halifax	Goal	C. Herder
Stenarud	point	G. Herder
Fluck	cover	Collier
Purcell	cover	Collier
Smith	rover	L. Stick
Barstead	right	Brien
Monahan	centre	R. Herder
Calnen	left	Pinsent

The game opened briskly at 8.45. The Halifax team immediately became aggressive. They worked the puck towards the city territory but the latter retaliated by Stick and R. Herder making a splendid run. They lost to Purcell, who, combining with Monahan, made an effective rush and had a try for goal. Walsh was good spot and prevented honors being awarded the visitors. The visitors continued their rushes vigorously having the best of the game, but the admirable defense of Herder, the City Point, kept the puck off the net. The Halifax forward line, displaying good stick handling, made three excellent runs in quick succession, but on each occasion their attempts to score were frustrated by the city back division. Just after this, the tables were reversed. The local boys worked with determination and confined play to their opponents' territory. The city pressed hard, every member of the team straining every nerve to score. Continuing the aggressive for the next ten minutes they bombarded the Halifax goal. Shots were raining on Stenarud, who proved himself a clever goal tender, and would not allow the puck to get past him. Soon after, the game got slow, until Purcell, the Halifax cover, broke the monotony. Capturing the rubber near his own goal, he swept the rink. He passed all opponents but when near the net the puck slipped away from his stick and a splendid opportunity was lost. Gus Herder then controlled the disc and made a pretty run but failed to score. Barstead and R. Herder were penalized for a couple of minutes. When the latter came on the ice again he took possession of the puck and intended to pay off for the time he was on the boards. He passed to Stick who dashed to the right wing, and off a neat pass, R. Herder banged the puck in the net.

Facing off again both teams settled down to hard work, the visitors to equalize the score and the home team to increase it. Purcell controlled the rubber and made a brilliant run. He passed all hands except Walsh, who was not to be beaten as easily

To-Day's News.

Special to The Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-day.
Matt. Wells, English lightweight, defeated Hughie McHegan, Australian champion, in a twenty-round fight at the National Sporting Club. Wells won on points.

LONDON, To-day.
The widow of Captain Scott, Explorer, will henceforth be known as Lady Scott. King George has bestowed on her the same rank, style and precedence as if her husband had been nominated a Knight Commander of the Bath, as he would have been had he survived.

PEKING, To-day.
Hundreds of the inhabitants of the Province of Fu Kien were killed during the past week or so while offering resistance to the Government troops engaged in destroying poppy plants. The International Reform Bureau which meets in conference here on March 4th, will inaugurate a campaign of drastic united action in order to give the death blow to the opium traffic.

TORONTO, To-day.
It is alleged that Leonard Barker stole $36,978 from his employers during the 18 months he was accountant for Bent Bros., Wellington Street. The accused was accountant and looked after the firm's banking book. The Crown alleges he made out many checks in his own favor and when they were returned from the bank he would destroy them and certify the bank book was correct. The case will proceed to the jury. All the checks were drawn on the Bank of Nova Scotia.

LONDON, To-day.
John Burns, President Local Government Board, who has just begun a speech-making campaign on behalf of progressive candidates for London County Council, has declared war against militant suffragettes. In the course of the next ten days he intends several addresses at meetings from which several suffragette disturbers were summarily ejected. "I am going to do my best to break down this tyranny of organized blackguardism. It is in the interest of the people and democracy that this despotism that has desecrated in the cause of women, and has not back their movement many years, should terminate at once."

MEXICO CITY, To-day.
Confidence in the new Administration is growing in the capital. Conservative Mexicans and foreigners alike regarding what appears to be a probable military regime, also as a solution of the present difficulty. A revolution in the sentiment has been created by the death of Francisco Madero and Pino Suarez, but a great majority of Mexican people merely shrug their shoulders. It is likely there are a few chapters more of this tragedy still to be written. One afternoon paper in Mexico City denies the stories of the attack on the Madero guard, alleging the affair was carried out in accordance with pre-arranged plans, but the Mexican Government appears honest in its endeavor to place the facts before the world by means of a judicial investigation. It is said that General Diaz will have an opponent to his candidacy for Presidency, Francisco De La Barra, the present Minister of Foreign Relations. Dodoite Reyes, a son of General Reyes, who was killed in the first attack on the Palace, and Dr. Gomez friends began a campaign on behalf of these various candidates; holding elections will depend upon the state of the country, but President Huerta insists upon free choice of the people when peace is restored, which will make this possible.

WINNIPEG, To-day.
Tortured by furies of an Alaskan winter, and subsisting for thirty days on the skins of dead animals, and finally driven insane by eight-day period of starvation, Henry Leclair, a French trapped, killed and partially ate the body of Len Lemieux, guide Hudson Bay Company, near mile 63 of British Columbia. Leclair and Lemieux tasted no morsel of any kind for eight days on an extended hunt which they started in December. In a deserted shack, 75 miles from the settlement both men awaited for the other to go to sleep, for the killing of one meant food for the other. Lemieux was killed, however, being stabbed to the heart eight times; twenty-three other wounds were also found and part of the body ate, while Leclair scratched the floor on the cabin with a knife. Leclair has not been found.

Letter From Mr. F. J. Woods.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Sir—Permit me through the columns of your paper to bring under the notice of the public, and more especially seafarers who will prosecute the seal-fishery in the steamers Stephano and Florizel, that the firemen who will be employed on those steamers will be foreigners, and signed on in New York. Why the owners of the steamers named should adopt this course, I am at a loss to understand. It is a well known fact that native firemen are superior to the foreigner, that while the foreigner is unable to maintain any more than 125 lbs. pressure on the boilers of the Stephano and Florizel, that Newfoundland main-tains 180 lbs. The reason alleged for the employment of the foreigner is against our own people is: sometimes the firemen on the Florizel who had evidently taken more steam than was good for him, cough from the cook something to eat, not getting it, trouble between himself and the local firemen, with the result that some of the firemen left the ship. The ship, however, was not delayed in sailing, three firemen on the voyage to New York. Upon arrival there foreigners were hired to replace the men who had left, but the foreign stokers refused to sail in the ship with the local firemen, with the result that the local man was paid of and had to come back as a passenger. When the three firemen and three others were able to get sufficient steam on the ship for her to get to New York, they were equally as well able to do the same in getting her to St. John's, hence there was no reason for paying them off in a foreign port and taking men in their places who were in every way inferior to them.

As regards the Stephano, no trouble whatever occurred on her, she had her full complement of firemen, oilers and trimmers, good competent Union firemen, and without any cause these men were paid off in New York foreign firemen shipped in their places, and now it is the intention, so far as I can learn of the owners, to exclude the native firemen from favor of the foreign. The men who prosecute the sealing industry in these ships have an interest in the matter, as well as the firemen. When foreign stokers are unable to maintain steam pressure on the boilers of the ship to the extent of at least 5 lbs. less than the natives, it does not require much reasoning to show the ships, in consequence, will be handicapped, and they will not get through the ice as rapidly as they would otherwise.

I do not claim that the firemen are as they should be, but what particular class of people in this world, whether they be rich or poor, are all that can be desired? Some of the firemen, unfortunately for themselves, take too much strong drink (people who are not firemen are guilty of the same thing) while there are very many others who are total abstainers. Every working man has an interest in a question of this kind, because if employers or steamer owners can introduce into this country foreign labour, when the same article can be had in our own land of a superior quality, then it is time that steps be taken to prevent it from being done. What those steps will be I may have to outline at a very early date, if the owners of the steamers do not give the men of the Union fair play. Nothing more is wanted, nothing more I ask. I know that the Union has been subjected to criticisms, some deserved, some undeserved, because all the facts are not fully known, but who is there who do not in some way or other give cause for criticism, master and servant alike.

I trust that the owners of the steamers Stephano and Florizel will see the advisability of doing that which every other steamer owner is doing, namely, giving the man who has to earn his bread in this country a chance of so doing and not discriminate against him by importing the foreigner.

The Union hopes that no working-man in St. John's will allow himself to be influenced or persuaded into taking the place of Union firemen who will be called out of Messrs. Bowring's steamers, because of the determination of that firm to employ foreign firemen in these ships. By inserting the above you will oblige.

Yours truly,
J. WOODS.

President of the Firemen's Union.

United Service.

A fine congregation attended the first service of the week at George St. Church last night, and the spirit of the meeting was very good, and the influences were deeply impressive. The Rev. Mr. Matthews had entire charge of the service, and he displayed much zeal in his remarks, and in his announcement of the hymns, which were all very appropriate, and which had much good effect upon the meeting.

The Rev. Dr. Rogers read the passage of the talents for the Scripture lesson; and the Rev. Mr. Whitmarsh of Cochrane St. Church, delivered the address, and did so in a very earnest and zealous manner. He selected as his text a two-fold passage of Scripture from the Gospels and the Epistles, namely "Without God and without hope in the world," and "We will not obey his laws, nor conform to his commands; and thereby they were saying, 'We will not have this man to rule over us.'"

The result was that they were without God in their lives, therefore they were without hope. The speaker touched a strong chord of human nature in his remarks, in reference to the different experiences of human life. He stated that many lives, in act most lives, have their tragedies and disappointments, and that very often the life which we see of our fellow men, and which appears upon the surface in the rounds of every day, is not the real life of the person, because many carry burdens and sorrows that the outer world does not see; and therefore cannot know. The tendency of the age seems to be to increase such lives; but there is a better life, there is the life of hope and Christian service, and of obedience to the high authority of the conscience and the soul. It is this higher life of service that Christianity teaches and that is offered in the Gospel to the people. But men have become materialistic, and are devoting most of their attention to the things of time; to the entire neglect of what is more enduring and of principles which brings peace and hope to the heart.

The entire address was very appropriate for Evangelistic services; and it had a most desirable effect upon the congregation. After the address the service continued as usual with song and prayer, and proved a very encouraging beginning for the week. These services are open to all the people; and George St. Church being so centrally located, and so spacious, and so comfortably heated, we feel assured that the attendance, which so far has been very good, will be still greater as the week advances.

IS YOUR COUGH GOING FROM BAD TO WORSE?

If you catch a cold (which very often develops into a cough) everyone can tell you how to cure it! If one tried half the things his friends recommended he would be a physical wreck!

Fortunately it isn't necessary to experiment with ginger tea and such things, get a bottle of Stafford's Phorontone Cough and Cold Cure, take according to directions, and you will be relieved in a few hours.

Phorontone is not like most things put up for this purpose. There isn't a particle of Quinine in it. It relieves the inflamed congested condition of the mucous membranes of the nose and throat, and soon rids the system of the poison that cause colds.

Don't wait until you get that horrible, hacking cough which you are unable to get rid of. No treatment having been found successful up to the present time. Try Phorontone Cough Cure at once.

Price 25 cents a bottle. Postage 5 cents extra.
