TUESDAY, Sept. 21st, 1915.

At the Front on Gallipoli Peninsula.

The rumors which have been current for the past week that the Newfoundland Regiment had been sent to Khartoum to do garrison duty are now known to be without foundation. These rumors were in direct conflict with the positive statement of Lord Kitchener, who told the Regiment when he reviewed them before their departure from Aldershot that he was sending them to the Dardanelles. Last evening an official message was received that the Regiment on Tuesday had left Alexandria, the Egyptian base for the Dardanelles Expeditionary forces for the Dardanelles base. These expeditionary forces are operating on the Gallipoli Peninsula in two fields of conflict. One field covers the toe of the foot of Lower Gallipoli, and the other the front of the ankle. Judging from the information available, the two fields of operation appear to be separated by about seven miles of Turkish territory on the Aegean coast of the Peninsula, South of Gaba Tepe. The troops operating on this battle ground are working round Ache Baba by the West, with the object of getting astride the road which connects Kithrea with Great Mallos above the Narrows and serves as the land line communication between the Narrows and the fortress of Ache Baba, which is the main objective of these operations, for by its possession the allies could dominate the forts of the Narrows from the South West.

The troops operating to the North of Gaba Tepe are endeavouring to capture Sara Bahr, the ankle of the foot which will enable them to get astride the road between Gallipoli and Great Mallos, and from it dominate the forts of the Narrows from the North West. On which field of operation the Newfoundland Regiment will fight we have no means at present of knowing. But it is on the latter field that the operations are extending mostly and that the greater part of the reinforcements are being sent. Judging by the activity of the German artillery ery on the Servian frontiers and the enigmatical action of Bulgaria in endeavouring to mobilize Bulgars in Macedonia, which is claimed by Bulgaria and is that part of Serbia which Bulgaria is anxious to obtain, it looks as if there is trouble ahead in the Balkan States, which will force the allies to greater activity in the Dardanelles in the immediate future. Before long we shall hear that our boys have been in action and that they have won honors for Newfoundland, as Newfoundlanders have done in the past. As our boys left Alexandria last Tuesday for the Dardanelles base, about 700 miles distant by sea, they probably arrived there on Friday, and have already taken up their quarters at the base.

J. G. HIGGINS,
Hon. Treas.

The Archbishop at St. Joseph's.

Last Saturday, His Grace, accompanied by Rev. Frs. McDermott and McGrath arrived at St. Joseph's. The visitors who were met at the Head by our beloved pastor, Rev. Fr. O'Flaherty, received an enthusiastic and whole-souled welcome from the people. Arches had been erected at the Half Way House, the Head, Mount Carmel, New Bridge and St. Joseph's Head and His Grace drove through large crowds cheered again and again. School children at the different sections strewed flowers along the road and every house flew its flag. A concert was held at the hall by the pupils of the different schools of that parish and was largely attended by the people. In reply to the children's address His Grace warmly congratulated them on their proficiency.

On Sunday, last Mass was sung by Father McGrath and after Mass an address was read by Mr. Martin Duggan thanking His Grace for coming to St. Joseph's and assuring him of the love and loyalty of the parishioners. His race expression of pleasure being in Salmonier, and spoke eulogistically of the people and their pastor who had he said done great things for the children.

The new church bell was blessed by His Grace who explained the meaning of the ceremony and gave a brief history of the use of bells in the Catholic Church. St. Joseph's, September 17th.

To The Most Rev. Edward Patrick Roche, D. D., Archbishop of St. John's.

May it please Your Grace: We, the children of St. Joseph's Parish, most joyously welcome you amongst us.

No greater honour could be paid us, no higher distinction conferred upon us than that we be visited by him whom Almighty God has raised to the highest position in the Church in Newfoundland.

We acclaimed with joy Your Grace's elevation to the Archiepiscopal dignity and though our voices were too faint to be heard amidst the great chorus of jubilation hurs forth from the Catholic heart of Terra Nova, our rejoicing was none the less sincere.

We ask Your Grace to accept the accompanying bouquet of flowers as a token of the affection we feel for you.

We crave Your Grace's indulgence whilst we carry out the first programme we have arranged, and we hope Your Grace will overlook our many faults.

That Almighty God may amply sustain Your Grace and bless all your undertakings shall be the prayer of your children in Christ.

Signed on behalf of the children of St. Joseph's Parish:
Dinah Young, St. Joseph's; Katie Parrott, Mitchell's Brook; Mary Rohan, Mt. Carmel; Sadie Rourke and Hannah McDonald, New Bridge; Michael Gough, St. Joseph's.

To The Most Rev. Edward Patrick Roche, D. D., Archbishop of St. John's.

May it please Your Grace: On behalf of the people of St. Joseph's Parish we wish to extend to you a most cordial welcome.

We appreciate deeply the great honour you have paid us by coming amongst us in this, the first year of your Episcopacy.

In former years you visited us first as Priest and later as the Vicar-General of the Archdiocese, and we noted with pleasure your kindness towards all the dignity with which you graced the different offices you held in the Church; and the evident fitness you gave for even higher things.

And now you come as our Chief Pastor, our Archbishop, and in all truth we can assure you that our hearts are yours.

The news of Your Grace's elevation to the Archiepiscopal Chair sent a thrill of joy through the whole parish and our dearest desire was to see you amongst us clothed in the purple of Holy Church.

We can assure Your Grace of our earnest intention of living as practical Catholics.

Nothing else that we could say, or do, would be fitting the present occasion or would be likely to give more real happiness to Your Grace. In all things Your Grace will find that the people of this parish shall strive to exemplify in their daily lives the teachings of our Holy Faith.

We trust and pray that Our Divine Lord will deign to strengthen and sustain you in bearing the heavy burden He has laid on your shoulders and grant you length of days to carry it to perfection.

Signed on behalf of the parishioners:
Joseph Gough, Martin Duggan, John Gushue, John D. Daly, James White, P. J. Murphy, Arthur Hicks, James Trimlett.

Address

To His Grace Most Reverend E. P. Roche, D. D., Archbishop of St. John's, From the People of Portugal Cove.

Your Grace: In the general expressions of joy which re-echoed throughout the land when the "Seal of the Fisherman" had marked you as the worthy successor of that long line of Pontiffs which have ruled the ancient See of St. John's, nowhere was your appointment hailed with more sincerity than in this historic old Cove.

Great indeed was our sorrow when your illustrious predecessor, full of years and merits, was called to lay down the burden of a long and fruitful Episcopate, for we had many proofs of his fatherly care and affection. But our sorrow was turned into joy when his trusted Vicar-General, Your Grace, assumed the administration of the Archdiocese.

We are not unmindful of the many acts of kindness which Your Grace extended to us during the years you so ably assisted the late Archbishop in the administration of the Archdiocese. We gladly avail ourselves of this your first Episcopal visitation to offer Your Grace our warmest congratulations and to assure you of our fealty and reverence.

This is a day of days in this Parish of the Rosary, for Anniversary Sunday brings many tender memories. The older amongst us love to recall the old-time glory of the Cove under the benign rule of Father O'Connor. This venerable Church around which so many hallowed associations cling, is fast falling to decay, but we shall endeavour, with Your Grace's permission under the guidance of our pastor, to erect a more lasting monument as a proof that we are not altogether unworthy of those who have gone before us.

We therefore ask Your Grace to bless and place in position the first stone of the new Church, to-day, and as a memento of the occasion we beg you to accept this silver trowel.

That Your Grace may long be spared to rule the flock committed to your care is our sincere wish.

Signed on behalf of the people.
THOMAS WHITE, President.
JOHN LEAMY, Treasurer.

Amusements.

AT THE CRESCENT.

The beautiful special feature by the Lubin Company: "Her Martyrdom" will be given again to-day at the Crescent Picture Palace, the great Lubin stars Arthur V. Johnson and Lottie Briscoe assisted by all the Lubin Players render this domestic drama in faultless style. The prince of actors, Sydney Drew, features in "When Greek Meets Greek," and Wallace Perry excels himself in the most laughable comedy: "Sweetie and Her Dog."

Mr. Harvey Collins sings a beautiful ballad: "My Sweetheart Sue." Altogether this is a great hit, and you should not miss seeing it. On Wednesday the Crescent shows a detective drama in two reels: "The Apartment House Mystery."

BRITISH THEATRE.

The highly meritorious programme which was presented to patrons of the British yesterday was greatly appreciated by the most enthusiastic audiences. The two reel feature: "The Mystery of the Tea-Donsant" is faultless in style. The prince of actors, Sydney Drew, features in "When Greek Meets Greek," and Wallace Perry excels himself in the most laughable comedy: "Sweetie and Her Dog."

ROSSLEY THEATRE.

The patrons of Rossley's last night were handsomely repaid for their attendance. Ian MacKenzie in his entertainment "Scottish Song and Story" maintained the high reputation of his first week's performance. It was delightful when his clear and magnificent voice sang "The Standard on the Braes of Mac," "O a' the airts" and "Willies gane to Melville Castle." His stories were told with great charm. Miss Six Guehn was in splendid voice and received a great reception; also Mr. William Wallace the boy violinist. His performance was well received. The contest on Wednesday evening promises to be a great success and all intending competitors should at once send in their names to Mr. MacKenzie at Rossley's theatre as he is anxious to have a complete list as soon as possible. The feature films shown this week at Rossley's are some of the finest ever seen in the city.

BE SURE AND SEE "OGARRY OF THE ROYAL MOUNTED."

The opening bill at the Nickel Theatre this week was a splendid one, and attracted large audiences during yesterday afternoon and last evening. The programme found favor with all and well it might as it ranked among the best seen at the Nickel Theatre for some time. The great drawing card was the "Hingham" melodrama in three parts, entitled "O'Garry of the Mounted." This is a beautiful film and greatly pleased all. The singing of Messrs. Huskins and Cairns was another great feature of the show. This evening the program will be repeated and every lover of the movie should make an effort to attend. To-morrow there will be another grand programme with new songs and music.
