A Constructive Policy

To-day we publish a notable letter from Mr. Morine, K.C., replying to charges made by President Coaker to the F.P.U. Convention at Catalina early last month. Mr. Morine accepts as true the charge that he aims to eliminate the Union from politics, and justifies his aim by saying that the existence of a "group" is a menace to democratic government. He says that no political party should be allowed to exist which aims at the special good of a class rather than at the general good. He points out that members elected as delegates, pledged to resign, when asked, and led by one who is in truth an autocrat, is destructive of sound constitutional principles. But to another charge made by President Coaker, that Mr. Morine aims to destroy the Union "commercially," Mr. Morine convincingly replies that the Union cannot be saved financially unless it ceases to function politically. "Go out of politics, and practice business," says Mr. Morine, "and you can flourish commercially, but remain in politics, and you suffer the fate which has overcome all co-operative societies which have not confined themselves to a single object."

It is in this connection that Mr. Morine's letter becomes notable. Recognizing, as all acute observers do, that it is anxiety for their investments that has kept many disillusioned members of the Union subservient to Mr. Coaker in politics, and recognizing the moral responsibility of the public in this connection, Mr. Morine shows himself the constructive statesman that he undoubtedly is. The fishermen, he says, should have been treated as wards of the Colony. When Mr. Coaker and his agents were seeking investments from the fishermen, the governments of the day should have seen to it that the fishermen realised fully what they were asked to do, and for omission to discharge this duty, the colony is now morally responsible. The investors have a moral claim on the Colony for security for these investments, and, therefore, says Mr. Morine, pay back the money to the fishermen, or secure it to them with rightful interest, and place the Union Companies under business management, entirely free from politics.

And at this point, Mr. Morine becomes more constructive and progressive still. Recognising the fact that Union Companies, as co-operative marketing associations, have been started on a wrong basis, as he has shown in his letters on co-operative marketing, Mr. Morine advocates turning them into non-dividend associations, of which all the fishermen in the Colony should become members, so that all might share proportionately in net profits according to their purchases and sales through these companies. Were this done, the Union Export Company, with directors chosen by the fishermen, and under the ablest managers employable, could become a powerful marketing authority abroad, and lose by competition, so much belabored heretofore, be largely reduced. Mr. Morine has, therefore, solved two mighty questions, (a) how shall the money of Union investors be saved for them, and (b) how shall co-operative marketing abroad be instituted, so that all our fishermen may share in greater profits, and in his proposals, the public has the most constructive policy announced in this Colony for many a day.

Rotary Club Luncheon.

BOYS WORK COMMITTEE REPORTS. At to-day's luncheon of the Rotary Club the features were a brief talk on Rotary matters by the President Rotarian, Mr. H. E. Cowan, and the presentation of the report of the Boys' Work Committee by Rotarian V. P. Burke.

Only a few members of the Club were absent from the luncheon. The guests were Dr. Blackall, A. E. Hayward and A. B. Perlin, Evening Telegram. As is customary at all the Rotary luncheons, the proceedings were enlivened by the singing of choruses from the Rotary song sheet. After an excellent meal had been disposed of, Rotarian Cowan gave his five minute talk on Rotary matters, dealing with some of the more important principles of the organization. He was followed by Secretary V. P. Burke, Chairman of the Boys' Work Committee, who made his report. He stated that it was hoped a survey of the city would be made to discover the best method of learning the needs of the boys residing in it. He suggested that the city should be divided, for the purpose of this survey, into five wards and that a chairman and committee should be appointed for each. These would be a house to house canvass so as to obtain some idea of the conditions existing within the city with regard to boys of from six to sixteen years. Full particulars concerning each boy would be obtained and methods of helping them could then be suggested. Boys do not stay long enough at school, and efforts would be made to see that none discontinued their education until they had reached the age of fourteen years. In every walk of life the uneducated were outstripped by the educated. No matter how willing a boy might be to accomplish his work, his willingness was useless, unless he had a competitor both willing and trained. Dr. Burke thought that the realization of the aims mentioned in the report would do much towards improving the city. After his address the matter was thrown open for discussion amongst the members. Rotarian J. McKay, who was the chairman of the day, in his opening remarks made reference to the fact that last week's luncheon was an unique occasion in the respect that it was the first time His Excellency the Governor had attended a luncheon of any semi-public or public body since his arrival in this country. This statement was greeted with loud applause. The proceedings closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Schr. Smuggler Total Wreck.

CREW SAFE. Messages were received in the city to-day stating that the schooner Smuggler, Capt. George Parsons, is a total wreck at Catalina. The crew landed safely. The Smuggler was loaded at Little Bay Islands by Strong & Mursell with about 3,000 qts. of fish, and was on her way to this port, but had to put into Catalina for shelter. During the gale on Friday night the vessel dragged her anchors and went on the rocks. The schooner was formerly a Gloucester Banker, bought by Newfoundland parties, and for some time sailed out of Burin. About three years ago she was purchased by Messrs. Roberts and Parsons for the sum of sixteen thousand dollars.

TUESDAY, Jan. 3, '22. Cuticura Talcum, like Cuticura Soap, is a talcum powder quite above the average of toilet talcums, and can be depended upon as one of the finest, purest and best finished talcums in the market, while it is pleasantly and daintily perfumed with a distinctive odor. If you want an extra nice talcum for some special use, you need not go further than Cuticura Talcum to obtain it. Price 40c. a tin. If you suffer from stomach trouble, liverishness, gas on the stomach, or any kindred ills so common towards the close of the festive season, try a bottle of Imperial Saline, a few doses of which will probably set things right. Large bottle, 80c.

Week of Prayer.

A SEARCHING AND HELPFUL ADDRESS.
(I. C. M.)

Notwithstanding the unsettled state of the weather, the first service of the Week of Prayer for 1922, which was held at Gower Street Church last night, was very helpful. The pastor of the Church, Rev. E. W. Forbes conducted the service, and he was assisted by the Rev. Mr. Holden of the Congregational Church who led in Prayer. The topic of the evening was that of Repentance, and the speaker, the Rev. R. J. Power, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. This is Mr. Power's first appearance in the Week of Prayer, here in St. John's, and we take this opportunity of extending to him a hearty welcome in this wider aspect of Christian service, and to thank him for his searching and helpful message—for helpful it really was, and should certainly prepare the way for a still more helpful series of services all through the week. The speaker at once grappled with his subject and declared his intention of plain speaking. There were lots of sermons being preached on repentance topics but not many on the doctrine of Repentance. And yet repentance was a fundamental doctrine of Christianity. Mr. Power preached in the wilderness when he cried out and said, "Repent ye for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand." The son of God himself declared it in all the utterances of his three years of public ministry. The Apostles proclaimed it at Pentecost, and all their writings as contained in their epistles to the early Church were full of the preaching of Repentance. It was quite possible though to misunderstand the word and to apply to it an easier meaning than was intended. The reason for Repentance and the nature of it, were more than mere recantation of sin, and a full confession to God as the Apostle puts it, "A repentance that needeth not to be repented of again." It was deeper than contrition, and in the light of the sorrow of Gethsemane, and of the Sacrifice of Calvary, it should be fundamental. In continuing the address the Rev. speaker touched briefly upon those conditions of life which seem almost to challenge the Church. Both Church and State were face to face with problems which cause humiliation before God and men, and because of these things there was need of Repentance. Some may deem such things lightly, but penitence was none the less becoming among the people. In every age of Church history penitence was demanded, and at special times it was an obligation equally enforced upon all ranks, classes and conditions of men. The present time is such as calls for Repentance. The failures of the past, and the problems of the present, revealed human inadequacy, and plainly indicated that the standard of the Golden Rule was not being carried out. Such may be taken as an outline of the address; but we cannot do full justice to either the speaker or the address unless we had more space as well as more time. The service was a good one and we bespeak a deeper interest in to-night's meeting which is to be held at George Street Church.

Rotary Club Luncheon.

Sachem Sails.

The S.S. Sachem, Capt. Hayes, sailed for Boston, via Halifax on Sunday forenoon, taking a small outward freight and the following passengers:—F. and Mrs. Crane, J. A. MacKenzie, H. H. Farragot, Miss L. Wallis, C. Noonan, M. Connolly and Miss A. M. Richards.

Attempted Burglary.

Early Sunday morning a burglar attempted to gain admittance to the Green Lantern store, Theatre Hill, by breaking a pane of glass at the rear of the premises. The noise of the falling glass aroused those living in the neighbourhood, and the would-be burglar made off without leaving any clue to his identity.

A New Year Message.

In his notes incorporated into the Weekly Service order of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Rev. R. J. Power, M.A., sends the appended New Year Message which we believe is addressed to the people of Newfoundland at large. Anyway in following precepts and admonitions they need not fear the future. "In 1922 you will need faith. Take faith with you. Take hope with you. Take love with you also. Faith, hope, love! Companions on the way! And courage, cheer, resolution, these three also. Give yourself to your beloved country your country, your church, like a prince. Make St. John's a happier and safer place in which to live. Gather up all the evil and envy and do with them what the farmer does with thorns and thistles, burn them. Break your alabaster box of love above the heads of the broken in life and spirit. Stop saying disagreeable things this year; say pleasant things. Be less exacting. Do not expect much from your friends. Care for the sick and suffering ones as a gardener cares for illies and roses. If the torch has fallen from your hand the past year, pick it up and light it again at the altar of God, then lift it high and carry it forward. Let us make 1922 the most beautiful year of our lives."

THE MUSICAL SUCCESS OF THE SEASON.

Light and action, color and motion, music and the dancing, made a picturesque and alluring combination at the Casino Theatre last night, when that famous English musical comedy "The Quaker Girl" was staged under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor and His Grace the Archbishop, and the auspices of the Columbus Ladies' Association. Probably a more capacity audience never before greeted the rising of the curtain, and from the moment of the overture to the final chorus and the singing of the National Anthem, there was not a dull moment in the whole performance. The huge audience was enraptured as testified by the thunders of applause and the repeated demands for encores, to all of which the performers so honoured responded. It would be invidious to select any particular member of the cast for distinction, but there are times when this must be done, and therefore we have no hesitation whatever in according the laurels of the evening to Miss Louise de la Front, "The Quaker Girl." Miss Madeleine Kavanagh as Phoebe, maid to Princess Mathilde; Miss M. Egan as Princess Mathilde; Mrs. Chas. Hutton as Mme. Blum of the Matson Blum, Paris; Miss V. Crocker as Toine; Mr. W. Wallace as Jeremiah a recalcitrant Quaker; Dr. C. J. Howlett as Tony Chute, an American Naval Attaché at Paris; Mr. F. J. King as Captain Charteris, who marries the Princess, and Mr. Karl Trappnell as Monsieur LaRose, the Parisian Chief of Police, whose disguises were varied, but who could not conceal the limp which gave him away. The other performers, all of whom starred were Miss L. Miller as Diane, a Parisian actress; Mrs. F. J. King as Mrs. Lukynlandy of the Chequers Inn; Miss Olive Major as Rachel Pym, a Quakeress; Mr. S. O'Leary as Monsieur Duhamel, a French Minister of State; Mr. A. Lawrence, as Prince Carlo; Mr. C. Udie, as William, waiter at the Chequers; Mr. W. J. Carson as Nathaniel Pym, the chief Quaker of the village; Mr. E. V. Spry as "Jarge," the village crier. The veteran conductor Prof. Charles Hutton wielded the baton in his own unexcelled manner, his orchestra being: Piano, Mr. J. McCarthy; 1st Violins, Miss T. Power, Mr. F. W. Bradshaw; 2nd Violins, Messrs. L. Marshall, J. Phelan, J. Burley; Bass Violin, Mr. A. Stafford; Cornets, 1st, Mr. J. Skinner, 2nd, Mr. P. Fitzgerald; Clarinets, Mr. English, Mr. T. Fennessey; Horn, Mr. A. Bulley; Trumpets, Mr. J. Cronin. The dancing of Misses Doris Mews and Doris Withers in the third act was a special feature, delighting all and being thunderously endorsed. "The Quaker Girl" was the recipient of a magnificent bouquet of flowers, in recognition of her splendid dancing and willingness to respond to an encore. The play will be repeated to-night, His Grace the Archbishop being present. To-morrow night His Excellency the Governor will occupy the Vice-regal box.

Would Make Radical Changes in Union.

HOW IT SHOULD BE CONDUCTED.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir:—To the F.P.U. Convention, at Catalina, on the 2nd inst. President Coaker said: "Morine purposes to destroy your Union politically." In the sense that I wish to terminate the continuance of the F.P.U. as a partisan political party, the charge is true. It is untrue that I would destroy the Union as a political influence for public good, if it were possible to separate its partisanship from its potentiality for good. As a "group," the Union in politics is a menace to democratic government. As an "influence," promoting and supporting good measures and able men, on their merits only, the Union might be a bulwark of the Colony. In practice, the Union, under Coaker, sacrificed principle for patronage when it coalesced under Morris, and it has sunk to the depths of political infamy under Squibbs. It elects members of the Assembly, pledged to its selfish "group" interests, without merit or right qualifications, and obligated to vote as required, or to resign when asked, and, therefore, it is destructive of sound constitutional doctrine—it is undemocratic, inasmuch as it does not aim at the greatest good of all, but only the financial good of its own members. Its representatives in the Government have exhibited no special ability, and its President has been the most costly freak in office the Colony has ever suffered. By his Regulations, his railway experiments, his fishery fiascos and salt and other scandals, he has made the present government a tragedy to the Colony. In localities where Union lodges exist, local self-government has been monopolized by a form of soviet, the rights of non-members have been ruthlessly disregarded, and as much damage has been done in local affairs as by the central authority in the larger matters concerning the Colony. In truth, the Union in politics is a Newfoundland Tammany Hall, under "Boss" Coaker, and exists solely for the aggrandizement of himself and his supine tools. No good measure has been promoted by it, no competent man has been placed by it in the public service, but colonial and locally Newfoundland has deteriorated under its baleful influence. Regeneration will not commence until all intelligent people in Newfoundland band together to destroy this hydra headed political monster.
