-Acts Queerly - Who Owns It?

There was a genuine mad dog scare on William street near Grey yesterday afternoon, and as a result a little girl has a cauterized hand, and a spaniel dog is a prisoner, awaiting develop-

The little 4-year-old daughter of Mr. Thomas Evans, of 152 William street, was playing in her father's yard, when the dog entered. The animal appeared to be all right, but as it came near the girl it snapped at her, sinking its teeth into her hand. The screams of the child brought the other members of the family to her. Medical aid was summoned at once, and the dog was

Today the little girl was resting very easily. The dog was still in the barn, and still acted queerly, although Mr. Evans thought that distemper might be the trouble with it. Mr. Evans is cashier at the M. C. R. depot. The dog is a nice specimen of a black cocker spaniel. It had no tag and nothing to identify it except a leather collar and brass buckle.

A Good Investment.

There is no surer or better way to invest spare funds than in endowment policies in a well-established and prosperous company. The returns may not be as large as in some other lines, but when taken in connction with the protection afforded to the life assured in the event of early death, no more desirable investment is possible. Dr. Moore, of Brampton, took out an en dowment policy of $1,000 in July, 1880, which matured on the 1st inst. The The policy returned to him $133 for every $100 he paid in premiums, yielding 3 1-2 per cent, compound interest, besides fifteen years' insurance. The following letter to the Ontario Mutual Life Assurance Company will show that Dr. Moore has been eminently well pleased with his policy in that com-

"Brampton, July 1, 1895. "Gentlemen,-

"I have received your check for $1,012 97, being in full of my endowment policy 5,243 in your company, which matures today. A better result could not be had in safe lines. I have had fifteen years' insurance, and have got back all the money I paid in, with such a handsome amount added as proves it to have been an excellent investment. I have to thank you for the promptness and courtesy which any communications of mine have al-ways received at your hands. Yours "CHAS. Y. MOORE."

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhea, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief, and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

They settled in Nissouri, in a clearing in the forest. over half a century ago, and there Mrs. Logan still lives. The old lady retains all her faculties, and remembers when in the early pioneering days of herself and her husband they had to bring their sheep into their log hut one severe winter to save them from the wolves. Even then the animals were so ferocious that they came and placed their front paws on the sill of the only window the place could boast of, and pressed their faces against the pane. Mrs. Logan has seen Middlesex grow from the virgin forest to be the head center of Western Ontario. Her children are Robert (G. T. STRANGE RELATIONSHIPS.

It is rarely that a daughter becomes her mother's mother-in-law, yet this curious coincidence does occasionally lappen.

A friend of mine, a colonel in the army, had been a widower for some years, and resided with his sons and daughters in Plymouth. At a ball given by the officers of his regiment he met a beautiful young girl, with whom he fell desperately in love, and, to make a long story short, they were soon married. At the year's end there was an addition to the family. Of course, the mother came to be with her daughter on this interesting occasion, and, being handsome, well-preserved woman the colonel's eldest son became much attached to her, and before long led her to the hymeneal altar. Thus the daughter became mother-in-law to her own mother. Another strange relationship is that of a lady who is mother-in-law to her two sisters in a somewhat similar fashion to the above, they having married her stepsons. I myself am cousin to my own sister, she having espoused my husband's first cousin, and am second cousin to my nephews-her sons. -Tit-Bits.

One of the best attractions to our citizens on Monday next (Civic Holiday) is the excursion to Niagara Falls under the auspices of Court Forest Queen, Ancient Order of Foresters. The rate for a two-day excursion has been put within the reach of all, ling only $1 75, so that none need be deterred from attending on that score. The many attractions at the Falls make this a most pleasant resort, and it is becoming more popular every year.
