NURSING MOTHERS.

t is a valuable book, and we thank yo ready been a help to us. The reason we thought we had better use Mellin's Food with our boy was that the mother's milk was failing, although she had used malt liquors to keep up the supply of milk. We fed the baby for two days with Mellin's Food, nursing alternately, the mother meanwhile using Mellin's Food herself three times a day. The mother used Mellin's Food for the first time fust before retiring for the night, and all that night and the next day the flow of milk was very much increased. flow of milk was very much increased, and has been of sufficient quantity and quality to supply the baby ever since, so that at the present time she nurses the baby, and uses Mellin's Food for herself three times a day.

www It frequently happens that after the mother has nursed her baby for a short time, she finds that her surply of milk is insufficient. Then it is that Mellin's read is of invelvable seitages to her Food is of invaluable assistance to her Mellin's Food, if taken by the mother, will not only increase the quantity but also improve the quality of the mother's milk and make it pos-sible for her to continue to nurse her

Write to us (a rostal will do) and we will send, free of expense, a sample of Mellin's Food.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Feb. 2, 1897. I know Hop Bitters will bear recom-mendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums, and give them credit for making cures—all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined. So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them-something have never done before with any other
