RUSSIAN TRIES TO HANG SELF IN HOSPITAL

GIANTS AND YANKEES RESUME BATTLE AFTER ATTEMPTING TO APPEASE DISSATISFIED CROWDS

Managements Give Entire Proceeds to Disabled Soldiers to Quiet Cries of Fans, Angry at Calling Thursday Game—Scott Chosen to Lead National League Champions, Opposing Hoyt of Yanks.

THE SCORE BY INNINGS

YANKS 0 0 0 0 0
GIANTS 0 0 2 0 0

Batteries:
GIANTS—SCOTT AND SMITH.
YANKEES—HOYT AND SCHANG.

Polo Grounds, Oct. 6.—The day was warm and clear and a light breeze from the north wafted away the heavy October haze that had been bothering the batters of both teams, as they lined up for the third game of the world series this afternoon.

The Giants were the home folks today, and were first on the field for batting practice. The gates to the unreserved stands were closed an hour before game time, and hundreds were turned away.

Giants and Yankees, having attempted to appease thousands of fans who were not a whit satisfied with the second world's series game called by umpires in the tenth inning with the score tied 3-3, by giving the entire day's receipts to disabled soldiers and charity, returned today to the business of settling the championship.

The umpires said it was too dark to play when they called the ball, but there were few fans who agreed with them about the conditions of daylight.

Some three or four thousand of the fans couldn't forget their dissatisfaction. They raised such an agitation and started such a current of gossip and comment, uncompunctuated by baseball management generally, that the owners of the clubs announced they wouldn't keep one red cent of the gate money.

And so the third game, with the Giants "at home" again is on today. McGraw's men still have the edge, having won the first game, and today they will play behind Pitcher Jack Scott, who displayed quite some "swirling cunning" during the latter part of the season. Miller Huggins has selected Waite Hoyt, the youth who caused the Giants no end of worry in the 1921 series in an effort to even things.

Ryan and McQuillan are in shape and ready to assist Scott should the Yankees batter take too kindly to his delivery. Carl Mays warmed up yesterday when it looked as if Shawkey might not go so well, and he is allotted the same job today.

Prospects for the third game were excellent at 10 o'clock this morning. The day gave every promise of being fair and slightly warmer. McGraw is elated over the showing of his pitchers. "They said they weren't in a class with those of the Yankees. Neft, Ryan and Barnes haven't been so awful, have they?" he remarked this morning.

Today's batting order:
YANKEES GIANTS
Witt, c.f. Bancroft, ss.
Dugan, 3b. Groh, 3b.
Ruth, r.f. Frisch, 2b.
Pipp, 1b. E. Meusel, 1b.

Freshies Take Medicine As Co-Eds Look On In Awe

HOLD BAREFOOT PARADE.

THAT facial beauty should be thus so marred! And while fair eyes, so helpless, looked on! But it just had to happen, or "sophs" would not be "freshies" and "freshies" would, or to be more explicit, the initiation of the first-year men at Western University by the second-year men. Was it a success? Ask the "freshies."

Before 8 o'clock, the "sophs" were on hand and had all accoutrements and useful weapons prepared, and one by one, and two by two, as "freshies" are wont to appear at "U," they came. The saying: "By their red ties ye shall know them," didn't work out very well, as some showed courageous defiance of the advice to wear old clothes—to their sorrow. Other means of identification served just as well, however, and the rumble of a rickety wheelbarrow along the sacred paths of the venerable old school, in transit to the "strong-room" in the basement, told of two more "freshies" bound and tied.

Then something happened. Some unknown and pitying hand was untangling the "freshies," and a scuffle announced their momentary freedom. The battle began in earnest, and for a time things looked bad for the "sophs." The rush for vantage points resulted in a scrimmage in front of the main building, and led by "Big Jack" Hungerford, the "freshies" for a moment held the upper hand.

Freshies Bind Tormentors.
During that sad moment, three "sophs" submitted to a reversal of punishment and were found tied hand and foot on a remote section of campus. By this time, however, "sophs" took charge of proceedings again, and the procession of paint-pots, red paint, yellow paint, green paint, brown paint, and paint without color or name, began.

From one fair coat, standing helplessly, plying—who knows—her Romeo, came the quotation: "O, ye hard hearts! Ye cruel men of Western!" But the "freshies," mindful of other days, worked on "side-burns" were carefully and fashionably placed with variegated colors, and "sky noses" prominently displayed. Every known kind of moustache from the milled "Char-Turn to Page 2, Column 2."

STILL HOPEFUL OF OUTCOME OF PARLEY IN EAST

British Claim Mudania Conference in Deadlock, But Still Intact.
TO CONFER WITH FRENCH
Claim Turks Ask More Than Offered in Allied Note.

London, Oct. 6.—The Mudania conference is not ended, it was officially stated at the conclusion of the British cabinet meeting this morning, but it is deadlocked and cannot be resumed before the British and French governments have conferred over the situation.

Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, will leave immediately for Paris to see Premier Poincaré.

It was also officially stated, in rough outline, that from the British point of view, the Turks were demanding more than was offered in the allied note, and, on the other hand, that they were not accepting the conditions of that note.

It was asserted that the Turks want to obtain the concessions of the note without the conditions. Before Lord Curzon boarded a train for Paris, he was asked why he was going to the French capital. "To discuss matters with our friends the Allies," the foreign secretary replied.

To a question as to what would be the subject of such discussion, he responded it would naturally be the Near East.

"But I cannot speak of these difficulties until they are removed," he added.

The foreign secretary seemed in quite an optimistic frame of mind. The cabinet debated the situation in its entirety, but the main point appeared to be the question of Thrace. It is understood the British view is that there should be some consideration given the Greek minority population there and what happens to it if the Turks were permitted to enter.

On broad lines, the British policy, it was stated, is the same as it has been since the Greek debacle, which means that the British are opposed to the Turks crossing the straits before the peace conference.

The French and Italians, it was declared, have not the same positive views with regard to Thrace as the British, and it was stated that until the various viewpoints could be brought closer together the British could not reply to the Ankara note regarding the peace conference.

Things were going well at the Mudania conference, it was explained, until yesterday, when Ismet Pasha declined to recede from his demand regarding Thrace. It was stated in official circles that the visits of ex-Premier Venizelos of Greece had not changed the views of the British cabinet and that Venizelos realized it was inevitable that the Greeks must evacuate Eastern Thrace.

TO CONFER AGAIN.
Constantinople, Oct. 6.—After conferring for most of the night with the high commissioners and military experts here, the allied generals this morning prepared to leave again for Mudania for a resumption of the armistice conference.

PROTEST REINFORCEMENT.
Paris, Oct. 6.—The French government has instructed its minister at Athens to protest against the Greek government having sent reinforcements to the Greek army in Thrace.

MAY ASK BOARD TO MOVE FROM OFFICE ROOMS

Utilities Commission Threatens to Force School Trustees to Vacate.

FOLLOWS TAX THREAT

Finds Business of Hydro Shop Needs Additional Floor Space.

Life seems to be just one trouble after another for the members of the London Board of Education.

Just as the trustees and their officials were commencing to think that they were on "easy street" again, along comes the disquieting intimation from the public utilities commission that they will have to vacate the top floor of the utility building.

The hydro business is expanding, officials of that department announce, and the time has come when further accommodation must be found. Manager E. V. Buchanan proposes that the entire first floor of the utility building be devoted to the hydro shop purposes. This will necessitate the transfer of the offices to the third floor, now occupied by the board of education.

Sees Hitch Looming.
It is at this juncture, however, that the casual observer discerns the probable hitch in the proceedings. The school trustees, secure in the belief that they hold a 10-year lease on the premises, will decline to move, and it may be incumbent upon the hydro employees to forcibly eject the board of education officials, bag and baggage as it were.

"I understand that the board has a 10-year lease on this floor," explained W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board, "although I have never viewed the document myself. There has been some question about this, but I believe that Trustee A. A. Langford claims to have been chairman of the committee when the agreement was consummated."

When this issue was briefly discussed by the public utilities commissioners in session Thursday, the remark was dropped nonchalantly by one of their number that the board of education "could not prove there was any 10-year lease."

Lease Perhaps Lost.
It is now publicly established that if any such contract was entered into between the commission and the board, the same has either been mislaid or was a verbal agreement.

"I suppose that the trustees consider it to be a gentleman's agreement," Manager Buchanan commented Friday. "Well it is just possible that as the trustees are so anxious that we live up to such agreements in connection with school taxes that we shall insist that they vacate just as soon as we need the space for increased accommodation in the near future. The hydro shop business is steadily increasing, and if another floor is not added to the present structure it will soon be necessary to use the space now occupied by the school trustees."

In the meanwhile the commissioners have authorized the expenditure of about $1,000 for a small mezzanine floor in the hydro shop, as the floor manager's department. This will not entirely solve the spacing problem, however.

RED CROSS TO AID FIRE SUFFERERS

London Branch Calls Emergency Meeting to Provide Clothing.

Acting upon request received by telegram from the Ontario headquarters in Toronto, the London branch of the Canadian Red Cross called an emergency meeting of the executive on Friday morning, to plan for assistance with relief work for the Northern Ontario fire sufferers.

The London branch has been specially asked to provide underclothing, and the cutters, under the con- veyance of Mrs. J. M. Slater, are getting busy at once, in order to have cut out garments ready for shipment to the workers by Tuesday, Oct. 12.

The headquarters at 377 Wellington street, will be open that day from 10 o'clock in the morning until 5 in the afternoon, and all voluntary workers are urged to assist in the day in view of the great need.

Children's clothing in good condition is also wanted, and this will be gladly received at the same time.

REMOVE WHEAT RESTRICTIONS.
Washington, Oct. 6.—All restrictions on the exportation of wheat from British India have been removed, according to a report to the commerce department today from Trade Commissioner Batchelder at Calcutta.

Inspector Dies

J. E. KEENLEYSIDE.

CITY License Inspector J. E. Keenleyside passes at his home, 326 King street, early this morning.

DEATH CLAIMS J. KEENLEYSIDE

Well-Known License Inspector Dies Friday Morning After Brief Illness.

Was Active in Fraternal and Church Circles of London.

In the passing of James E. Keenleyside, license inspector for London and Middlesex, at his residence, 326 King street, at an early hour Friday morning, London is bereft of a prominent and well-known citizen, who was untiring in his efforts to promote everything that is good, in the city circles.

Mr. Keenleyside had been ill for some three weeks and was confined to his room for that length of time. This was practically the first serious illness that he had suffered during his lifetime, and although his condition was known to be grave, the news of his death came as a shock to his immediate relatives and many friends, in whose high esteem he was held.

He was born in London Township in the year 1855, being 67 years of age, and lived in London and vicinity all his life. In 1895, Mr. Keenleyside was elected as a school trustee on the board of education, being placed on No. 2 committee, as well as holding the position as a representative of the Western Fair Board in that year.

Mr. Keenleyside was a member of the board of education for the term of two years, and to the regret of his fellowmen he did not come up for election at the commencement of the next term. While in this office, he was untiring in his work to advance everything for which that body stands.

Inspector Six Years.
Inspector Keenleyside was a son of the late Anthony Keenleyside, who was popular in London. For the past six years he had held the office of License Inspector in the city, and his associates speak of him as a man of keen ability and strong character, which is a decided asset to this profession.

He was an active member of the First Methodist Church, and his good work in the different leagues of that church is well known by everyone. Mr. Keenleyside had been a member of St. John's Lodge, 209a, A. F. and A. M. G. R. C., for the past 43 years, having joined in 1879. In 1906 he was elected secretary of that lodge, which office he faithfully filled until Turn to Page 2, Column 1.

CANNOT PRESERVE BEATTY'S SHIP

London, Oct. 6.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The admiralty announces that it is impossible to accede to the desire expressed in many quarters to preserve Admiral Earl Beatty's flagship, Lion, as it was specifically mentioned in the Washington treaty among the capital ships that were to be scrapped. Moreover, the cost of maintaining the Lion as a national relic would be very large.

T. & N. O. RESTORE SERVICE IN NORTH

Hamilton, Oct. 6.—Col. John I. McLaren, a T. & N. O. commissioner, received word this morning from the secretary of the commission that the company had been able to restore its normal service in Northern Ontario, except on the Elk Lake branch, which runs through a district not affected by the fire. Workmen are busy restoring the telegraph and power service. Col. McLaren will leave for Northern Ontario on Sunday.

DIES AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT.

Ottawa, Oct. 6.—Ten-year-old Eve Marenada, 74 Aberdeen street, who was run over by an automobile driven by John Flood of Hull last Wednesday, died in a local hospital last night.

ATTEMPTS TO TAKE OWN LIFE WHEN POLICE FOIL PLAN TO ESCAPE PRISON

Powell Martinchuk, Windsor Man Wounded in Gun Fight With London Police, Found by Attendants Suspended by Wire—Believed To Be Head of Bolshevik Organization in District.

Disappointed by the frustration of plans for his delivery from custody, Powell Martinchuk, the Russian who ran amuck with an automatic gun and was shot in battle with Motorcycle Officer Gavin Monahan, and who, Chief Robert Birrell states, is head of the Bolshevik organization work in this district, attempted to take his own life by hanging at Victoria Hospital last night.

Attendants at the hospital found the prisoner unconscious with a noose of wire from the signal light over his bed in the cage, drawn tightly about his neck, and called medical attention in time to prevent him from accomplishing his object.

REFUGEES FROM FIRE ZONE PITCH TENTS IN RUINS

Stoically Prepare to Begin Life Anew When Relief Train Arrives.

FEAR LONGER DEATH LIST

Officials Believe Heavy and Tragic Toll Taken in Farming Districts.

North Bay, Oct. 6.—By Staff Correspondent. Canadian Press.—The relief train carrying tents, blankets, clothing and food is on its way north today. It arrived in Cobalt last night and without delay these requisites were loaded on trucks, which made their way into the devastated areas.

Premier Drury and Chairman Lee of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission, are on the train overseeing the arrangements, and many of the refugees who have been night and the night before were in crowded houses in Cobalt will tonight be camping on the sites of their former homes. Those pioneers treat lightly, even the women, the prospect of living in tents in weather like this. One could not but be impressed with the indomitable spirit of the north here today as families after families, people who had lost everything, prepared to go back and begin over again. Many of these settlers' wives are insisting on leaving the homes in North Bay in which they have been housed since the disaster, to return to the land which today is one of desolation.

Death List Larger.
The indications today are that the death list is larger than was at first supposed, for while, evidently, the number of victims in the fire at Haldimand, and in the fire at Haldimand, there will be under a dozen, there will be heavy and tragic lists from the farming districts. A few more bodies have been identified at Haldimand. The woman given last night as Mrs. Boone, is Mrs. Samuel Boone, while the body found in the ruins of the pretentious residence owned by the late Col. Hays is Turn to Page 2, Column 1.

BRITISH LAUD SIR HENRY THORNTON AS SUPERMAN

Newspaper Declares New Head of Canadian National Roads Loss to England.

London, Oct. 6.—(Canadian Press Cable).—"England loses a superman" is one newspaper heading announcing the appointment of Major-General Sir Henry North Thompson as president of the Canadian National Railways.

The appointment is described as a striking instance of the tendency of high railway officials here to seek new outlets for their talents and energies as a consequence of the gradual extensions of national schemes of railway amalgamations. Sir Henry Thornton particularly enhanced his reputation in England by his handling of the Great Eastern Railway's prodigious suburban traffic. He proved that the successful handling of big traffic depended not so much on the frequency and speed of trains as on the celerity of emptying trains at station platforms.

CONDEMNNS NEW BILL OF MODERATION LEAGUE

Winnipeg, Oct. 6.—J. Kensington Downes, former secretary of the Moderation League and member-elect of the legislature, at a meeting of the league last night condemned the league's new bill, because it does not provide for supply of beer with meals at hotels and licensed clubs, and yet providing for the sale of beer by the case, it was class legislation of the "ranked kind," declared Mr. Downes.
