I. J. F. ROGERS, FASHIONABLE TAILOR, LATELY FROM NEW YORK.

HAS the honor to announce to the Inhabitants of St. George, and its vicinity, that he has commenced business in the house formerly occupied by Mr. Wm. Armstrong, fronting the Public Landing, where he is prepared to execute all orders in his line, in the most fashionable style, with neatness and promptitude. Having just arrived from the United States, where he has been employed in some of the most celebrated Establishments in Philadelphia, New York and Boston, trusts, that his long experience, knowledge, and superior workmanship, with a desire to please, will entitle him to public patronage. Garments warranted to fit, before leaving his shop.

The Fashions received Quarterly from New York.

COMMUNICATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE STANDARD.

Dear Sir—A few weeks ago, I observed some remarks in the Charlotte Gazette, concerning the "Commons Lands," and as one concerned in the matter, I feel somewhat interested. As the Gazette mentioned a meeting that had been held respecting these lands, the particular object of which I am not fully aware, I am therefore desirous to know more, as well as many others in the community, and as I was not present at the meeting, and have not since seen a correct report of the proceedings, I must content myself for the present with hearsay.

If the meeting was convened for the purpose of devising means whereby this land could become freehold, I can see no dishonour in it;—if it was for the purpose of obtaining longer leases, I would consider it no very unreasonable request,—if it was to get better leases, I can see nothing wrong in it; for it must be evident to all who know anything about it, that the leases of the Commons are not what they should be, as I understand it, the greater part of them are for the term of seven years, at the end of the term they are renewed at the same rent for seven years, or are taken from the tenant,—only paying him for frame buildings, cedar and stone fences. Now I would ask what reasonable man would say such a lease is good enough. What encouragement is there for improvement in such leases? Now Sir, just to take a fair view of the case, let us suppose for instance, that a man were to purchase fifty acres of this land, subject to a seven years lease, and he wanted to make it his home for life—suppose the land almost covered with bushes, some stones, and has never been ploughed, as one half or more of the Commons land is at the present time. Well, he pays for the land, and build a convenient brick or stone cottage—plant a good orchard and garden, and fence all in with a picket or pale fence, then pay ten or twelve dollars per acre for clearing the land, and as much for draining, and as cedar is not cheap, perhaps he would fence one half of his farm with spruce or pine boards or pickets, and the other half with stones; now just add these items together, and see what they amount to. Why, something like eight or nine hundred pounds! Are not all these improvements? About the time all this is done, his lease is out, and the proprietors look at it, they see that his place is worth £500 or £1000, and all they have to do is to pay him for his house and a few rods of stone fence, in all perhaps £100, and leave it to him, or any other person just as they think proper. Now I do not say this would be dishonest, for it is the bargain, but after all I cannot help thinking it is a hard bargain. Is it to be wondered at, that people under a heavy rent and leases of this kind, should at least strive to better their situations, or as many have done, leave their places after years of toil, not being able to realize for the whole, one third of what the improvements cost.

Hoping this subject will be taken up by some able hand,

I am Yours, FRASER-PLAY.

From our Frederickton Correspondent.

Frederickton, 1st March, 1851.

Mr. Editor—The business of the Session proceeds slowly, and many of the new members who came determined to finish it in five or six weeks, will find that, with all their exertions, it will last perhaps eighty days. The truth is, that with the best intentions, and the most eager endeavours individually, they are obstructed by one another, and some of them begin now, for the first time, to doubt the truth of the charges against previous Houses, for wasting their time, just for the purpose of prolonging the Session and increasing their own pay. The present Speaker too, with the most earnest endeavours to expedite the business, finds it no easy task to keep the House in order. All these causes will tend to prolong the sitting. Besides they are now in the fourth week, and all the great measures of the Session untouched. Bills are brought in for Municipal Corporations, for the Education of Youth, and for the Election of the Legislative Council, but they yet lie quietly on the table. The initiation question has been mooted, but it yet lies untouched. The great questions of Free Trade and Protection have not yet been asked. No Committee of Ways and Means—No Revenue Act, or estimate of the Revenue for the current year, preparatory to granting the Supplies. These last are all preliminary measures, and must proceed from the House of Assembly before the Government can move on in the matter. There are also, at least five or six hundred petitions to be in some way disposed of, and many of them must give rise to long and tedious enquiries, investigations, and discussions; add to these the two grand bills that will be brought in and many of them passed into laws, and we have some idea of the mass of business, which some of our wise men came here to dispose of in five or six weeks. On the subject of retrenchment they have debated about seventy hours, and therefore spent well on to £1000 in time without saving any thing worth the naming. It would be hard to say who is to blame for this, many have opinions peculiar to themselves, and it is hard to get a majority to agree to any thing.

Mr. Street, the new attorney general, made an exposure of his principles in a long speech which has been correctly reported and published, and which will probably give a good deal of satisfaction to reasonable and considerate men. The Government of which he is to be the leader is not yet filled up, and he mentions other changes yet to be made, but who are to be the new incumbents has not yet transpired.

Fisher has again been rejected by the men of York, and MacPherson has been returned. English has been returned for Carleton, so now the seats in the Assembly are full. The Charter of European and North American Railway has passed both Houses. Mr. Wilson is here, as usual, in behalf of the Saint Andrews and Quebec line. Several gentlemen from Saint Stephen have been here, some urging, and others opposing the Charter for a Bridge over the Saint Croix at the public Landing, the question has been referred to a select Committee. There has been a call of the Legislative Council for the consideration of the Bill to make that body Elective, when a field day may be expected. There has been a political crisis here ever since the great debate, but some of the knowing ones affirm that Ritchie and his friends are but "nursing their wrath to keep it warm," and that by and bye they will make another onset as furious as ever.

Yours,
JACK ROBINSON.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

March 4th, 1851.

The Committees were sitting this morning, and it was a late hour before the House commenced business.

The House went into Committee, and passed a Bill authorizing Commissioners of Roads to make such additional regulations as would cause the Great Roads to be kept open. The House also went into Committee and passed a Bill to amend an error in the Consolidation law of last year, by which vessels touching at the port of Dalhousie were charged but one half penny tonnage; instead of a penny.

A Bill (introduced by Mr. Barberie) to repeal the bear and wolf duty was committed, and after some discussion progress was reported.

The House next went into Committee of the whole on a Bill to provide for the payment of the President and members of the Legislative Council. After a brief discussion, hon. members thought it better to postpone the consideration of the Bill until the Bill for Elective Legislative Councils (now in the Upper House) was disposed of. Progress was therefore reported.

The House adjourned at a quarter past four.

THE CREATION OF WOMAN.

A poet in the Keene Repository, celebrating the works of old Dame Nature, has an idea which comes very near being original, if it be not quite so.

"She next made woman—so the story goes—
With an improved material and art;
Gave her a form, the choicest one of those
That make aught beautiful, and to her heart
A power to soften man—and forced the rose
Its blushing tint to her soft cheek impart—
Then chopped the rainbow up, and with the chips
She went to work and finished off her lips!"

Miss Power—A gentleman in Kirkcaldy, Scotland, has trained a couple of mice and invented machinery enabling them to spin cotton yarn. They have been employed about twelve months. The work is done on the tread-mill principle. It is so constructed that the common house mouse is enabled to make stonement to society for past offences, by twisting, twining and reeling from one hundred to one hundred and twenty Yds threads per day. To complete this little pedestrian has to run ten and a half miles. A half-penny's worth of oatmeal at fifteen pence per peck serves one of the tread-wheel culprits for the long period of five weeks. In that time it makes one hundred and ten threads per day. At this rate, a mouse earns nine pence every five weeks, which is seven shillings and five pence per annum. Take six pence off for board, and one shilling for machinery, there will arise six shillings clear profit from every mouse annually. The mouse employer was going to make application for the lease of an old empty house, which will hold ten thousand mouse mills, sufficient room being left for keepers, and some hundred spectators. Allowing for rent, masters, interest and machinery, there will be a balance of $10,000 per annum.

CARRYING HER TED ON HER BACK.

A Miss Gray's Journal has lately exhibited to the Clerk of the Peace Court, and contained no less than ten pounds of feathers, which she was charged with having stolen from her lodgings. She denied the robbery, and declared that ten pounds of feathers was the usual complement of the buskins she wore.

THE CARLETON SENTINEL STATES THAT IMMEDIATELY

after the Sheriff declaring Mr. English, duly elected a Member to serve in the Assembly: the freeholders present held a meeting at which resolutions were passed. The plan is a good one, as the members about leaving for the Legislature, are there made acquainted with the opinions of their constituents on the leading questions of the day. The meeting having been organized, by appointing a chairman and secretary, the following resolutions were passed:—

Moved by H. E. Dibble, Esq., and seconded by R. A. Hay, Esq., and unanimously

Resolved, As the opinion of this Meeting, that the St. Andrews and Quebec Railroad, now in process of erection, is an enterprise that promises to be of the most incalculable benefit and importance to this section of the Province, and that our Representatives are expected to advocate most strenuously, before the House any measure, best calculated to secure its completion.

Moved by H. E. Dibble Esq. seconded by the Rev G. Spurr, and unanimously

Resolved, As the opinion of this meeting, that the present educational system in this Province is defective; and that the means best calculated to remedy this evil, and more generally diffuse the blessing of education, will be by direct taxation on property, in the same way that rates are now assessed for other purposes in this County.

Moved by R. A. Hay, Esq., seconded by Mr. Joseph Rideout and unanimously

Resolved, That copies of the foregoing resolutions be presented to our Representatives for their guidance in the General Assembly.

By the Meeting,
A. E. S. WETMORE,
Secretary.

BRAVERY AND MATRIMONY.

There are many ways of displaying courage. There is the courage which faces the cannon's mouth, and the courage which dares to speak the truth, but as an instance of bravery in old age the following is most remarkable!

Capt. John Hartan, a veteran of the last war with Great Britain, and for many years superintendent of the Fifth Ward Market, marched boldly to Alderman Parkinson's office, on Tuesday last, and took to wife a blooming girl of twenty summers. When we inform our readers that seventy-three winters have frosted the head of the happy bridegroom, his bravery will be appreciated by Pincham Di-branch.

What an infatuated old man! But, here is an offer, where two gentlemen are appalled at finding themselves in the matrimonial noose, while the ladies display the most heroic fortitude!

The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer says:—

There is a good deal of excitement in Harlem, in consequence of two gentlemen and two ladies being married without their knowing it. The ceremony was performed in sport, and when informed the next day that the marriage was legal according to law, there was a great consternation. The brides, I learn, are willing to abide by the marriage, but the bridegrooms are not, and refuse to recognize the ceremony at all. One of them is heir to a great deal of property. The subject will be brought before our courts or before the legislature.

DONKEYISH. A Boston editor, noticing a new poem, says, The writer has chosen for the motto of his little page, Lend me your ears; a superfluous request, as his own are of more than ordinary length, judging from a brief perusal of his rhymes.

FRESH PROVISIONS FOR THE CANIBALS.

A company composed of thirty-two young girls, recently emigrated to New Zealand, from New London.

On St. Valentine's day a gentleman in Boston had a male child, snugly wrapped up in linen, left at his door. A very substantial love token! Another person in Northampton, received through the post office, two live mice enclosed in Valentine's. But a gentleman in this city was the victim of a still more security trick! He received a valentine, and opening it with eager hands, read a LAWYER'S LETTER! What a cold bath that must have been to his fond anticipations.

"Once," said a Quaker, in a dispute concerning the propriety of titles, "I had the honor of being in company with an Excellency and a Highness. His Excellency was the most ignorant and brutal man I ever saw, and his Highness measured four feet eight inches."
