

“Knowledge is Power.” —Bacon.

Learn to make better Soups, better Gravies, better Sauces, better Beef Tea; learn to make ordinary dishes tempting and palatable; learn of the many uses of

Armour's

Extract of BEEF

by sending for
NEW EDITION OF “CULINARY WRINKLES”

BY HELEN LOUISE JOHNSON, mailed to any address on receipt of twenty five cents, or metal cap from Extract jar.

Messrs. John Dee Wareham and W. P. McDonald, on the art staff of the Rookwood Pottery, Cincinnati, have been awarded the prize in our $1000 calendar contest. The designs, thirteen in number, are unique and highly artistic, but too elaborate to permit of the ordinary method of reproduction. In view of their art value, we have been able to make arrangements for their publication monthly in Truth as an art insert. Beginning with December 1899 these designs will appear serially throughout the year 1900 as a frontispiece. In advance of this, we will publish another calendar of a different character, which will be fully announced in the October magazines.

Armour & Company, Chicago