Walter's Patent Metallic Shingles and Siding Plates.

1. They make a covering that is absolutely stormproof as well as fite-proof, attractive in appearance, one-third the weight of wood, and one-inith the weight of slate. They can be put on by ordinary workmen, and at one-third the cost of wood or slate for labor and nails.

2. As compared to the ordinary methods of applying metal, they fully provide for expansion and contraction one side being lecked, the other nailed. Provision is made for escape of gases, and any condensation of moisture or sweating of the under side is impossible, saving the vexatious repairs so common to ordinary roofs.

3. No solder is required; a hammer and a pair of snips are all the tools needed. The shingles are put up in boxes holding enough to cover one hundred square feet of surface (one square), not painted or painted both sides, as preferred, and are always ready for emergencies. They can be removed and used again with little or no loss of material, and are always sold with a (responsible) guarantee that they will do all we claim for them.
