

I            SCIENTIFIC, ACADEMIC AND EDUCATIONAL EXCHANGES

A.    Exchanges between the Academy of Sciences of the USSR and Canadian Institutions

Both sides agreed:

1.            To exchange annually between the Academy of Sciences of the USSR and Canadian institutions, on a reciprocal basis, from five to ten professors and specialists from each country, to do research in pure and applied sciences, in the social sciences and in the humanities for periods from one to five months up to a total of fifteen person-months. On the Canadian side, these professors and specialists are to be financially supported by the Department of External Affairs. On the invitation of the receiving side, participants may deliver separate lectures and reports;

2.            To encourage and facilitate co-operation between the Academy of Sciences of the USSR and the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada (NSERC). NSERC's research awards programme has resulted in mutually beneficial exchanges of Canadian and Soviet scientists. Both sides agree to encourage the continuation of this programme which has allowed in the last
