

Railways and Shipping Committee—Con.

Canadian National Steamships and Maritime Freight Rates Act estimates, reference to, 3621

M. to refer to com. of supply, 3790

Inquiries as to appointment, 642, 1644, 1856

Meeting of, inquiry, 3120

Reports

First, 3659

Second and third, 3709

Fourth, 3731

Fifth, 4486

Railways and Transportation Commission

Extravagance in National railways on, 3085-6

Great Lakes navigation extent of, 705

Moxon, Mr. Arthur, payments to, qu., 692

Recommendations, 519

Railways, Canals and Telegraph Lines Committee, 285

First report, 3092

Raisins, duty on. See Customs Tariff Items*Ralston, Hon. J. L. (Shelburne-Yarmouth)

Address in reply, 525. Problems of ex-service men have been dealt with by the House in a non-partisan matter; practice of the pension commission in determining the validity of marriages, 526; reduction of pensions in cases where marriages not proven; the Prime Minister's treatment of the legal aspect of the titles question, 527; effect of the Nickle resolution of 1919, 528; resolutions of the House of Commons binding as an expression of the judgment of the Canadian people; resolution of Sir Robert Borden in 1904 with respect to a second transcontinental railway; granting of subsidy to British Columbia in 1912 for the Canadian Northern Railway, 529; making of the Canadian Northern into a third transcontinental railway; reference of Mr. Bennett to grave error of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the matter of railway policy; support by the Conservative party of two additional transcontinental lines; Mr. Bennett's attitude in 1912 as to the desirability of a third transcontinental railway; Drayton-Acworth report and payment of $10,000,000 for Canadian Northern stock in 1918, 530; passing of the Canadian National Railways Act in 1919 and assumption of indebtedness of railways by the government; administration of the railways under Conservative and Liberal governments; Mr. Guthrie's speech in 1929 in praise of the national railway

Ralston, Hon. J. L.—Con.

Address in reply—Con.

system, 531; improvement in conditions since spring of 1933; wholesale prices in Canada and United States; increase in buying power of the pound sterling because of the rise in the value of the pound; percentage of producers' goods and producers' equipment in imports from United States, 532; comparison of increases in the trade of Canada as compared with increases in trade in the United Kingdom between 1932 and 1933 at current monthly rates of exchange; "unsolicited testimonial" of the work done by the Prime Minister; record of the Leader of the opposition as deputy minister of labour in the Laurier government; presentation of a life membership in the Canadian Legion because of services and interest in welfare of ex-service men and their dependents, 533; duties on articles used by fishermen; Canada is coming through in spite of the administration of the government, 534

Arbitrary value for duty purposes, 3888

Armouries, construction of, 648

Bank Act Amdt. bill, 1055, 3789, 3792

Bank of Canada bill, 4149-89, 4217-34

Senate amendments, 4555

Bituminous coal, for coke, duty, 3891

Budget, 2422. Surplus of $150,000,000 shown in the British budget just brought down and deficit of $24,000,000 shown in our ordinary account; government systematically living on the future of the country; Mr. Stevens on governments being slow to depart from the beaten track, 2422; Mr. Bennett's advocacy of a turn-over tax in 1928 and 1931; increase in the sales tax and excise tax, the tax on sugar and reduction of exemptions under the income tax; the Prime Minister on the necessity of a sinking fund for retiring the national debt, in 1928, 2423; the "iniquitous" sales tax has been multiplied by six under the present government; advocacy of the Prime Minister when in opposition of the issue of four per cent Canadian consols and the forcing of insurance companies and banks to subscribe in order to retire the national debt; the difference that responsibilities of office make; preelection promise made to the people of Nova Scotia for a national old age pensions bill, 2424; fol-