

MONTREAL, 21st November, 1859.

DEAR SIR,

I have perused with much satisfaction your Treatise on Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes. I regard it as a work deserving the attention of those engaged in the study and practice of the law, but more particularly of such who from the nature of their commercial pursuits, are more immediately interested in its publication. The collection of numerous cases decided by our Courts, many of which are not reported, bearing upon important questions of commercial law, gives to the work a value which commercial men will not fail to acknowledge. The review you have made of the law of France, England, the United States and our Statute law, coupled with the decisions you have collected together of the Courts of Upper and Lower Canada, is evidence of the labor and research you have bestowed in the compilation of the work, and affords a bright promise for your future career in the profession of the Law.

I remain,

Dear Sir,

Your very obedient servant,

EDW. CARTER.

Mr. D. Girouard,

Montreal.
