

of life, I strongly advise you to remain at home. But—be ye old or young—take warning by my example, and remember that there is a very true moral attached to the good old adage—

“Slow and steady wins the race.”

“And all that glitters is not

GOLD.”