

CONTENTS.

ix

PAGE.
xi
Christian
I
7
9
11
16
18
26
etc.,
28
31
38
40
42
44
47
48
49
50
51
53
54
58

CHAP.	PAGE.
Argument from the action of the verb,	60
XI.—Household baptisms,	64
XII.—“Buried with Him by baptism,”	66
XIII.—Figurative baptism of the Israelites,	72
XIV.—“One Baptism,”	76
Adam Clarke’s comment,	79
XV.—Argument from the Lord’s Supper demolished,	80
XVI.—“The New Dale Process,”	84
XVII.—Christ our example,	91
XVIII.—Septuagint—Naaman’s case examined,	93
XIX.—Apocrypha—Immersion of Judith,	96
Ceremonial washings,	98
XX.—Classic usage—Alexander’s army wading, &c.,	99
The floating bladder,	100
Ajax’s sword baptized in blood,	100
A youth drowned with questions,	101
Ten other examples of the classic use of baptizo , rang- ing from B. C. 522 to A. D. 450,	102
XXI.—Testimony of the Fathers examined,	106
Mutilation of Cyril’s comment exposed,	107
Testimony of the Fathers continued,	109
XXII.—Versions,	112
XXIII.—Pictures—Baptisteries,	115
The Lateran—“Baptismal basin,”	116
XXIV.—Baptism of the dying,	118
XXV.—The voice of History and Scholarship,	122
XXVI.—Origin of Pouring and Sprinkling,	130
Conclusion of Part I,—Non-essentialism,	132

PART II.

I.—Introduction,	139
II.—Baptism not a substitute for circumcision,	143
Dr. Ditzler’s admission,	145
Typical significance of the Abrahamic covenant,	147
Circumcision not “done away,”	151
Dr. Judson’s letter,	154